NEWS RELEASE:

ADVANCE DIGITAL HEALTHCARE PTE. LTD. SIGNED AN AFFILIATE AGREEMENT WITH EUREKA GROUP PTE. LTD. TO EXPAND COMMUNITY-BASED OSTEOARTHRITIS CARE IN SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE – 15 October 2026 — DISA Limited (the “Company”, and together with its subsidiaries, the “Group”), is pleased to announce that Advance Digital Healthcare Pte. Ltd. (“ADH”), an 87.39%-owned subsidiary of the Group, entered into an affiliate agreement (the “Agreement”) with Eureka Group Pte. Ltd. (“Eureka”) on 14 October 2026 for a period of 12 months. The Agreement aims to support community-based osteoarthritis (“OA”) assessment and management services through ADH’s El Shaddai affiliation programme.

The Agreement marks an important step in ADH’s strategy to expand its OA care model into primary care settings through a network of affiliated clinics. Operating under the El Shaddai brand, which is associated with Rheumatology Associates Pte. Ltd. (“RA”), an associated company that is 50% owned by ADH, the programme leverages RA’s clinical expertise and experience gained over its 23-year history of serving the Singapore community.

Commercial Strategy and Revenue Model

ADH’s affiliation programme enables the Group to expand its healthcare operations through existing primary care infrastructure, without having to establish and operate wholly owned clinics at each location. This partner-based model is intended to support network expansion while creating opportunities for revenue from healthcare product supply and programme-related services.

Under the Agreement, Eureka will participate as a non-exclusive authorised affiliate through its three clinics located at Sims Avenue, Bedok North and Eunos Crescent. ADH will support these clinics with clinical resources, operational training, artificial intelligence (“AI”)–assisted assessment technology and access to appropriate OA treatment and management options.

The affiliation arrangement also provides a framework for access to relevant healthcare products, including hyaluronic acid products and supplements, subject to clinical needs, patient demand, applicable regulatory requirements and agreed commercial terms. Product procurement will depend on the actual requirements of participating clinics.

In addition, ADH may generate service-related revenue from contractual arrangements involving therapy equipment, technology and operational support. Actual revenue will depend on service utilisation, product demand and the terms of the respective commercial arrangements.

Bringing OA Care Closer to the Community

OA is a common chronic joint condition that can affect mobility and daily activities, particularly among older adults. As Singapore enters super-aged society, accessible OA assessment and management through primary care settings will become increasingly important in promoting healthy ageing, preserving mobility and enhancing quality of life among Singapore’s ageing population.

Mr Eddie Chng, the Executive Chairman, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, said: “Our partnership with Eureka marks an important step in ADH’s strategy to build a scalable community healthcare network for osteoarthritis assessment and management. Through our affiliation programme, we aim to support our partners with clinical resources, AI-assisted assessment technology, operational support and access to relevant treatment options.

We believe that working with established primary care groups provides a practical foundation for extending this model across Singapore. As the network grows, we aim to develop sustainable revenue streams through healthcare product supply and programme-related services, guided by the needs of our affiliate partners, patient demand and commercial viability.”

Future Expansion

ADH intends to pursue further partnerships with primary care groups and independent clinics seeking to participate in its affiliation programme. By combining clinical expertise, technology, operational support and medicine supply, the Group aims to establish a scalable model for community healthcare delivery.

The Group will continue to evaluate opportunities to expand the programme, taking into consideration commercial demand, operational capabilities and execution, as well as applicable regulatory requirements.
