APPENDIX 1

Question 1

Assuming the share purchase mandate is adopted, which when executed will reduce the number of free-float shares, will the Company consider a bonus issue to neutralize the effect of the reduction of free-float shares, which incidentally will also require a recall of loaned securities?

Response

Considering the current trading volume of the Company's shares, barring any unforeseen circumstances, the Company is of the opinion that the impact to market liquidity caused by any share purchase undertaken pursuant to the Mandate would be moderate.

In any case, the Company will take the shareholders' suggestion of a bonus issue into consideration. Should the Company propose to undertake a bonus issue or any other similar exercise, the Company will make the necessary announcements and provide more information at the appropriate juncture and in this regard, investors are reminded to consult their stockbrokers, bank managers, solicitors, accountants, tax advisers or other professional advisers if they have any doubt about the actions they should take.

Question 2

This question comprises four sub-questions:-

(Q1) How do you determine when to do share buy-back?

Response

The Company will take into consideration financial and non-financial factors when determining if purchases of its shares should be carried out under the share purchase mandate. Such factors include the public float of the Company, stock market conditions and the performance of the Shares in assessing the relative impact of a share purchase or acquisition before execution.

(Q2) How much funds are you setting aside to do the share purchase?

Response

Under the terms of the share purchase mandate set out in the circular to shareholders, as long as the Company is solvent, the Company may only apply funds legally available for such the share purchases under the Bermuda Companies Act, the Bye-Laws and any applicable laws in Singapore. Under the terms of the share purchase mandate, the Company may purchase or acquire up to 10% of the total number of shares in issue as at the date of the passing of the resolution seeking approval of the share purchase mandate. With regard to the total dollar amount needed, it will depend on several factors, including the number of shares to be purchased, the method of purchase, the source of funds, and the market conditions during the relevant period. For reference, if the Company were to exercise the share purchase mandate up to the maximum limit of 10%, the maximum amount of funds required for an on-market acquisition and an off-market acquisition of such number of shares would be approximately S$53,292,890 (based on the purchase of 54,941,124 shares at a maximum price of S$0.97) and S$60,984,648 (based on the purchase of 54,941,124 shares at a maximum price of S$1.11), respectively.

(Q3) Which exchange would you be doing the share purchase - the Taiwan Depository Receipts or shares listed on the Singapore Exchange Securities Trading Limited ("SGX") or both?

Response

Pursuant to the terms of the share purchase mandate, the Company will only purchase its shares traded on the SGX and will not purchase its Taiwan Depository Receipts.

(Q4) If the Company carries out a buy-back on both the TSE and the SGX, how do you allocate the funds in each market to do the buy-back?
