The iEdge Singapore Next 50 Indices incorporate free-float, market capitalisation and liquidity criteria to identify companies that are both sizeable and tradable. To serve a broader spectrum of investor needs, the indices are available in two variants: one weighted by market capitalisation, and the other by liquidity.

These indices complement existing benchmarks and are designed to raise the visibility and broaden market participation in the next cohort of 50 companies, excluding the 30 largest companies by market capitalisation. For further information, please visit
