Notes:

- a) The amount represented the down payment paid for one sewerage engineering project for the processing segment to improve the sewage water discharge process so as to comply with the stringent environmental laws. This was incurred in the ordinary course of business on normal commercial terms. Upon completion of the project, the amount will be expensed off to the profit and loss, thus the recoverability assessment is not applicable.
- b) The amount represented VAT receivables on purchases for the zipper segment. This was incurred in the ordinary course of business on normal commercial terms. The amount of RMB7.4 million of VAT receivables outstanding more than 1 year will be net off against the VAT payables by 31 December 2023, thus the recoverability assessment is not applicable.
- c) Others represented rental income receivables, prepayment for purchase of consumable materials (eg. packing materials) and VAT receivables for purchases of raw materials from third parties. All were incurred in the ordinary course of business on normal commercial terms.

The company expects that the recovery rate of customers with an aging of more than one year to be relatively low, so the company will provide loss allowance on the relevant accounts receivables.

The Group's credit terms to its customers are normally between 90 days to 120 days. On a case-by-case basis, credit terms may be extended taking into account the tenure of working relationships with the customers. The debtors are not related to any directors, key executives, substantial shareholders or their respective associates.

Management will prepare and circulate the trade receivables aging analysis and report to the Audit Committee ("AC") at the AC meetings. Any significant amounts will be highlighted at the AC meetings and in particular, the recoverability of the trade receivables and sufficiency of provision of doubtful debts will be discussed. For long outstanding receivables, the sales personnel will personally visit the customers on site to recover the amounts.
