Shareholders should note that the special arrangements described above will apply only to Ineligible Shareholders. However, the Company reserves the right to make similar arrangements for Rights which would otherwise have been allotted to certain Eligible Shareholders to be sold “nil-paid” on the SGX-ST as soon as practicable after dealings in the Rights commence, where the beneficial holders of such Rights are restricted or prohibited by the laws of the jurisdiction in which they are located or resident from participating in the Rights Issue.

TAKE-OVER LIMITS

The Code regulates the acquisition of ordinary shares of, inter alia, corporations with a primary listing on the SGX-ST, including the Company. Except with the consent of the SIC, where:

- (i) any person acquires whether by a series of transactions over a period of time or not, shares which (taken together with shares held or acquired by parties acting in concert with him) carry 30% or more of the voting rights of the company; or
- (ii) any person who, together with parties acting in concert with him, holds not less than 30% but not more than 50% of the voting rights in the company and such person, or any party acting in concert with him, acquires in any period of six months additional shares carrying more than 1% of the voting rights, such person must extend a mandatory take-over offer immediately to the shareholders for the remaining shares in the company in accordance with the provisions of the Code. In addition to such person, each of the principal members of the group of persons acting in concert with him may, according to the circumstances of the case, have the obligation to extend an offer.

In general, the acquisition of instruments convertible into securities which carry voting rights does not give rise to an obligation to make a mandatory take-over offer under the Code but the exercise of any conversion rights will be considered an acquisition of voting rights for the purposes of the Code.

Shareholders who are in doubt as to their obligations, if any, to make a mandatory take-over offer under the Code as a result of any acquisition of Rights Shares pursuant to the Rights Issue should consult the SIC and/or their professional advisers.

The Company may, if necessary, scale down the Rights Shares subscribed by any party to the extent necessary to avoid such party incurring an obligation under the Code to make a mandatory take-over offer for the Company.

(A) EXISTING RISKS RELATING TO THE GROUP

- (i) Risk relating to our business

We are dependent on the performance of our wholly-owned subsidiary, Copeinca.

A significant portion of our revenue is generated by the commercial fishing business of our wholly-owned subsidiary, Copeinca. Revenues from Copeinca amounted to 5.7%, 45.5% and 27.9% of our total revenues for the year ended 28 September 2013, the year ended 28 September 2014, and the three months ended 28 December 2014 respectively. As such, any factor or event that adversely affects the business and results of operations of Copeinca would result in a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

The amount of fish that our commercial fishing operations can catch in Peru is dependent upon our fishing quota shares and the total allowable catch set by Peruvian governmental authorities.

The total allowable catch in Peru varies from season to season, and is determined at the beginning of each anchovy season by the Ministry of Production of Peru on the advice of Peruvian authorities and with a view to maintaining sustainable fishing. Out of that total allowable catch amount, fishermen are permitted to catch a percentage determined by the quota shares which the local Peruvian fishing authorities allocate under a quota allocation system. Therefore, the amount of fish that our commercial fishing operations in Peru can catch in any given year is dependent upon the total allowable catch set by the Peruvian government, and the number of fishing quota shares that we own. This constitutes a limitation on our ability to grow our fish catches, unless the total allowable catch grows or we are able to gain access to additional quota shares.

If the Peruvian government reduces or withdraws the quota shares to which we have access, our catch volumes of anchovy and mackerel would fall, unless we are able to replace these catch volumes by obtaining quotas or licenses to fish in other fishing grounds or for other species of fish. Additionally, in southern Peru, the amount that we and other fishing operators in this region are able to harvest is highly unpredictable from season to season due to the migratory patterns of anchovy. Furthermore, the quotas allocated to the quota shares for each year must be used in that calendar year, and may not be carried forward to the next year. We cannot assure you that we will be able to maintain the quota shares currently allocated to us by the local fishing authorities or that it will be possible for us to acquire additional quotas. In addition, if the Peruvian fishery laws and regulations are repealed or modified in a manner that decreases the percentage of anchovy quotas allocated to the fishing vessels we own in Peru, or eliminates the quota share allocation system, our anchovy harvesting rights and profitability in Peru's exclusive economic zone would be adversely affected. In this regard, to protect our quota shares in Peru against changes in law, we have fish quota stability agreements with the Ministry of Production of Peru with respect to the quota shares for our vessels, which represent 16.9% of the quota for the northern and central region and 14.7% for the southern region as of 28 December 2014. Under such agreements, the Ministry of Production of Peru guarantees the Peruvian government's recognition of the individual fishing quotas granted to the covered vessels as of the respective dates of the agreements for at least ten years regardless of changes in Peruvian fishery laws. However, we cannot assure you that there will not be modifications to this agreement, or that this agreement will be renewed after the ten-year period, both of which could affect our fishing quota. Although the individual fishing quotas in Peru's exclusive economic zone are meant to be permanent, it is possible that they may be increased or reduced as a consequence of a change in the recalculation of the maximum percentage catch per vessel. The Ministry of Production of Peru recalculates the maximum percentage catch per vessel assigned to all vessels in Peru if: (i) the vessel does not exploit at least 80% of its maximum percentage catch for the northern and central zone in four consecutive seasons (no minimum requirement is applicable to the southern zone); (ii) the Ministry of Production of Peru grants a new fishing permit or otherwise terminates a fishing permit; or (iii) as a result of a sanction, the maximum percentage catch of a vessel is reduced. Peruvian fishery laws provide that a vessel's maximum percentage catch can be reduced when the harvesting of anchovy is performed by a vessel that has already transferred its maximum percentage to another vessel or when the harvesting of anchovy is performed by a vessel that is not a nominated vessel.

Furthermore, the amount of fish that we can catch under our fishing quota shares is a percentage of the total allowable catch for a given year set by the Peruvian government. The total allowable catch of Peruvian anchovy in the northern and central regions of Peru, which is allocated between the first fishing season (usually April to July) and the second fishing season (usually November to January), was 6.2 million, 3.5 million and 4.4 million metric tons in calendar years 2011, 2012 and 2013, respectively. With respect to calendar year 2014, the Ministry of Production of Peru set a total allowable catch of anchovy in the northern and central regions of Peru at approximately 2.5 million metric tons for the first season of what is usually two seasons during the year. The first season in 2014 started in April and lasted until 10 August 2014. The Ministry of Production of Peru announced on 22 December 2014 that the second season for 2014, originally scheduled to run from November 2014 to January 2015, would not be opened. Such decision follows the advice of the Instituto del Mar del Peru (“IMARPE”), which completed its assessment of the Peruvian anchovy fishery for the second season. IMARPE found a 94% density of juvenile fish (less than six months old) in the north and central regions of Peru, which led it to recommend that the fishing season not be opened. These conditions were assessed to be the result of cyclical warming of the waters which caused the anchovy stocks to temporarily disperse. The industry in general believes that the high percentage of juveniles is a positive indicator for the major April to July fishing season of 2015, which generally represents about 60% of the annual catch. The major fishing season for the north and central regions for 2015 will commence on 10 April 2015. The total allowable catch will be set when IMARPE completes its assessment. The Peruvian anchovy resource has shown itself to be able to recover quickly from these cyclical events, as it is well-managed under an effective fishery management policy adopted by the Peruvian government. However, we cannot assure you that these forecasts will occur or that the Peruvian anchovy resource will quickly recover during any future periods.

For the southern region, the Ministry of Production of Peru set a total allowable catch of anchovy for the calendar years 2011, 2012 and 2013 at 800,000, 707,000 and 830,000 metric tons, respectively. For the calendar year 2014, the total allowable catch of anchovy was set at 234,300 metric tons but the actual catch of the industry was only around 10% of the total allowable catch. The second season for 2014 was cancelled. However on 24 March 2015, upon report from IMARPE of an improved biomass, the Ministry of Production announced commencement of the fishing season in the southern region from 26 March 2015 to 31 July 2015, with a total allowable catch of 375,000 tons, representing a substantial increase from 2014. From time to time, the Peruvian government may impose fishing bans on selected regions in Peru’s exclusive economic zone, or the entire coastline. We cannot assure you that the Peruvian government will not decrease the total allowable catch of anchovy in Peru, impose bans on the harvesting of anchovy to manage anchovy biomass, or prohibit the processing of anchovy into fishmeal. Any reduction in our fishing quota shares, or any unexpected reductions or fluctuations in the total allowable catch per season in Peru, could individually or together have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We are owed refunds on our terminated Supply Agreements.

Through our wholly-owned subsidiary, CFIL, we terminated all of our Supply Agreements with Perun and Alatir on 21 March 2014. Pursuant to the terms of the termination of these Supply Agreements, Perun and Alatir must deliver a fixed price refund amount (in cash payments or fish supplies) to CFIL as refund of the prepayments and other advances that it previously paid, which amounted to US$241.5 million under the Supply Agreements. CFIL has experienced delays in obtaining refunds of the prepayments and other advances from Perun. However as of the date of this OIS, all sums as due have been settled and Perun and Alatir have repaid US$180.5 million in cash of the fixed price refund amount to CFIL. In addition, they are required to pay the balance of US$61 million in headed and gutted Alaska pollock at market price, or if mutually agreed with CFIL, in cash, by 28 March 2016 under the terms of the termination. CFIL hold charges over shares of the Suppliers and debentures against them as security for such refund. However, the debentures do not grant any security with respect to any fishing vessels and may not be effective in securing CFIL’s right to payment of the refunds. Accordingly, we cannot assure you that CFIL will be able to recover or enforce all or any part of the refunds due to it from Perun and Alatir.

In addition, as Perun and Alatir are required to pay the refund of the outstanding balance in headed and gutted Alaska pollock at market price, if Perun or Alatir fail to procure sufficient fish, they may be required to pay in cash. However, we cannot assure you that they will be able to procure sufficient funds to pay the outstanding balance, as fishing activities are their only operations. If any Supplier experiences material difficulty in its operations, Perun's or Alatir's ability to refund the outstanding balance could be impaired. If Perun or Alatir is unable to return all or part of the refund for whatever reason, our results of operations and financial condition as well as that of CFIL will be materially and adversely affected.

Our operations may be disrupted by drastic weather conditions and major climatic trends.

Drastic weather conditions affecting the fishing grounds where the fishing vessels operate, such as storms, cyclones and typhoons, may decrease the volume of our fish catches or otherwise negatively affect our fishing operations. Our operations may also be adversely affected by changes in sea temperatures and currents. These changes cause fish to disperse from their customary depths and locations, which decreases the efficiency of fishing vessels as a result of having to expend more time and fuel in harvesting fish. Our fishing operations may also be adversely affected by major climatic trends, which have in the past caused significant decreases in catches worldwide.

In addition, large catch fluctuations in Peru's territorial waters and exclusive economic zone and in the parts of the South Pacific Ocean in which we conduct fishing operations are common because of periodic climatic events associated with the El Niño phenomenon. Such events affect fishing success and productivity in these areas. El Niño is a climatic pattern that occurs in the Pacific Ocean every three to seven years, and is characterized by the warming of the waters and related increase in air surface pressure in parts of the Pacific Ocean. For example, catches of anchovy dropped severely following El Niño conditions during each of the El Niño years, as reported by the U.S. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (the "NOAA"), and U.S. National Environmental Satellite, Data and Information Service, of 1972-1973, 1976-1977, 1982-1983, 1986-1987, 1991-1992, 1994-1995 and 1997-1998. Recently, El Niño occurred in 2002-2003, 2006-2007 and 2009-2010. The 2009-2010 El Niño conditions resulted in a reduction of the total catch in Peru from 5.8 million metric tons in 2009 to 3.3 million metric tons in 2010, before recovering to 5.3 million metric tons in 2011. El Niño affected the first fishing season in 2014, which resulted in the utilization rate being reduced to approximately 60% of total allowable catch, as compared with the normal rate of over 90%. Subsequently, IMARPE found a 94% density of juvenile fish in the north and central regions of Peru, which led to its recommendation that the second fishing season in these regions be closed. The second fishing season in the southern region of Peru was also cancelled. These conditions were assessed to be the result of a cyclical warming of the waters in these regions, which caused anchovy stocks to temporarily disperse. Because El Niño is a recurring phenomenon, our fishing success and productivity in Peru and in the South Pacific Ocean will be affected in future years. Additionally, in November to December of 2010, the effects of La Niña, a recurring cooling climatic pattern which results in periods of below-average sea temperatures, also reduced our and industry catch volumes significantly. During the fishing season, the entire industry utilized less than half of all the fishing quota available in the northern and central zone of Peru. A reduction in our catch of anchovy or other fish species in future El Niño or La Niña years could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial performance and prospects.

Margins on sales of our products may be adversely affected by the prices of these products, and revenues may not be sufficient to cover fixed costs.

Prices for fishmeal, fish oil and fish products are strongly dependent upon economic conditions. If revenues are not sufficient to cover fixed and variable costs, including those we may not be able to control, such as freight and transportation costs, fuel, crew costs, repair and maintenance, finance costs and others, margins for these products may be adversely affected. Of these, the cost of fuel, which accounted for approximately 5.2%, 10.1% and 4.2% of our cost of sales in the year ended 28 September 2013 and 2014 and the three months ended 28 December 2014, respectively, has experienced significant price volatility due to factors outside of our control. We do not currently engage in any arrangements to hedge against changes in fuel costs, nor do we have any policy of maintaining stores of extra fuel. As a result, fluctuations in global oil prices may have a significant and direct impact on our profit margins and profitability, particularly in our South Pacific operations, which have higher transportation costs than our other operations. While oil prices have recently decreased globally, we cannot assure you that oil prices will not continue to fluctuate, or that we will be able to offset any increase with increases in the prices of our products.

Our Peruvian fishmeal operations have historically contributed a significant proportion to our earnings and as such, we may also be substantially impacted by changes to operating and finance costs in our Peruvian fishmeal operations, as a reduction in catch volumes of anchovy and a reduction in utilization rates can also increase unit costs. These factors are affected by the seasonality of the fishing season and the total allowable catch in Peru. Furthermore, following the termination of our Supply Agreements, the margins in our Contract Supply Business are expected to deteriorate as a result of adjustments to our business model. In the event we are not able to control our costs, or offset increases through corresponding increases in the prices of our products, we will not be able to maintain our margins, and our results of operations and financial condition may be materially and adversely affected.

Our supply of whitefish, and our sales of whitefish, are affected by factors outside of our control.

A significant amount of our revenue, approximately 49.7%, 20.5% and 35.5% in the years ended 28 September 2013 and 2014 and the three months ended 28 December 2014, respectively, has been from the sale of whitefish such as Alaska pollock. Our business is therefore, to a large extent, dependent on the continuous supply of whitefish which, in turn, could be affected by a number of factors such as the availability of fish stocks, which is affected by overfishing and environmental and other issues, weather conditions near the fishing areas during the fishing season, the policies and regulations of the relevant governments in the countries where our suppliers operate, and their ability to continue their operations. Any of these factors may adversely affect our supply of whitefish which, in turn, may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

In addition, our sales of whitefish may be adversely affected by a variety of factors outside of our control, including changes in consumer preferences and the prices of our fish products. Further, trade policies adopted and restrictions imposed by governmental authorities in the jurisdictions where our primary customers are located may also adversely affect our ability to sell our products, such as, for example, if the relevant governments were to institute restrictions on the import of fish products from fisheries located outside their jurisdictions where we source our fish. These factors may also adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We have limited experience fishing in the South Pacific Ocean and along the coast of West Africa.

We began trial fishing operations for jack mackerel in the international waters of the South Pacific Ocean in June 2009 and incurred losses from our operations in the South Pacific Ocean in the years ended 28 September 2012, 2013 and 2014. In November 2010, we began redeploying some of our super trawlers from the South Pacific Ocean to conduct fishing operations in the Mauritanian waters along the coast of West Africa, but discontinued these operations in July 2011 due to poor catch volumes. In the year ended 28 September 2013, we redeployed certain of our fishing vessels to commence fishing operations off the coast of Namibia in West Africa. In the year ended 28 September 2014, we commenced fishing operations off the coast of Angola in West Africa.

We have limited experience operating in these regions. Although we assume, from historical catch volumes, that sufficient fish resources exist in these areas, we cannot assure you that our assumptions will prove to be correct. Certain fishing regions, including the South Pacific fishery, are particularly susceptible to weather conditions such as the El Niño phenomenon. We believe our catch volumes from our South Pacific operations in 2010 were adversely affected and will continue to be affected by the El Niño phenomenon. See “– Our operations may be disrupted by drastic weather conditions and major climatic trends.” Because the South Pacific Ocean, Namibia and Angola in West Africa represent newer opportunities for us, geographically and otherwise, we cannot assure you as to the success of our operations in these regions. In addition, these deployments, involving the use of a factory vessel and catcher trawlers in a hub-and-spoke arrangement, comprise a new operational arrangement for us. The coordination of harvesting and processing activities among the factory vessel and catcher trawlers will require, among other things, complex logistics management and careful planning to function efficiently. If we are unable to operate the fleet efficiently, we may under-utilize the fleet’s catch and/or processing capacity and incur higher than anticipated operating costs. Lastly, our fishing operations in the South Pacific Ocean and in Namibian and Angolan waters are subject to international treaties and/or conventions and certain domestic laws, rules and regulations, all of which may be revised or amended due to factors beyond our control.

We may not be successful in securing additional quota shares for our fishmeal and/or China Fishery Fleet operations, or in expanding our fishmeal operations to strategic locations.

Our Peruvian fishmeal and China Fishery Fleet operations are dependent upon the quota shares to which we have access in the various controlled fishing grounds in which we operate. Since 2006, we have increased the number of our fishmeal processing plants and have aggressively sought to increase our access to fishing quota shares and increased the number of fishing vessels in our fleet. As part of our growth strategy, from time to time, we may seek to acquire additional fishing companies in strategic locations and new fishing vessels or fish supply agreements with fishing companies or vessel owners in countries that have attractive fishery resources. There is a significant amount of competition from other companies for fishing quota shares and licenses. We may not be able to secure additional fishmeal processing plants, quota shares and licenses either directly, by acquiring fishing companies or additional vessels, or indirectly, by entering into agreements which give us access to quota shares of fishery resources, on terms that are satisfactory to us, or at all. Our strategy of acquiring fishing companies or additional vessels and/or securing new agreements subjects us to a number of risks, including but not limited to the following:

- we may be unable to identify suitable opportunities;

- we may be unable to successfully conclude any agreements to acquire a vessel or processing plant, or any new agreements giving us access to quota shares of fishery resources, on terms that are satisfactory to us;
- we may not have sufficient cash resources to complete an acquisition or may be unable to obtain sufficient financing on acceptable terms, or at all;
- we may be unable to effectively operate or ensure the proper management of vessels that we acquire or otherwise add to our fleet; and
- we may be unable to successfully integrate the operations under these new agreements or acquisitions with our existing Peruvian fishmeal, China Fishery Fleet and Contract Supply Business operations

If we are unsuccessful in acquiring additional fishing companies, vessels or access to quota shares of fishery resources, our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects may be adversely affected.

Our products are subject to pricing volatility, and we are vulnerable to decreases in prices of fishmeal, fish oil and fish products.

Our financial performance is significantly affected by the market prices of our fishmeal, fish oil and fish products, which are subject to fluctuations due to a number of factors. Such factors may include short-term oversupply of fish in our markets, changes in consumer preferences, changes in the prices of substitute products, general economic conditions, changes in standards of living, or other factors. In addition, we may have limited flexibility to adjust our product mix in order to adapt to changing circumstances. Because we are limited in our ability to increase significantly our sales volumes of fish by the quota shares and the total allowable catch for applicable fish species, in the absence of expanding our operations to acquire additional quota shares, our ability to increase our revenues depends to a significant extent on increases in the market prices of fishmeal, fish oil and fish products. Further, our profitability and net margins in each of our Peruvian fishmeal, China Fishery Fleet and Contract Supply Business operations segments also are significantly affected by the prices of fishmeal, fish oil and fish products, particularly in our Peruvian fishmeal operations segment, due to the large amount of finance costs in this segment. We cannot predict whether market prices for fishmeal, fish oil and fish products will rise or fall in the future. A decline in prices of fish products would have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

In particular, 49.7%, 20.5% and 35.5% of our revenues was generated from the sale of Alaska pollock products in the years ended 28 September 2013 and 2014 and the three months ended 28 December 2014, respectively. These prices are influenced in part by factors outside our control, such as anticipated Russian and U.S. production, as well as global demand and supply forces, and also vary according to the size, species and quality of the fish harvested. For example, the prices of Alaska pollock fell in 2011 and continued to decrease through the year ended 28 March 2012, primarily due to the European sovereign debt crisis. In particular, due to weakening economic conditions in our principal European markets, as well as weakness in the foreign exchange rate of the Euro against the U.S. dollar, prices of Alaska pollock fillets, for which Europe is the largest market, have been adversely affected.

Similarly, fishmeal prices are also subject to cyclical fluctuations, and we are vulnerable to decreases in such prices. In recent years, fishmeal prices have increased due to constraints in fishmeal supply and increased demand for fishmeal. This was primarily a result of decreased raw material supply of Peruvian anchovy and other fish used for production of fishmeal, as demand for such fish for human consumption has increased. Fishmeal prices are determined by worldwide demand and supply conditions and are affected by factors including:

- changes in the supply of raw material feedstock;
- changes in production levels of, and/or consumer preferences for, aquaculture fish and shrimp, pigs and poultry, which are the primary consumers of fishmeal;
- general economic conditions, particularly in China, which is the world's largest consumer of fishmeal; and
- changes in standards of living.

In addition, fishmeal faces competition from grain-based substitutes such as soybean meal, ground nut meal or corn gluten. We cannot assure you that these grain-based products, or any other products that may emerge, will not gain greater acceptance among customers or market share, or that the price of fishmeal will remain competitive with substitute products. If more effective substitutes for fishmeal in aquaculture and agriculture emerge, the demand for fishmeal could decline, which would adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We may be affected by increases in fuel, labor and repair and maintenance costs.

Our results of operations are principally affected by three cost items: fuel costs, crew wages and repair and maintenance. While fuel costs have generally decreased in late 2014 to early 2015, such costs have experienced significant volatility in the past due to factors outside of our control. Significant fluctuations in bunker fuel prices have affected and will continue to affect our profitability and margins. See “— Margins on sales of our products may be adversely affected by the prices of these products, and revenues may not be sufficient to cover fixed costs.” In addition, the repair and maintenance expenses are generally higher in the fishing industry, and we have high costs for repair and maintenance primarily as a result of the age of our vessels, which ranges from approximately 15 to 34 years old. Our labor expenses could increase if the industry experiences a shortage in the supply of personnel, as a result of negative perceptions of potential personnel of the operating conditions or length of time crew members are required to spend at sea, or other reasons. If our labor costs increase significantly, the cost of production of our products is likely to increase and may in turn affect the selling prices and the demand for our products. Changes in applicable laws and regulations in the geographic regions where we operate could also increase labor costs, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Changing consumer preferences and eating habits may reduce the demand for fishmeal, fish oil and fish products, and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Changing consumer preferences and eating habits may decrease demand for fish products and increase demand for meat or other foods. In addition, although rising living standards worldwide, and particularly in the PRC, our largest market, and global health trends promoting the consumption of fish products as a healthier alternative for protein than meat products, have continued to drive global demand for our fishmeal, fish oil and fish products, we cannot assure you that this trend will continue. Demand for fish products may also be affected by campaigns organized by environmental groups to reduce consumption of ocean catch seafood out of a concern that industrial fishing is not sustainable or will result in permanent loss of fish populations. Should changing consumer preferences and eating habits decrease demand for fish products, whether as a result of health, safety or environmental concerns, our business, results of operations and financial condition would be materially and adversely affected.

We produce and distribute food products that are susceptible to contamination and, as a result, we face the risk of damage to our reputation with respect to perceived health concerns and food safety issues.

As part of fish processing, it is possible from time to time that foreign objects may enter into some of our fish products. Additionally, our fish products are vulnerable to contamination by disease-producing organisms or pathogens, although we seek to mitigate this risk by processing our fish products on board our fishing vessels and our factory vessel and freezing the fish promptly after harvesting and processing. Although we have implemented measures to comply with relevant health and food safety requirements in relation to the packaging and distribution of our frozen fish products and a health certificate is provided by relevant government authorities to buyers at the time of sale, shipments of products that contain foreign objects or are contaminated, or perceived to be contaminated, could lead to adverse public and customer relations and increased scrutiny by regulatory authorities. Any perceived health concerns and food safety issues that may arise with respect to our fish products may result in negative publicity to us, which could harm our reputation with our customers.

We depend on a few large customers.

A few large customers account for a significant percentage of our total revenues. During the years ended 28 September 2013 and 2014 and the three months ended 28 December 2014, our top five customers accounted for 68.5%, 40.9% and 47.0%, respectively, of our total revenues. For the same periods, sales to our largest customer accounted for 40.3%, 15.9% and 20.4%, respectively, of our total revenues. These top customers are all trading companies and importers of either seafood or fishmeal, who buy for resale to end-user customers, primarily in the PRC market. As a result, we expect that, for the foreseeable future, sales to a limited number of customers will continue to account, alone or in the aggregate, for a significant percentage of our total revenue. Dependence on a limited number of customers exposes us to the risk that a reduction of business volume from any one customer could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The fishmeal processing plants or fishing or transportation vessels we own and operate may suffer loss or damage, which may not be covered by our insurance policies.

We have 12 fishmeal processing plants in Peru, of which 10 are currently in operation, as well as other vessels that support these processing operations. In this regard, we currently own 83 fishing vessels, 46 of which are currently in operation. In addition, we own 2 super trawlers, 5 catcher trawlers and 1 factory vessel for our China Fishery Fleet operations. Although we conduct maintenance and/or repair of the vessels and processing plants regularly, we may experience property and casualty loss, or our operation of fishing vessels or processing plants may be temporarily interrupted, due to a number of causes, including but not limited to adverse weather, collision, stranding, fire, mechanical failure, breakdown or substandard performance of plant and equipment, natural disasters, labor disturbances, industrial accidents, war or acts of piracy, pollution of fishing waters and other environmental hazards, and human error. Any such event could result in direct losses and liabilities, loss of income or increased costs. We seek to carry insurance that typically covers loss of cargo, damage to the hull and machinery on vessels, loss or damage to property, illness, death or injury to crew members, and pollution and collision liability, each as applicable to the geographic regions in which we conduct fishing operations. However, in the event we suffer loss, damage or liability, our insurance coverage may not be sufficient to cover such loss, damage or liability. In addition, we may experience substantial and unpredictable costs if any of the fishing vessels we operate or whose management we oversee require repairs at a dry-docking facility. Furthermore, some of the fishing vessels in our fleet operate far from shore, and those in the South Pacific Ocean operate in international waters. Piracy has been, and continues to be, a problem in many parts of the world, including off the coast of Somalia in the Indian Ocean. In this regard, we have recently expanded our fishing grounds off the coast of Namibia along the coast of West Africa. Although none of these fishing vessels have been subject to acts of piracy, and there have not been any reports of piracy off the coast of Namibia to date, we cannot assure you that our fishing activities will be free from acts of piracy in Namibia or any of our other fishing grounds. Should acts of piracy occur, we might suffer loss or damage of the fishing vessels, and our crew may experience injury or loss of life. Further, our insurance may not, or may not be sufficient to, cover these resulting losses. Any one or more of these factors could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

The operation of an ocean-going vessel also carries inherent risks, including the possibility of environmental accidents such as oil spills. Although we maintain insurance policies that cover claims arising out of oil spills up to approximately US$10.0 million per claim for ocean-going trawlers and up to approximately US$100.0 million per claim for our factory vessel, any event involving our fishing vessels that results in material environmental damage or pollution could disrupt our operations as well as harm our reputation for safety and environmental compliance, and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our fishing operations in the international waters of the South Pacific Ocean and West Africa are subject to various rules and regulations imposed by regional and sub-regional fisheries management organizations.

To preserve the fishing resources in their waters, most sovereign states have adopted licensing/quota systems and imposed catch certification requirements for fishing within their respective waters. In addition, many such states have established regional fisheries management organizations, or RFMOs, under multilateral agreements, which typically have the objective of implementing management measures designed to secure long-term sustainable fishery resources in international waters. For example, fishing operations in the South Pacific Ocean have, since 2006, been the focus of such objectives. The South Pacific Regional Management Organization (the “SPRMO”) has been established under the South Pacific Convention for the international conservation and management of non-highly migratory fisheries and protection of biodiversity in the marine environment in the international waters of the South Pacific Ocean. The responsibilities of the Commission of SPRMO include determining the nature and extent of fishing for any fishery resource, including establishing a total allowable catch or total allowable fishing effort and size limits for fish that may be harvested. The SPRMO has adopted conservation and management measures to mitigate the depletion of the jack mackerel species, and has agreed on a quota for the total catch of jack mackerels in the convention area of 390,000 tonnes for the year 2014 and 410,000 tonnes for the year 2015. Members and cooperating non-contracting parties in the convention area are to share this total quota.

Fishing operations in the waters along the coast of West Africa are subject to quota and licensing systems in the relevant countries, including Namibia and Angola. These include a quota allocation system to holders of fishing rights and fishing licenses, such as in Namibia and Angola. In Namibia, the Ministry of Fishing and Marine Resources issues fishing rights to local companies, five of which can establish a joint venture to be a fishing quota holder. The quota holder is entitled to such quota for a period of time. For example, the Ministry of Fishing and Marine Resources allocates an annual quota of 10,000 million metric tons to 10 quota holders for a period of seven years, which may be increased or reduced by the Ministry of Fishing and Marine Resources based on the company’s contribution to the society. In Angola, the legal basis of fishing in territorial waters is pursuant to the Fisheries Law of Angola (2004) and overseen by the Ministry of Fisheries of Angola, which operates a quota and licensing regime that allows the substantial majority of the annual total allowable catch volumes derived from Angolan waters to be allocated to certain license holders. The Ministry of Fisheries of Angola can adjust the quota and licensing regime and total allowable catch volumes.

The international treaties and conventions applicable in the South Pacific Ocean and the laws, rules and regulations applicable in West Africa may be revised or amended due to factors beyond our control, and these changes may have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

We cannot assure you that we will be able to continue to access required licenses and allocated quota shares in the South Pacific Ocean or in West Africa sufficient to ensure a viable and profitable operation, or at all, nor that we will find alternative deployments for our vessels in these waters.

We are subject to financial and business risks on completed or future acquisitions and investments.

In recent years, we have completed a number of strategic acquisitions and investments to complement our businesses. We are subject to a number of special financial and business risks in connection with our acquisition efforts, including among others, diversion of our management’s time, attention, and resources, decreased utilization during the integration process, loss of key acquired personnel, difficulties in integrating diverse corporate cultures, increased costs to improve or coordinate managerial, operational, financial, and administrative systems including dilutive issuances with respect to or losses on equity securities that we have acquired, assumption of legal liabilities, potential write-offs related to the impairment of goodwill and additional conflicts of interest. Furthermore, a deterioration of conditions in the global banking system and financial markets could result in a severe tightening in the credit and equity markets, which may adversely affect the availability, terms and cost of borrowings for us and our customers, including financings necessary to complete future acquisitions of quota shares and fishing vessels. In addition, we may be unable to manage an acquired entity profitably or successfully integrate its operations with our own to achieve the intended synergies or other benefits. Further, the nature of certain strategic investments may not provide us with the ability to influence major policy, corporate, strategic and investment decisions of the entity that we invested in. As a minority investor, we would rely on dividend payments and may not have alternative access to the cash flows of such entity, and we also may not be able to utilize the assets of such entity to strategically enhance our existing operations. Any of these factors may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, although we conduct due diligence in connection with our acquisitions and investments, we may not be aware of all the risks associated with the acquired businesses. Any discovery of adverse information concerning the acquired businesses after the completion of the acquisitions, including hidden liabilities or instances of non-compliance with applicable laws and regulations or the terms of agreements to which the acquired business is a party, could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. For example, the Copeinca Acquisition may subject us to certain risks arising out of ongoing administrative proceedings or other issues. Such liabilities or instances of non-compliance may subject us to legal proceedings, and although such proceedings may not be material, we cannot assure you that any such proceedings will not be decided against us. Furthermore, the acquired companies may not perform to our expectations for various reasons, including legislative or regulatory changes that affect the products in which the acquired companies specialize, and the loss of key customers and personnel. If we are unable to realize the benefits envisioned for such acquisitions and investments, our overall profitability and growth plans may be adversely affected.

Our future success depends upon our ability to achieve and manage our growth.

As of 28 December 2014, we held 16.9% and 14.7% of Peru's quota share in the northern and central zone and the southern zone, respectively. As part of our overall growth strategy, we may acquire or contract to manage additional vessels and quota or employ vessels with access to quota in the near future. We may have difficulty in integrating these additional assets, businesses and employees into our existing operations. Our future growth will depend upon a number of factors, both within and outside of our control. We may not be successful in expanding our operations, and we cannot assure you that any such expansion will be profitable.

As our operations continue to expand, such as with the Copeinca Acquisition, we may need to increase the number of our employees and the scope of our operational and financial systems to handle the complexity and expanded geographic area of our operations. We cannot assure you that we will be able to retain and attract qualified management and employees or that our current operational and financial systems and controls will be adequate as we grow, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Demand for our products and our ability to obtain funding may be negatively affected by the recent financial market and economic crisis.

The financial crisis and economic recession of 2008 to 2009 had a negative impact on demand for and sales prices of our primary fishmeal, fish oil and fish products. While some economies have resumed growth, continued concerns about the systemic impact of potential long-term and wide-spread recession, energy costs, geopolitical issues, continued market volatility and the availability and cost of credit have contributed to increased market volatility and diminished expectations for economic growth around the world. We cannot predict whether these adverse conditions will continue and the extent to which we may be affected. The financial crisis has had a negative impact on demand for and sales prices of our primary fishmeal, fish oil or fish products. Any deterioration in economic conditions could have a material adverse effect on our business by decreasing the demand for and sales prices of fishmeal, fish oil and fish products. Furthermore, a deterioration of conditions in the banking system and financial markets could result in a severe tightening in credit and equity markets, which may adversely affect the availability, terms and cost of borrowings for us and our customers and suppliers, including financings necessary to complete future acquisitions of quota shares and fishing vessels. If our customers and suppliers experience liquidity or financial problems, they may not be able to fulfill contracts to purchase our products or sell supplies to us. Any of these factors may adversely affect our business, prospects, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

We have a significant amount of debt and face risks associated with the use of debt to fund our operations and acquisitions, working capital and capital expenditures, including refinancing risk and foreclosure risk.

We rely on debt financing primarily in the form of short-term bank borrowings to fund our operations, acquisitions, working capital and capital expenditures. We have a significant amount of debt. As of 28 December 2014, our total indebtedness was US$1,122.6 million and our bank borrowings due within one year were US$235.7 million. Since all of our borrowings have a limited tenure, we need sufficient liquidity to meet our loan repayment obligations. Adverse market conditions which hamper or delay the recovery of credit may affect our loan repayment schedules and, in turn, may result in lenders withdrawing or requiring early repayment of the facilities granted to us. This will pose a solvency risk for us even though we may be profitable. As we may also obtain loans of longer tenures, we are also subject to other risks normally associated with debt financing. If principal payments due at maturity cannot be refinanced, extended or paid with proceeds of other financing transactions, such as new equity or debt capital, our cash flows may not be sufficient to repay all maturing debt. If prevailing interest rates or other factors at the time of any refinancing result in higher interest rates, increased interest expense would adversely affect our ability to service our debt and our financial condition and results of operations.

Our substantial indebtedness could have other important consequences to you. For example, it could:

- make it more difficult for us to satisfy our existing debt obligations;
- require us to dedicate a substantial portion of our cash flow from operations to servicing and repaying our indebtedness, thereby reducing the availability of our cash flow to fund working capital, capital expenditures, acquisitions and other general corporate purposes;
- limit our flexibility in planning for or reacting to changes in our business and the industry in which we operate;

- limit, along with the financial and other restrictive covenants of our indebtedness, our ability to borrow additional funds, declare dividends, make guarantees, sell assets, create liens, issue or sell securities, make acquisitions or capital expenditures, withstand downturns in our business or take advantage of business opportunities;
- place us at a competitive disadvantage compared to our competitors that have less debt; and
- increase the cost of additional financing.

We may require additional financing in the future to fulfill our growth strategies or finance working capital, additional acquisitions or capital expenditures, which may not be available on satisfactory terms or at all.

We may need to obtain additional debt or equity financing in the future to fund additional acquisitions, working capital or capital expenditures. Our ability to obtain debt or equity financing on acceptable terms depends on a variety of factors that are beyond our control, including market conditions, investors' and lenders' perceptions of, and demand for, securities offered by us, credit availability and interest rates. As a result, we cannot assure you that we will be able to obtain sufficient funding from external sources as required on terms satisfactory to us, or at all, to finance our expansion strategy, working capital or future capital expenditures. Additional debt financing may increase our financing costs and reduce our profitability, and our loan agreements or terms of other debt may contain terms and conditions that may restrict our freedom to operate and manage our business, such as requirements regarding debt service coverage ratios and leverage ratios, restrictions on the use of our assets, including our cash balances, as collateral for loans, and/or restrictions on our ability to pay dividends or distribute funds to our shareholders. We cannot assure you that we will be able to obtain any additional financing, or retain or renew current financing upon expiry, on terms that are acceptable to us, or at all.

Fishmeal processing plants in Peru currently have excess capacity, which results in intense competition among fishmeal producers for anchovy feedstock.

Because of restrictions in the catch of anchovy in Peru and a government-imposed ban on processing fish species other than anchovy into fishmeal, our fishmeal processing plants, like other fishmeal processing plants in Peru, currently have excess capacity and there is intense competition among fishmeal producers in Peru for anchovy feedstock. Historically, we have closed some of our fishmeal processing plants due to decreased supplies of anchovy feedstock in order to increase the utilization of our plants. We cannot assure you that we will be able to obtain a sufficient quantity of anchovy feedstock for our fishmeal processing plants, either from our own vessels or from third-party fishing companies, or that third-party fishing companies will offer to sell us anchovy feedstock at prices that are acceptable to us. In addition, if we are required to purchase additional amounts of anchovy feedstock from third-party fishing companies, we will likely incur higher costs of sales, which will adversely affect our gross margins. Furthermore, the limited supply of anchovy feedstock due to restrictions in the total allowable catch of anchovy, and the limited period during the fishing season when such feedstock is available, may limit our ability to maintain or increase plant utilization rates. In the event we are not able to obtain sufficient quantities of anchovy feedstock for our fishmeal processing plants, our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects will be materially and adversely affected.

Our controlling shareholder and certain officers may take actions that are not in, or may conflict with, our or our shareholders' best interests.

Our controlling shareholder and parent company, PARD and its parent company, PAIH, which have indirect beneficial control of a majority of our shares, will continue to have the ability to exercise a controlling influence over our business, and may cause us to take actions that are not in, or may conflict with, our best interests or those of our creditors, including the holders of our shares. These actions may include matters relating to our management and policies and the election of our directors and senior management. Additionally, Mr. Ng Joo Kwee, our executive chairman, also serves as executive director of each of PAIH and PARD; and Mr. Ng Joo Siang, our executive Director, also serves as vice-chairman and managing director of PAIH and chairman and executive director of PARD. They, along with other persons, hold a controlling interest in PARD and PAIH. As a result, PARD, PAIH and these directors will be able to influence a variety of our major policy, corporate, strategic and investment decisions, by controlling the election of our directors and, in turn, indirectly controlling the selection of our senior management, determining the timing and amount of any dividend payments, approving our annual budgets, deciding on increases or decreases in our share capital, determining the issuance of new securities, approving mergers, acquisitions and disposals of our assets or business, and amending our articles of association.

We rely significantly on key management and inability to attract and retain other qualified personnel could impair our ability to operate and grow successfully.

Our directors and the senior management possess substantial experience in business management and operation and have made a significant contribution to the development of the Company. Our daily operations depend significantly on the performance of our key management personnel. We do not have insurance for loss of services of key employees. In the event that we lose the services of any of our key management personnel and fail to find suitable and competent replacements, our operation and profitability may be adversely affected. Our future growth will also depend on our ability to hire, train and retain qualified administrative, manufacturing and sales personnel to manage our existing operations and future growth. Qualified individuals are in high demand and we may not be able to successfully attract, assimilate or retain the personnel that we require. Failure to attract and retain qualified personnel could have an adverse effect on our ability to maintain our competitive position and to grow our business.

Furthermore, our fish harvesting and fish processing activities require an adequate supply of qualified and experienced crew members and production workers willing to work in rough weather and potentially dangerous operating conditions at sea. Our fishmeal and fish oil processing activities in Peru also require an adequate supply of production workers. Some of our operations have from time to time experienced a high rate of employee turnover and could continue to experience high turnover in the future. In particular, qualified and experienced fishing vessel captains and engineers are extremely important to the success of our operations, and such personnel are in short supply and in high demand. We may not be able to continue to hire and retain the sufficiently skilled labor force necessary to operate efficiently and to support our operating strategies, or we may not continue to experience favorable labor relations. In addition, our labor expenses could increase if the industry experiences a shortage in the supply of personnel, as a result of negative perceptions of potential personnel of the operating conditions or length of time crew members are required to spend at sea, or other reasons. Changes in applicable laws and regulations in the geographic regions where we operate could also increase labor costs, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our financial results may be affected by fluctuations in interest rates and foreign exchange rates.

As we conduct business in several different countries, certain of our costs are often denominated in currencies different than our revenue. As a result, we are exposed to fluctuations in exchange rates when costs are denominated in a different currency than the related revenue. Our financial statements are prepared in U.S. dollars. Most of our revenues and costs are denominated in U.S. dollars. However, some of our revenue is denominated in other currencies, such as the sale of fish roe which is denominated in Japanese yen and certain sales of Alaska pollock fillet which may be denominated in Euros. In addition, certain of our revenues and costs related to our Peruvian operations are denominated in nuevos soles. A smaller portion of our revenue and costs are denominated in other currencies. In addition, any restrictions regarding the conversion or timing of conversion of foreign currencies may also expose us to adverse fluctuations in exchange rates. We are also exposed to interest rate risk resulting from fluctuations in interest rates. Increases in interest rates would increase expenses relating to our outstanding debt and increase the cost of new debt. Fluctuations in interest rates can also lead to significant fluctuations in the fair value of our debt obligations.

Although we entered into forward foreign exchange contracts in the year ended 28 September 2014 to manage our exposure to Japanese yen and Euros, we have not established a formal hedging policy with respect to our foreign exchange exposure, as we only implement hedging arrangements for certain transactions or under certain circumstances. A weakening of the Japanese yen or Euro and/or the strengthening of nuevos soles, relative to the U.S. dollar may have a negative effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

Our financial condition may be affected by an impairment charge on our assets.

We regularly assess the value of our assets, which primarily include our fishing vessels and permits, fishmeal processing plants, receivables and prepayments. If the value of the assets recorded on our statement of financial position is not supported by the performance of such assets, their capacity to generate earnings, market value or other relevant metric, we would incur an impairment charge. In particular, we regularly assess the earning capacity of our vessels, and continue to optimize the deployment of our fleet. Should we determine that the earning capacity of any of our vessels, for example our factory vessel and the catcher trawlers, do not support their current valuation, we would have to write down the value of such vessels. Any such impairment charge or write-down would adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We may be adversely affected by legal proceedings, which include labor, environmental, regulatory and tax disputes with respect to our Peruvian fishmeal operations.

We are subject to a variety of legal proceedings. As of 28 December 2014, we were involved in claims relating to our Peruvian operations with an aggregate amount-in-controversy of approximately US$91.2 million. We have made a provision for claims, disputes and proceedings with an aggregate value of US$13.9 million for which we have evaluated our risk of loss as probable based on our management's industry knowledge and past experience. These legal proceedings include environmental, regulatory and tax disputes related to our fishing operations and the operation of our fishmeal plants, disputes with former and current employees of fishmeal operations in Peru, as well as other miscellaneous claims. With respect to claims filed by current and former employees, these employees allege that their salaries and benefits were not properly calculated according to the requirements of Peruvian law, and certain former employees allege that they were wrongfully terminated. In addition, after we completed the Copeinca Acquisition in March 2014, we are working to resolve a number of issues involving trademark registrations, real property registrations, expired permits and licenses as well as ongoing administrative and judicial proceedings with regard to fishing operations, the operation of fishmeal plants and dispute with former and current employees. We are also currently involved with legal proceedings with certain former shareholder regarding certain service agreements signed between their related parties and Copeinca. Furthermore, we are also involved in arbitration proceedings against Veramar Azul S. L., a former shareholder of Copeinca AS, regarding a dispute over an option agreement for certain shares of Copeinca AS. Veramar Azul S.L. is claiming compensation of approximately US$8.0 million. As of the date of this OIS, no arbitration award has been granted regarding such dispute. Moreover, on 6 February 2015, the South Pacific Regional Fisheries Management Organization listed one of our support vessels in our China Fishery Fleet (South Pacific) on its illegal, unregulated and unreported (“IUU”) list based on an allegation that the vessel provided food, water and fuel to authorized catcher vessels prior to the date on which this support vessel was authorized by the Peruvian government to be present in a convention area. The vessel’s inclusion on the IUU list will be reviewed by the South Pacific Commission at an intercessional meeting after the Peruvian government has imposed a fine on us for this vessel.

Uncertainties exist regarding the final outcome of these claims and proceedings, and we expect to continue to experience generally similar legal proceedings in the future, which may adversely affect our operations in Peru. While we currently do not expect any of these labor, environmental, regulatory, tax disputes or legal proceedings to result in outcomes that would materially and adversely affect us, we cannot assure you that they will not ultimately result in decisions or sanctions that would materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

If we are subject to actions by noteholders with respect to our delay in creating subsidiary guarantees under the CFG Notes or if we cannot raise sufficient funds to redeem the Copeinca Notes, our financial condition may be materially and adversely affected.

We completed the acquisition of the Copeinca Group on 17 March 2014. One of the entities within the Copeinca Group, Copeinca AS, was subsequently de-listed from both the Oslo Stock Exchange (Oslo Børs) (primary listing) and Lima Stock Exchange (Bolsa de Valores de Lima) (secondary listing) in April 2014. The Copeinca Group consequently became our wholly-owned subsidiaries, with the ultimate goal of integrating its business operations with the Group.

At the time of the acquisition, Copeinca had existing debt obligations, including its obligations under the Copeinca Notes. We have obligations under our own existing indebtedness, including the CFG Notes which were guaranteed by us as parent guarantor and certain of our subsidiaries as subsidiary guarantors. Under the indenture governing the CFG Notes (“CFG Notes Indenture”), we are (subject to certain exceptions) required to cause each of our future restricted subsidiaries, other than any restricted subsidiary the voting stock of which is listed on a stock exchange, to “promptly” guarantee the CFG Notes. Copeinca was delisted from the Oslo Stock Exchange in April 2014 and therefore, was required under the CFG Notes Indenture to provide a subsidiary guarantee for the CFG Notes. However, as of the date of this OIS we have not been able to procure the guarantee of the CFG Notes by Copeinca due to certain terms of the indentures governing the Copeinca Notes (“Copeinca Notes Indentures”). We are also required under the CFGL Facility to procure the Copeinca Group to provide guarantees. In order to provide the guarantees, the Copeinca Group is required to obtain consent from the Copeinca Notes noteholders or redeem the Copeinca Notes pursuant to the Copeinca Notes Indentures. Accordingly, we intend to redeem the Copeinca Notes, following which we will no longer be subject to the restrictions of the Copeinca Notes and will be able to create subsidiary guarantees required under the CFG Notes and the CFGL Facility.

We believe we have acted promptly within the meaning of the CFG Notes Indenture to execute and deliver a supplemental indenture pursuant to which the Copeinca Group will effect a guarantee of the CFG Notes. Accordingly, we are currently in compliance with the requirements of the CFG Notes Indenture mentioned above. However, we cannot assure you that the CFG Notes trustee or the holders of the CFG Notes will not challenge our view, or that a New York court would agree with such an interpretation, or would not take a contrary view of the meaning of the word “promptly” as contained in the CFG Notes Indenture, or whether actions taken by the Group under such provision are in compliance with the obligations of the Group under the CFG Notes Indenture. If a New York court were to take a contrary view, the Group may be found to be in default under the CFG Notes Indenture, which could result in an acceleration of the CFG Notes and certain other indebtedness of the Group, including the CFGL Facility, which may materially and adversely affect the financial condition of the Group as a whole.

The Copeinca Group requires approximately US$255.6 million (approximately S$345.1 million including principal and premium) for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes. The Company has allocated US$80 million for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes. In addition to the funds raised from the net proceeds of the Rights Issue, the Group has additional cash on hand of not less than US$30 million to be used for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes.

(ii) Risk relating to our industry

The frozen fish, fishmeal and fish oil products industry is highly competitive.

We compete with other major fishing operators operating in the waters in which we operate. In addition, because we and other industry participants process fish on the vessels and fishmeal and fish oil at our processing plants, we also face competition from onshore processors. Some of our competitors are larger than we are, have greater financial resources, have fishing vessels with larger or more advanced processing facilities than we have, or have stronger marketing and distribution channels than we do. Furthermore, production and distribution of substitute products for our fish and fishmeal products, such as grain-based products, could reduce the demand for these products and have a significant adverse impact on the sales and profitability of our industry. Increases in fishmeal prices or recessionary economic conditions could cause aquaculture farms to substitute these products as a substitute for fishmeal. Increased competition as to any of our products, in particular, Alaska pollock products and fishmeal, which represented 35.5% and 40.0%, respectively, of our revenues for the three months ended 28 December 2014, could result in price reductions, reduced margins and loss of market share, which could adversely affect our profitability.

Competition in the areas in which we conduct fishing operations could intensify if current quota share systems are modified or repealed, or if the relevant regulatory authorities grant additional licenses to other fishing vessels or fishing operators. With regard to competition posed by fishing operators operating illegally in the areas in which we operate, we depend in particular upon the effectiveness of the efforts of the relevant governments to enforce fishery laws and regulations and prevent illegal fishing in their territorial waters and exclusive economic zones. Increased competition from other fishing vessels could lead to a decline in the fish stocks in the areas in which we operate and adversely affect our catch, which may in turn materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our industry and business operations are subject to many complex laws and regulations, over which regulatory authorities exercise considerable discretion, and failure to comply may result in significant fines, sanctions or other penalties.

Our industry is subject to highly complex statutes, rules and regulations, such as regulations and international agreements governing environmental protection of the oceans and fish and other marine species, as well as those governing maritime operations and human health and safety, all of which are subject to change at any time. As a result, our results of operations have been, and will continue to be, affected by laws and regulations applicable in our primary fishing grounds, particularly those of Peru, which are applicable to our Peruvian fishmeal operations, and Namibia and Angola, which are applicable to our China Fishery Fleet operations. The laws and regulations that are important to our operations include those applicable to fishing licenses, permits and quotas, the total allowable catch of our principal fish species, customs declaration, fishmeal production, by-catch regulations and other matters. Of primary importance are the laws and regulations applicable to fishing permits, licenses and quotas. The fishing vessels we own or manage are subject to statutory and contractual limitations on the type and amount of fish they may harvest, as well as restrictions as to where they may fish within our fisheries. If the fishing vessels or members of our crew violate maritime law, the vessels we own or manage could be subject to forfeiture and various penalties, and their fishing rights could be reduced or revoked. In addition, because the vessels' harvesting and processing activities take place at sea outside the day-to-day supervision of our senior management, crew members of the vessels may commit infractions or violations that could subject them and us to significant penalties, which could have a material and adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Regulatory authorities exercise considerable discretion in matters of enforcement and interpretation of applicable laws, regulations and standards, the issuance and renewal of licenses and permits and in monitoring licensees' compliance with the terms thereof. Commercial practices and legal and regulatory frameworks may differ significantly between jurisdictions and are subject to change from time to time and at any time. As a result, it may be difficult to ensure compliance with existing or new regulatory requirements in the jurisdictions in which we operate, and any failure to comply could subject us to fines, sanctions or other penalties.

Peruvian fishmeal Operations

We have been and continue to be involved in a variety of administrative proceedings in Peru for past and alleged violations of Peru's fishery, maritime and environmental laws and regulations committed by our fishing vessels and processing plants. The administrative proceedings relate generally to inadvertent violations of the fishery laws and regulations that occur naturally in fishing operations, despite the institution of measures to prevent the occurrence of the violations. The violations of our fishing vessels include: anchovy catch exceeding the 10% allowable thresholds for juvenile anchovy (those under 12 centimeters in length); using sardine, jack mackerel and chub mackerel in fishmeal production; failure to transmit GPS positioning signals without a justified cause; sailing at fishing speeds and with an unsteady course for two or more hours in reserved or prohibited areas; failure to have legal documents of the vessel during inspection by the Ministry of Production; fishing in closed seasons; registration numbers and holding capacities that did not coincide with information maintained by the Ministry of Production; failure to have complete safety equipment or board the fishing vessel; submerged load line mark; and providing food, water and fuel to vessels before being authorized to be in a convention area. Possible sanctions under administrative proceedings include payment of fines, cancellation of permits and the temporary suspension during the fishing season of the vessel or the processing plant that is the subject of the administrative sanction. In the event of a temporary suspension of operations of a fishing vessel, we would have to operate one of our spare fishing vessels, or the processing plant would have to purchase additional amount of anchovy feedstock from third parties, the cost of which, if necessary, will be comparatively higher than the cost of anchovy feedstock harvested by our own vessels.

The violations of our processing plants include: discharge of the press liquor from its centrifuges into the drainage channels and then into the sea and discharge of untreated water in collecting tank directly into the sea in violation of environmental regulations; processing of unauthorized fish species in excess of allowable limits; processing of juvenile anchovy in excess of the 10% maximum thresholds; processing of sardine, jack mackerel and chub mackerel into fishmeal; inaccurate scale weight reporting; obstructing the monitoring, control, inspection, supervision and sampling activities that had to be performed by personnel of the Ministry of Production; having a chart house in the coastal strip in violation of environmental regulations; failure to keep or submit proper records; and providing incorrect or incomplete information to regulatory authorities by mistake.

As of 28 December 2014, we were involved in claims relating to our Peruvian operations with an aggregate amount-in-controversy of approximately US$91.2 million, which were primarily related to fishing compliance, claims from former employees and other miscellaneous claims. Our legal advisor in Peru has advised us that approximately US$29.3 million of these claims is likely to have an unfavorable outcome to us, and we have made a provision of approximately US$13.9 million for such claims. In addition, our legal advisor in Peru has advised us that the outcome for claims of approximately US$15.4 million cannot be reasonably ascertained, and certain other claims may also have a remote chance of resulting in an unfavorable outcome for us.

China Fishery Fleet Operations in Namibia and Angola

In February 2012, we commenced operations in the Namibian waters along the coast of West Africa, and in Angolan waters through cooperating with a domestic Angolan fishing company that possesses the requisite fishing license to fish in that area. Fishing activities in Namibia and Angola are primarily regulated by various fishing regulations. In addition, Namibia and Angola may have certain licensing, monitoring, fishing rights and quota allocation regulatory systems for fishing activities in their exclusive economic zones that are similar to those in other regions where we operate.

Our suppliers in our Contract Supply Business in the North Pacific Ocean are subject to many laws and regulations over which regulatory authorities have considerable discretion.

Our suppliers are subject to various operational rules and requirements to restrict the (i) ability of fishing vessels to discard unwanted species, or by-catch, in the North Pacific Ocean; (ii) purchase and sales requirements of marine catch from Russia's exclusive economic zone; and (iii) related maritime and fishing rules and regulations, imposed by the Federal Agency for Fishery of Russia, Russian fishery councils and fishery research institutions. We cannot assure you that our suppliers will comply with these rules and requirements. Our suppliers' failure to comply with these rules and requirements may materially and adversely affect their ability to supply fish to us. Furthermore, any significant change in these rules and regulations that materially increase our suppliers' costs could be passed onto us in our fish supplies purchases.

We may not be able to purchase fish supplies, as we purchase fish on a spot-basis, do not own the fishing vessels or quota shares and do not control the deployment plans of our suppliers.

Historically, we were contractually entitled to supply of fish from Contract Supply Vessels under the Supply Agreements with our suppliers Perun and Alatir for our Contract Supply Vessel operations, which are currently known as our Contract Supply Business segment. After we discontinued these Supply Agreements in March 2014, our Contract Supply Business consists of purchasing fish supplies on a spot-basis from a non-exclusive network of suppliers. As with our previous supply arrangements and our current purchase operations, we do not own fishing vessels or shares of the industrial marine and coastal quotas with respect to fishing in the North Pacific Ocean. Instead, we currently rely on purchase from suppliers, who in turn may have their own separate supply and purchase arrangements with other suppliers. We also cannot assure that we will be able to purchase fish on a spot-basis at advantageous terms or at all, as spot-basis pricing and our purchases will be dependent on a variety of factors, such as the overall fish supply and commodity market, seasonality, supply and demand factors and other factors beyond our control. In addition, as our purchase agreements are on a spot-basis and are typically one-off purchases, we do not have any ongoing supply arrangements or exclusivity agreements with our suppliers. As a result, we may lose our current access to the supply of fish from our suppliers who have access to quota shares or fish supplies in the North Pacific Ocean, and consequently may be unable to sell fish supplies and generate revenue as we have been able to do so historically. The occurrence of any of the foregoing may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our industry and business operations are subject to various environmental laws and regulations, and failure to comply with them may result in significant fines, penalties or other sanctions.

The environmental laws and regulations to which the vessels we own or whose management we oversee are subject include those governing discharges into the water; the management, treatment, storage and disposal of hazardous substances; and the remediation of contamination. If we do not procure full compliance with environmental regulations, or if a release of hazardous substances occurs at or from one of our facilities or the fishing vessels we operate or manage, we may be required to cease, suspend or otherwise limit our activities. We may also be subject to penalties and could be held liable for the cost of remediation. If we are subject to these penalties or costs, we may not be sufficiently covered or covered at all by insurance. In this regard, we have in the past been the subject of administrative fines and penalties for violations, and are currently involved in a variety of pending administrative proceedings in Peru for alleged violations, of Peru's environmental laws and regulations committed by our fishing vessels and processing plants. Moreover, regulatory authorities may modify or implement additional environmental and other regulations regarding such matters as fishing methods or fish processing, and we may not be able to comply, or we may incur substantial additional costs in order to comply, with such revised or additional laws and regulations.

Our industry may be affected by a reduction in fish biomass.

Fish biomass, which affects the total achievable catch for all of the species that we and other industry participants harvest in various locations globally, is subject to natural fluctuations which are beyond the relevant authorities' or our control. In addition, natural biomass fluctuations may be exacerbated by such factors as pollution, overfishing, disease, reproductive problems or other biological issues. The overall health of fish biomass is difficult to measure, and fisheries management remains a relatively inexact science. Since we and other industry participants are unable to predict the timing and extent of fluctuations in fish biomass, we are unable to take any measures that might alleviate the potential adverse effects of these fluctuations.

A reduction, whether short-or long-term, in the biomass of the species of fishes we utilize in our operations may reduce the total allowable catch set by the relevant regulatory authorities, thereby adversely impacting the allocation of quota shares granted by the authorities and, as a result, adversely affecting our business results of operations, business, financial condition and prospects. Moreover, harvest trends are not necessarily indicative of remaining fish stocks. As a result, conclusions about future harvest prospects cannot be drawn upon current harvest data.

The seasonality of our industry may cause fluctuations in our results of operations and financial condition.

Our industry, and thus our business, is seasonal in nature and our revenues and results of operations vary from period to period. For example, the fishing season in Peru that generally runs from April to July commenced later in 2012 than in the prior year. In 2014, the first fishing season was extended by 10 days to 10 August 2014 due to the poor catch amounts that occurred industry-wide as a result of the effects of El Niño. Consequently, results of operations for any particular period may not be indicative of results of operations for future periods, which makes it difficult to forecast our results of operations for an entire fiscal year. This variability may cause volatility in the market prices of our securities. Although our geographically dispersed operations in Peru, the South Pacific Ocean and Namibia have different fishing seasons, which tend to reduce the effect of this seasonality on our overall operations, our operations in specific geographic regions are also seasonal.

In addition, the seasonality of our industry means that our business and cash flows from operations are higher than at certain times of the year. Our fishing seasons also straddle fiscal years and fiscal periods from time to time, due to delays in the fishing season by regulatory authorities or other reasons. As a result, the timing of the recognition of revenue from one period to another can be a function of unpredictable factors, such as the timing of fishing seasons, weather, the timing of shipments of fish products and fishmeal to customers, and fishing vessel utilization and efficiency, all of which are likely to vary from year to year. Given that we are required to make regular interest payments to our lenders and note holders and our intention is to make regular dividend payments as well, there is a risk that we will experience cash shortages, which could hinder our ability to make these payments.

(iii) Risk relating to conducting business in the PRC, Peru, West Africa, and Russia

We are subject to risks relating to doing business in the PRC.

The PRC is the largest market for our products. For the year ended 28 September 2013 and 2014 and the three months ended 28 December 2014, our revenue derived from the PRC as a percentage of total consolidated revenue was 74.2%, 49.2% and 54.4%, respectively. As such, our business and operations are subject to a variety of risks relating to the PRC, including:

- economic, political and social uncertainties in China;
- changes in, and the arbitrary enforcement of, commercial laws, currency controls, import tariffs and duties, customs regulations, and taxation laws in China;
- local infrastructure problems, such as electrical power interruptions, in an area that has only recently undergone a rapid industrial development;
- transportation difficulties that may be encountered in receiving parts or shipping fish products by land or by air;
- unforeseen events such as outbreak of wars, terrorist attacks or other political, economic or social events in the PRC that may lead to a protracted economic slowdown;
- an inability to attract and retain sufficient and qualified engineering and management talent and resources;
- measures which may be introduced to control inflation or deflation;
- changes in the rate or method of taxation;
- continuing changes in the value of the Renminbi;
- modifications to fiscal, banking or monetary policies to curb the growth in China; and
- imposition of additional restrictions on currency conversion and remittances abroad.

Any of these risks may affect the demand for our products and/or our business operations and, as a result, materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

While China's economy has experienced significant growth in the past 25 years, growth has been uneven, both geographically and among various sectors of the economy. The PRC government has implemented various measures to encourage economic growth and guide the allocation of resources. Some of these measures benefit the overall economy in China, but may also have a negative effect on us. For example, our operating results and financial condition may be adversely affected by governmental control over capital investments or changes in tax regulations applicable to us.

The PRC has experienced and continues to experience significant economic and legislative development. However, despite the recent transition from a planned economy to a more market-oriented economy, a substantial portion of productive assets in China is still owned by the PRC government. In addition, the PRC government continues to play a substantial role in regulating industry development by imposing industrial policies, and exercises significant control over China's economic growth through allocation of resources, control over payments of foreign currency denominated obligations, setting monetary and banking policy and providing preferential treatment to particular industries or companies. Furthermore, a number of written statutes, upon which the PRC legal system is based, remain largely untested and prior court decisions interpreting them may be noted for reference but have limited value as precedents, thus representing an area of uncertainty for us and others operating in the Chinese market. In addition, as the PRC legal system continues to develop, changes in laws and regulations, their interpretation, or their enforcement may lead to restrictions on our ability to conduct business in the PRC.

Our operations in Peru subject us to the risk of doing business in Peru.

Since 2006, we have acquired significant operations in Peru through several acquisitions of entities and assets in the country, including the Copeinca Acquisition. As a result, our business, results of operations and financial condition are affected by changes in economic or other policies of the Peruvian government or other political, regulatory or economic developments in Peru.

Peru's economy has historically experienced considerable fluctuations in growth, proving to be vulnerable to external factors, including volatility in interest rates in global financial markets, changes in international prices of commodities, low growth affecting the United States and other trading partners, and changes in the credit ratings of Peruvian sovereign bonds. Peru's economy is also affected by internal factors, including general current economic, business or political events in the country, the depreciation or revaluation of the national currency, the ability of the Peruvian government to enact key economic reforms, the levels of domestic debt and domestic inflation, the level of foreign direct and portfolio investment, and natural occurrences such as El Niño, earthquakes and floods. In general, changes in Peru's economic indicators such as per capita income, levels of private consumption, exchange rates, employment rates and inflation could also indirectly affect our results of operations.

During the past several decades, Peru has had a history of political instability that has included military coups and a succession of regimes with differing policies and programs. Past governments have frequently intervened in the nation's economy and social structure. Among other actions, past governments have imposed controls on prices, exchange rates and local and foreign investment as well as limitations on imports, have restricted the ability of companies to dismiss employees, have expropriated private sector assets and have prohibited the remittance of profits to foreign investors. Moreover, Peru's upcoming presidential elections will be held in 2016 and any new government may not continue current policies in the country. Because we have significant operations in Peru, we cannot assure you that political developments and economic conditions in Peru and/or terrorist activity will not have a material adverse effect on market conditions, prices of our securities, our ability to obtain financing, and our results of operations and financial condition.

In 2009, the Peruvian government adopted the individual transferable quota system for the anchovy fishery industry, under which each ship owner is allocated quota shares representing its maximum percentage catch. In addition, the Peruvian government also has introduced a variety of regulations applicable to fishmeal production activities. A license is required to operate a fishmeal production plant, and the Peruvian government has introduced a variety of regulations designed to minimize the environmental impact from operation of fishmeal processing plants. As part of government policy to introduce clean technologies, the Peruvian government set maximum permissible limits on effluents in 2008 and on emissions in 2009. The Peruvian government has recently adopted new regulations that require the use of steam dryers in fishmeal production.

Our operations in West Africa subject us to the risk of doing business in West Africa.

We conduct fishing operations in Namibian and Angolan waters along the coast of West Africa pursuant to applicable agreements with certain domestic quota or license holders. In addition, we sell a portion of our fish products to certain countries in West Africa, including Nigeria and Namibia. Deterioration in the political, economic and social conditions or changes in government policies of West African countries, such as:

- significant changes in government policies with respect to local economies;
- changes in laws or regulations; implementation of import-export quotas, wage and price controls, or imposition of trade barriers;
- forced repudiation, nullification, renegotiation or modification of our existing contracts; and/or
- terrorist acts, armed hostilities, political unrest, war and civil disturbances.

Any of the above occurrences could have a material adverse impact on the local economy, the fish demand in West Africa and our fishing operations along the coast of West Africa, which would in turn materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The imposition of economic sanctions on Russia may materially and adversely affect our Contract Supply Business.

We purchase a significant amount of Alaska pollock sourced from suppliers in Russia through our Contract Supply Business. The accession of Crimea to Russia in March 2014 and further conflict between Russia and Ukraine over control in the Crimean Peninsula have led to economic sanctions imposed on certain Russian companies and individuals by the United States, the European Union and other nations. We cannot assure you that the general social and political unrest in the region, as well as deteriorating economic conditions which began in late 2013 and persisted into 2015, will not continue. While these events have not directly affected us or our Russian suppliers, we cannot assure you that worsening conditions would not lead to further economic sanctions, including a trade embargo, to be imposed on Russia. Such sanctions may materially and adversely affect our ability to continue sourcing Alaska pollock and other marine species from Russia through our Contract Supply Business, and consequently our business, results of operations and financial condition would be materially and adversely affected.

(B) RISKS RELATED TO AN INVESTMENT IN THE SHARES AND RIGHTS SHARES

Future sales of Shares by the Company or existing Shareholders may adversely affect the price of our Shares.

The market price of our Shares could decline after the Rights Issue as a result of sales of a large number of Shares or the perception that these sales could occur. These sales also might make it more difficult for the Company to offer Shares in the future at a time and at a price that the Company deems appropriate.

Any future issue or sale of Shares can have a downward pressure on the Share price. The sale of a significant amount of Shares on the SGX-ST after the Rights Issue, or the perception that such sales may occur, could materially affect the market price of the Shares. To the extent further new Shares are issued, there may be dilution to present Shareholders. These factors may also affect the Company's ability to undertake future equity fund-raising.

The Rights Issue may cause the price of the Shares to immediately decrease, and this decrease may continue.

The Issue Price represents (i) a discount of approximately 33.5% to the closing price of S$0.260 per Share on the SGX-ST as at 9 February 2015, being the last trading day of the Shares on the SGX-ST preceding the announcement dated 11 February 2015; and (ii) a discount of approximately 21.8% to the theoretical ex-rights price⁽¹⁾ of S$0.221 per Share.

This discount, along with the number of Rights Shares, may result in an immediate decrease in the market value of the Shares. This decrease in market value may continue after the completion of the Rights Issue.

Note:

- (1) The "theoretical ex-rights price" is equal to (i) the sum of (a) the market capitalisation of the Company based on closing price of S$0.260 per Share on the SGX-ST on 9 February 2015; and (b) the gross proceeds of the Rights Issue, divided by (ii) the total number of Shares in issue following the completion of the Rights Issue.

The Issue Price is not an indication of the underlying value of the Shares and the Shares may trade at a lower price than the Issue Price.

The Issue Price does not bear a direct relationship to the book value of the Company's assets, operations, cash flow, earnings, financial condition or any other established criteria for valuation. Therefore prospective investors should not consider the Issue Price to be any indication of the Shares' underlying or intrinsic value and the Shares may trade at prices lower than the Issue Price in the future.

The Share price may fluctuate.

There is no assurance that the market price of the Shares will not fluctuate significantly and rapidly as a result of certain factors, some of which are beyond the Company's control. Examples of such factors include, inter alia, (i) variation(s) of its operating results; (ii) changes in securities analysts' estimates of the Group's financial performance; (iii) changes in conditions affecting the fishing industry; (iv) additions or departures of key personnel; (v) fluctuations in stock market prices and volume; (vi) involvement in litigation; and (vii) general economic and stock market conditions.

Potential dilution in the event that Eligible Shareholders' Rights Shares are not subscribed.

In the event that the Eligible Shareholders do not or are not able to accept their provisional allotments of Rights Shares, their proportionate interest in the Company will be reduced. They may also experience a dilution in the value of their Shares. Even if an Eligible Shareholder sells his Rights, or such Rights are sold on his behalf, the consideration he receives may not be sufficient to compensate him fully for the dilution of his interest in the Company as a result of the Rights Issue.

There is no assurance that an active trading market for the Shares will develop after the Rights Issue.

Although approval in-principle has been obtained from the SGX-ST to list the Rights Shares on the SGX-ST, there is no assurance that an active trading market for the Shares will develop, or if it develops, will be sustained after the Rights Issue.

Shareholders should note that the Shares trade in board lots of 100 Shares. Following the Rights Issue, Shareholders who hold odd lots of the Rights Shares (i.e. less than 100 Rights Shares) and who wish to trade in odd lots on the SGX-ST should note that there is no assurance that they can acquire such number of Rights Shares to make up one board lot of 100 Rights Shares or to dispose of their odd lots (whether in part or whole) on the SGX-ST. Further, Eligible Shareholders who hold odd lots of less than 100 Rights Shares may experience difficulty and/or have to bear disproportionate transaction costs in disposing of odd lots of their Rights Shares.

An active trading market may not develop for the Rights and, if a market does develop, the Rights may be subject to greater price volatility than the Shares.

A trading period for the Rights has been set from 8 April 2015 to 16 April 2015. There is no assurance that an active trading market for the Rights on the SGX-ST will develop during the Rights trading period or that any over-the-counter trading market in the Rights will develop. Even if active markets develop, the trading price of the Rights, which depends on the trading price of the Shares, may be volatile. As the Company may arrange for the sale of the Rights of the Ineligible Shareholders, the sale may give pressure to the trading price of the Rights. In addition, the market price of the Rights may not reflect their actual value.

The liquidity of the Shares may not change or improve.

Active and liquid trading for securities generally result in lower volatilities in price and more efficient execution of buy and sell orders for investors. Generally, the liquidity of the market for a particular share is dependent on, amongst others, the size of the free float, the price of each board lot, institutional interests, and the business prospects of the Group as well as the prevailing market sentiment. There is no assurance that the liquidity of the Shares or the volume of the Shares as traded on the SGX-ST may change or improve after the Rights Issue.

Resale of the Rights Shares and Rights in the U.S. are subject to restrictions.

None of the Rights Shares and/or Rights has been, or will be, registered under the Securities Act or with any securities regulatory authority of any state of the U.S.. Accordingly, investors acquiring the Rights Shares and/or Rights in the Rights Issue should note that the Rights Shares and/or Rights may only be resold or transferred in the U.S. pursuant to an applicable exemption from, or a transaction that is not subject to, the registration requirements of the Securities Act.

The Singapore Code on Take-Overs and Mergers may discourage or prevent certain types of transactions.

The SFA and the Code which contains certain provisions that may delay, deter or prevent a future take-over or change in control of the Company. Any person acquiring an interest (either on his or her own or together with parties acting in concert with him or her) in:

- (a) 30.0% or more of the total Shares; or
- (b) when holding not less than 30.0% but not more than 50.0% of the total Shares, more than 1.0% of the total Shares in any six-month period, will be required to make a general offer for the remaining Shares. These provisions may discourage or prevent certain types of transactions involving an actual or threatened change of control of the Company. Some of the Shareholders may, therefore, be disadvantaged as a transaction of that kind might have allowed the sale of Shares at a price above the prevailing market price.

PART IV KEY INFORMATION

1. In the same section, provide the information set out in paragraphs 2 to 7 of this Part.

Please see paragraphs 2 to 7 below.

2. Disclose the estimated amount of the proceeds from the offer (net of the estimated amount of expenses incurred in connection with the offer) (referred to in this paragraph and paragraph 3 of this Part as the net proceeds). Where only a part of the net proceeds will go to the relevant entity, indicate the amount of the net proceeds that will be raised by the relevant entity. If none of the proceeds will go to the relevant entity, provide a statement of that fact.

In the Minimum Subscription Scenario, based on the 1,154,376,739 Rights Shares to be issued, the net proceeds of the Rights Issue, after deducting the estimated expenses of approximately S$0.7 million, is expected to be approximately S$199.0 million.

In the Maximum Subscription Scenario, based on the 1,637,083,636 Rights Shares to be issued, the net proceeds of the Rights Issue, after deducting estimated expenses of approximately S$0.7 million, is expected to be approximately S$282.5 million.

In the Maximum Subscription Maximum Warrants Scenario, based on the 1,714,006,713 Rights Shares to be issued, the net proceeds of the Rights Issue, after deducting estimated expenses of approximately S$0.7 million, is expected to be approximately S$295.8 million.

All net proceeds of the Rights Issue will go to the Group.

3. Disclose how the net proceeds raised by the relevant entity from the offer will be allocated to each principal intended use. If the anticipated proceeds will not be sufficient to fund all of the intended uses, disclose the order of priority of such uses, as well as the amount and sources of other funds needed. Disclose also how the proceeds will be used pending their eventual utilisation for the proposed uses. Where specific uses are not known for any portion of the proceeds, disclose the general uses for which the proceeds are proposed to be applied. Where the offer is not fully underwritten on a firm commitment basis, state the minimum amount which, in the reasonable opinion of the directors or equivalent persons of the relevant entity, must be raised by the offer of securities.

The Company intends to utilise the net proceeds of the Rights Issue, together with other funding of the Group, to fund the redemption of the Copeinca Notes. The remaining proceeds, if any, will be used for the general working capital purposes of the Group.

In the Minimum Subscription Scenario, the net proceeds of the Rights Issue after deducting the estimated expenses of approximately S$0.7 million, is expected to be approximately S$199.0 million. The Copeinca Group requires approximately US$255.6 million (approximately S$345.1 million) for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes (including principal, premium and interest). Apart from the net proceeds of the Rights Issue, the Group has internal funding of approximately US$80 million earmarked for funding the Copeinca Group's redemption of the Copeinca Notes, as well as other internal funding of not less than US$30 million which may be deployed to make good any shortfall in the funds required by the Copeinca Group for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes. Therefore, even in the Minimum Subscription Scenario, the Group would have sufficient funding to redeem the Copeinca Notes.

In the reasonable opinion of the Directors, and in view of the Irrevocable Undertakings, there is no minimum amount which must be raised from the Rights Issue.

Pending the deployment of the net proceeds from the Rights Issue, such proceeds may be deposited with banks and/or financial institutions or used for investment in short-term money markets or debt instruments or used for other purposes on a short-term basis as the Directors may deem appropriate in the interests of the Company.

The Company will make periodic announcements on the utilisation of such proceeds as the funds are disbursed and provide a status report on the use of the proceeds in the Company's annual report.

4. For each dollar of the proceeds from the offer that will be raised by the relevant entity, state the estimated amount that will be allocated to each principal intended use and the estimated amount that will be used to pay for expenses incurred in connection with the offer.

Assuming the Rights Issue is fully subscribed, the estimated amount that will be allocated to each principal intended use and the estimated amount to be used in the payment of expenses incurred in connection with the Rights Issue are set out below:

	Intended use and expenses	Amount equivalent	% of gross proceeds from the Rights Issue	For every dollar raised from the Rights Issue (S$)
1.	To fund the redemption of the US$250,000,000 Copeinca Notes	Between S$199.0 million and S$237.1 million	Between 79.97% and 99.65%	Between 0.7997 to 0.9965
2.	General working capital purposes	Between S$0 and S$58.7 million	Between 0% and 19.79%	Between 0 to 0.1979
3.	Expenses incurred in connection with the Rights Issue	Approximately S$0.7 million	Between 0.24% and 0.35%	Between 0.0024 to 0.0035
	TOTAL GROSS PROCEEDS:	Between S$199.7 million and S$296.5 million	100.0%	1.00

5. If any of the proceeds to be raised by the relevant entity will be used, directly or indirectly, to acquire or refinance the acquisition of an asset other than in the ordinary course of business, briefly describe the asset and state its purchase price. If the asset has been or will be acquired from an interested person of the relevant entity, identify the interested person and state how the cost to the relevant entity is or will be determined.

There is no intention to use the net proceeds from the Rights Issue, directly or indirectly, to acquire or refinance the acquisition of an asset other than in the ordinary course of business.

6. If any of the proceeds to be raised by the relevant entity will be used to finance or refinance the acquisition of another business, briefly describe the business and give information on the status of the acquisition.

There is no intention to use the net proceeds from the Rights Issue to finance or refinance the acquisition of another business.

7. If any material part of the proceeds to be raised by the relevant entity will be used to discharge, reduce or retire the indebtedness of the relevant entity or, if the relevant entity is the holding company or holding entity of a group, of the group, describe the maturity of such indebtedness and, for indebtedness incurred within the past year, the uses to which the proceeds giving rise to such indebtedness were put.

Proposed redemption of the Copeinca Notes

The Company completed its acquisition of the Copeinca Group on 17 March 2014. Copeinca was subsequently de-listed from both the Oslo Stock Exchange (Oslo Børs) (primary listing) and Lima Stock Exchange (Bolsa de Valores de Lima) (secondary listing) in April 2014. The Copeinca Group consequently became wholly-owned subsidiaries of the Company, held through the Company's indirect wholly-owned subsidiary, CFG Investment S.A.C. (being the operation arm of the Group for its Peruvian fishmeal operations), with the ultimate goal of integrating business operations with the Group.

Previously, the Copeinca Group had issued the Copeinca Notes, which were guaranteed by Copeinca. The Group is required under the CFGL Facility and the CFG Notes to procure the Copeinca Group to provide guarantees, which are prohibited under the Copeinca Notes. In order to provide the guarantees, the Copeinca Group has to either obtain consent from its bondholders or redeem the Copeinca Notes. The Copeinca Group undertook a consent solicitation which commenced on 17 July 2014 to seek the consent of the bondholders to waive the relevant prohibitions under the Copeinca Notes. However, it was unable to secure the requisite number of consents from bondholders for the waiver.

The Company had announced on 11 November 2014 that it had obtained the consent of the lenders of the CFGL Facility to extend the deadline for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes (the “Redemption Deadline”) until 16 March 2015. The Company has obtained in-principle conditional consent from the lenders under the CFGL Facility to extend the Redemption Deadline of the Copeinca Notes until 15 May 2015. The consent is subject to the execution of the formal waiver document. The conditions of the consent largely relate to the flow of funds in the Group that will be used for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes, to secure that the Rights Issue proceeds will be used for the stipulated purposes and to address the situation if the Rights Issue fails.

As such, the proceeds of the Rights Issue will be used together with other funding of the Group to provide funding to the Copeinca Group to redeem the Copeinca Notes.

The Copeinca Group requires approximately US$255.6 million (approximately S$345.1 million) for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes (including principal, premium and interest). Apart from the net proceeds of Rights Issue, the Group has internal funding of approximately US$80 million earmarked for funding the Copeinca Group’s redemption of the Copeinca Notes, as well as other internal funding of not less than US$30 million which may be deployed to make good any shortfall in the funds required by the Copeinca Group for the redemption of the Copeinca Notes. Therefore, even in the Minimum Subscription Scenario, the Group would have sufficient funding to redeem the Copeinca Notes.

In view of the Irrevocable Undertakings by the Undertaking Shareholders, the Company has decided to proceed with the Rights Issue on a non-underwritten basis. As the Rights Issue is not underwritten, no placement or selling agents have been appointed in relation to the Rights Issue.

Describe any other significant component of revenue or expenditure necessary to understand the profit or loss before tax for each of these financial periods.

A discussion of the performance of the Group from FY2012 to 1QFY2015 are set out below:

Performance review for FY2013 compared to FY2012

Group revenue decreased by 8.1% from US$604.0 million to US$555.0 million.

Revenue from the Peruvian fishmeal operations, which accounted for 29.8% of total revenue, decreased by 7.5% from US$179.1 million to US$165.6 million, largely as a result of the significant reduction in TAC in the 2012 second fishing season in the Peruvian Anchovy fishery. The effect of higher average selling prices of fishmeal/fish oil and the one-month contribution of revenue from Copeinca (US$31.5 million) reduced this impact.

Revenue from the Contract Supply Business, which accounted for 65.1% of total revenue, decreased by 3.6% from US$375.0 million to US$361.4 million, due mainly to lower average prices of various products.

The Group's newly-established fishing operations in Namibia successfully commenced its activities in FY2013 and contributed positively to the performance of the China Fishery Fleet operations. However, revenue from China Fishery Fleet decreased by 44.0% from US$49.9 million to US$27.9 million, due primarily to the strategic decision of not operating the fishing fleet in the South Pacific Ocean during the year under review.

The changes resulted from the reclassifications of charter hire expenses and vessel operating costs to costs of sales following the execution of the four Long Term Supply Agreements ("LSAs") in July 2012.

As a result of the lower sales volume, gross profit decreased by 14.8% from US$171.4 million to US$146.0 million, as a higher proportion of fixed costs was incurred.

Other operating income increased by 1,346.8% from US$6.2 million to US$89.7 million, mainly due to (1) a fair value gain of US$57.5 million on the Group's acquisition of Copeinca; and (2) realised net foreign exchange gains of US$13.7 million from currency derivative contracts.

Selling expenses decreased by 32.4% from US$37.7 million to US$25.5 million, in line with the lower sales volume of fishmeal and fish oil in FY2013.

Other operating expenses increased by 588.1% from US$10.1 million to US$69.7 million. This increase comprised (1) provision of diminution in value of plants and vessels in the China Fishery Fleet and Peruvian fishmeal operations (US$42.4 million); and (2) transaction costs incurred for the completion of the acquisition of Copeinca (US$13.5 million).

Finance costs increased by 93.2% from US$26.2 million to US$50.6 million. This increase was related to the senior notes issued and the bridge loan used to fund part of the consideration for the acquisition of Copeinca. Total outstanding interest-bearing debt was US$1,211.0 million and US$579.0 million as of 28 September 2013 and 28 September 2012, respectively.

Earnings before interest, taxation, depreciation and amortisation ("EBITDA") increased marginally by 1.6% from US$232.8 million to US$236.7 million.

Net profit after tax increased 8.7% from US$78.1 million to US$78.4 million. Net profit attributable to shareholders decreased 0.5% from US$78.1 million to US$77.7 million.

Performance review for FY2014 compared to FY2013

Group revenue increased by 13.7% from US$555.0 million to US$630.8 million.

Revenue from the Peruvian fishmeal operations, which accounted for 68.9% of total revenue, increased by 162.5% from US$165.6 million to US$434.9 million, reflecting continued enhanced contribution from the enlarged Peruvian fishmeal operations.

Revenue from the Contract Supply Business, which accounted for 24.4% of total revenue, decreased by 57.4% from US$361.4 million to US$153.9 million, due primarily to the termination and non-renewal of the LSAs.

Revenue from the China Fishery Fleet operations, which accounted for 6.7% of total revenue, increased by 50.8% from US$27.9 million to US$42.1 million, mainly as a result of higher catch and sales volume recorded from the fishing operations in Namibia.

Despite a 13.7% increase in revenue, cost of sales and vessel operating costs increased marginally from US$409.0 million to US$420.8 million. This was mainly attributable to the higher contribution from the enlarged Peruvian fishmeal operations in the Group's business.

Gross profit increased by 43.8% from US$146.0 million to US$210.0 million, and gross profit margin improved from 26.3% to 33.3%. This was driven by increased volumes and a continued focus on operational efficiencies in the Peruvian fishmeal operations.

Other operating income decreased by 83.3% from US$89.7 million to US$15.0 million. This was due primarily to the absence of the US$73.6 million fair value gain and gain in bargain purchase from the Group's acquisition of Copeinca that were recorded in FY2013.

Selling expenses increased marginally by 7.0% from US$25.5 million to US$27.3 million, due primarily to higher sales volume of fishmeal and fish oil that more than offset lower sales volume from the Contract Supply Business.

Administrative expenses increased by 30.7% from US$18.9 million to US$24.7 million, due primarily to consolidation of results of Copeinca into the Group.

Other operating expenses decreased by 77.1% from US$69.7 million to US$15.9 million due to the absence of provisions that were recorded in FY2013.

Finance costs increased by 56.1% from US$50.6 million to US$78.9 million due to additional interest expenses as a result of the consolidation of senior notes issued by Copeinca and the term loan drawn to finance the acquisition of Copeinca.

EBITDA increased by 14.9% from US$236.7 million to US$272.0 million, while EBITDA margin increased slightly from 42.6% to 43.1%. Higher contribution and cost savings derived from the enlarged Peruvian fishmeal operations more than offset the impact of the termination and non-renewal of the LSAs under the Contract Supply Business.

Net profit decreased by 18.7% from US$78.4 million to US$63.7 million, due primarily to higher finance costs and income tax expenses.

Performance review for 1QFY2015 compared to 1QFY2014

Group revenue decreased by 14.7% from US$145.2 million to US$123.9 million.

Revenue from the Peruvian fishmeal operations, which accounted for 52.5% of total revenue, decreased by 11.9% from US$73.8 million to US$65.0 million. Higher fishmeal and fish oil selling prices partially compensated for the drop in sales volume.

Revenue from the China Fishery Fleet operations, which accounted for 10.0% of total revenue, decreased marginally by 0.8% from US$12.5 million to US$12.4 million.

Revenue from the Contract Supply Business, which accounted for 37.5% of total revenue, decreased by 21.1% from US$58.9 million to US$46.5 million, due primarily to the termination and non-renewal of the LSAs.

Cost of sales and vessel operating costs decreased by 15.1% from US$100.9 million to US$85.7 million in line with lower revenue.

Gross profit margin increased from 30.5% to 30.9% despite a 13.7% decrease in gross profit. This was attributable mainly to higher average selling prices of fishmeal and fish oil.

Other operating income decreased by 81.8% from US$6.4 million to US$1.2 million, due primarily to the absence of sales of consumables and scrap materials recorded in 1QFY2014.

Selling expenses decreased by 23.4% from US$6.0 million to US$4.6 million, due primarily to lower sales volume.

Other operating expenses decreased by 83.8% from US$5.9 million to US$1.0 million, due to the absence of a one-off provision in 1QFY2014 (for loss of vessel).

EBITDA decreased by 27.1% from US$63.7 million to US$46.4 million, reflecting the impact of the reduced revenue, partly compensated for by reduced operating and support costs.

Finance costs increased by 5.3% from US$20.0 million to US$21.1 million, due primarily to higher interest cost from higher inventory financing.

The Group recorded an income tax benefit of US$6.6 million associated with the Peruvian fishmeal operations. This compares with an income tax benefit of US$3.4 million in 1QFY2014.

Net profit decreased by 13.7% from US$15.7 million to US$13.5 million.

The discussion on the business and financial prospects of the Group as set out herein may contain forward-looking statements, and are subject to certain risks. Please refer to the Section entitled “Cautionary Note on Forward-Looking Statements” of this Offer Information Statement for further details.

The Group is focused on three core strategies for future growth. First, the Group will maintain its high exposure to the aquaculture supply chain through our Fishery and Fish Supply Division, leveraging the strong and growing demand for fishmeal and fish oil. This business will continue to be the major contributor to the Group’s revenue. The Group is in an advantageous position as one of the world’s leading and largest producers and exporters of fishmeal and fish oil, as the demand for fishmeal and fish oil continues to grow in the coming years and decades.

Second, the Group will continue to extract value from synergies and efficiencies generated by the integration of the Peruvian fishmeal operations. The Group is committed to becoming the most efficient fishmeal and fish oil producer in Peru.

Third, the Group will be disciplined in its capital and cash flow management. This involves a focus on operating cash generation, reduction in borrowings and finance costs, shortening the working capital cycle and reduction in capital expenditure.

At the end of November 2014, Peru’s marine institute, Imarpe, completed its second assessment of the Peruvian Anchovy fishery for the fishing season scheduled to run from November 2014 until January 2015. The institute found a 94% density of juvenile fish (less than six months old) in the north/centre region which led the institute to recommend that the second fishing season not be opened. These conditions were assessed to be the result of cyclical warming of the waters which caused the Anchovy stocks to temporarily disperse. On 22 December 2014, Imarpe submitted a further report to the Peruvian Ministry of Production and, as a consequence, the Ministry announced that it would maintain closure of the north-centre fishery until the environmental conditions return to normal and the Anchovy stocks recover. Imarpe noted the progressive normalisation of the environmental conditions and the steady recovery of the biological condition of the Anchovies.

Industry in general believes that the high percentage of juveniles is a very positive indicator for the major April to July fishing season of 2015, which generally represents about 60% of the annual catch. The Peruvian Anchovy resource has shown itself to be able to recover quickly from these cyclical events, as it is well-managed under the effective fishery management policy adopted by the Peruvian Government.

On 24 March 2015, following a report from Imarpe of an improved biomass, the Ministry of Production announced that the fishing season of the southern region would commence on 26 March 2015 and continue until 31 July 2015, with a total allowable catch of 375,000 metric tons, representing a substantial increase on the 234,300 metric tons for 2014. It was announced that the fishing season for the north-centre region will commence on 10 April 2015 but the total allowable catch has not yet been announced.

Further, as from 26 March 2015, the coastal area prohibited from industrial fishing in the southern region has been reduced from seven miles from the coast to five miles. In the north-centre region, as a result of a recent judicial ruling, the coastal area prohibited from industrial fishing has also been reduced from ten miles from the coast to five miles. However this judicial ruling may be subject to appeal from the Peruvian authorities. The reduction in the prohibited areas will facilitate our anchovy fishing operation.

The major fishing season for the north and central regions for 2015 will commence on 10 April 2015. The total allowable catch will be set when IMARPE completes its assessment.

APPENDIX I

PROCEDURES FOR ACCEPTANCE, PAYMENT, AND EXCESS APPLICATION BY ELIGIBLE DEPOSITORS

1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 Eligible Depositors are entitled to receive this Offer Information Statement and the ARE which forms part of this Offer Information Statement. For the purposes of this Offer Information Statement, any reference to an application by way of an Electronic Application without reference to such an Electronic Application being made through an ATM shall, where the Eligible Depositor is a Depository Agent, be taken to include an application made via the SGX-SSH Service.
- 1.2 The provisional allotments of Rights Shares are governed by the terms and conditions of this Offer Information Statement, (if applicable) the Articles of the Company and the instructions in the ARE.

The number of Rights Shares provisionally allotted to each Eligible Depositor is indicated in the ARE (fractional entitlements (if any) having been disregarded). The Securities Accounts of Eligible Depositors have been credited by CDP with the provisional allotments of Rights Shares as indicated in the ARE. Eligible Depositors may accept their provisional allotments of Rights Shares in full or in part and are eligible to apply for Rights Shares in excess of their provisional allotments under the Rights Issue. Full instructions for the acceptance of and payment for the provisional allotments of Rights Shares and payment for Excess Rights Shares are set out in this Offer Information Statement as well as the ARE.

- 1.3 If an Eligible Depositor wishes to accept his provisional allotment of Rights Shares specified in the ARE, in full or in part, and (if applicable) apply for Excess Rights Shares, he may do so by way of an Electronic Application or by completing and signing the relevant sections of the ARE. An Eligible Depositor should ensure that the ARE is accurately completed and signed, failing which the acceptance of the provisional allotment of Rights Shares and (if applicable) application for Excess Rights Shares may be rejected.

For and on behalf of the Company, CDP reserves the right to refuse to accept any acceptance(s) and (if applicable) excess application(s) if the ARE is not accurately completed and signed, or if the "Free Balance" of your Securities Account is not credited with, or is credited with less than the relevant number of Rights Shares accepted as at the last time and date for acceptance, application and payment or for any other reason(s) whatsoever the acceptance and (if applicable) the excess application is in breach of the terms of the ARE or the Offer Information Statement, at CDP's absolute discretion, and to return all monies received to the person(s) entitled thereto BY CREDITING HIS/THEIR BANK ACCOUNT(S) WITH THE RELEVANT PARTICIPATING BANK (if he/they accept and (if applicable) apply through an ATM of a Participating Bank) or BY MEANS OF A CROSSED CHEQUE SENT BY ORDINARY POST, as the case may be, (in each case) AT HIS/THEIR OWN RISK or in such other manner as he/they may have agreed with CDP for the payment of any cash distributions without interest or any share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom (if he/they accept and (if applicable) apply through CDP).

AN ELIGIBLE DEPOSITOR MAY ACCEPT HIS PROVISIONAL ALLOTMENT OF RIGHTS SHARES SPECIFIED IN HIS ARE AND (IF APPLICABLE) APPLY FOR EXCESS RIGHTS SHARES EITHER THROUGH CDP AND/OR BY WAY OF AN ELECTRONIC APPLICATION AS DESCRIBED BELOW. WHERE AN ELIGIBLE DEPOSITOR IS A DEPOSITORY AGENT, IT MAY MAKE ITS ACCEPTANCE AND EXCESS APPLICATION (IF APPLICABLE) VIA THE SGX-SSH SERVICE.

Where an acceptance, application and/or payment does not conform strictly to the terms set out under this Offer Information Statement, the ARE, the ARS, the PAL and/or any other application form for the Right Shares and/or Excess Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue or which does not comply with the instructions for an Electronic Application, or in the case of an application by the ARE, the ARS, the PAL, and/or any other application form for the Rights Shares and/or Excess Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue which is illegible, incomplete, incorrectly completed, unsigned, signed but not in its originality or which is accompanied by an improperly or insufficiently drawn remittance, or where the "Free Balance" of the Eligible Depositor's Securities Account is not credited with or is credited with less than the relevant number of Rights Shares, the Company and/or CDP may, at their/its absolute discretion, reject or treat as invalid any such acceptance, application, payment and/or other process of remittances at any time after receipt in such manner as they/it may deem fit.

The Company and CDP shall be entitled to process each application submitted for the acceptance of the provisional allotment of Rights Shares, and where applicable, application for Excess Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue and the payment received in relation thereto, pursuant to such application, by an Eligible Shareholder, on its own, without regard to any other application and payment that may be submitted by the same Eligible Shareholder. For the avoidance of doubt, insufficient payment for an application may render the application invalid; evidence of payment (or overpayment) in other applications shall not constitute, or be construed as, an affirmation of such invalid application and (if applicable) application for Excess Rights Shares.

SRS investors who had purchased Shares using their SRS Accounts and who wish to accept their provisional allotments of Rights Shares and (if applicable) apply for Excess Rights Shares can only do so, subject to applicable SRS rules and regulations, using monies standing to the credit of their respective SRS Accounts. Such investors who wish to accept their provisional allotments of Rights Shares and (if applicable) apply for Excess Rights Shares using SRS monies, must instruct the relevant approved banks in which they hold their SRS Accounts to accept their provisional allotments of Rights Shares and (if applicable) apply for Excess Rights Shares on their behalf. Such investors who have insufficient funds in their SRS Accounts may, subject to the SRS contribution cap, deposit cash into their SRS Accounts with their approved banks before instructing their respective approved banks to accept their provisional allotments of Rights Shares and (if applicable) apply for Excess Rights Shares. SRS investors are advised to provide their respective approved banks in which they hold their SRS Accounts with the appropriate instructions no later than the deadlines set by their respective approved banks in order for their respective approved banks to make the relevant acceptance and (if applicable) application on their behalf by the Closing Date. Any acceptance and (if applicable) application made directly through CDP, Electronic Applications at ATMs of the Participating Banks, the Share Transfer Agent and/or the Company will be rejected. For the avoidance of doubt, monies in SRS Accounts may not be used for the purchase of the provisional allotments of the Rights Shares directly from the market.

- 1.4 Unless expressly provided to the contrary in this Offer Information Statement, the ARE and/or the ARS with respect to enforcement against Eligible Depositors or their renounees, a person who is not a party to any contracts made pursuant to this Offer Information Statement, the ARE or the ARS has no rights under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act, Chapter 53B, of Singapore to enforce any term of such contracts. Notwithstanding any term contained herein, the consent of any third party is not required for any subsequent agreement by the parties hereto to amend or vary (including any release or compromise of any liability) or terminate such contracts. Where third parties are conferred rights under such contracts, those rights are not assignable or transferable.

2. MODE OF ACCEPTANCE AND APPLICATION

2.1 Acceptance/Application by way of Electronic Application through an ATM of a Participating Bank

Please refer to Appendix III of this Offer Information Statement for the additional terms and conditions for Electronic Applications through an ATM of a Participating Bank.

IF AN ELIGIBLE DEPOSITOR MAKES AN ELECTRONIC APPLICATION THROUGH AN ATM OF A PARTICIPATING BANK, HE WOULD HAVE IRREVOCABLY AUTHORISED THE PARTICIPATING BANK TO DEDUCT THE FULL AMOUNT PAYABLE FROM HIS BANK ACCOUNT WITH SUCH PARTICIPATING BANK IN RESPECT OF SUCH APPLICATION. IN THE CASE OF AN ELIGIBLE DEPOSITOR WHO HAS ACCEPTED THE RIGHTS SHARES PROVISIONALLY ALLOTTED TO HIM BY WAY OF THE ARE AND/OR THE ARS AND (IF APPLICABLE) HAS APPLIED FOR EXCESS RIGHTS SHARES BY WAY OF THE ARE AND ALSO BY WAY OF AN ELECTRONIC APPLICATION THROUGH AN ATM OF A PARTICIPATING BANK, THE COMPANY AND/OR CDP SHALL BE AUTHORISED AND ENTITLED TO ACCEPT HIS INSTRUCTIONS IN WHICHEVER MODE OR COMBINATION AS THE COMPANY AND/OR CDP MAY, IN THEIR ABSOLUTE DISCRETION, DEEM FIT.

Depository Agents may accept the provisional allotment of Rights Shares and (if applicable) apply for Excess Rights Shares through the SGX-SSH service provided by CDP as listed in Schedule 3 of the Terms and Conditions for User Services for Depository Agents. CDP has been authorised by the Company to receive acceptances on its behalf. Such acceptances and (if applicable) applications will be deemed irrevocable and are subject to each of the terms and conditions contained in the ARE and this Offer Information Statement as if the ARE had been completed and submitted to CDP.

2.4 Insufficient Payment

If no remittance is attached or the remittance attached is less than the full amount payable for the provisional allotment of Rights Shares accepted by the Eligible Depositor and (if applicable) the Excess Rights Shares applied for by the Eligible Depositor; the attention of the Eligible Depositor is drawn to paragraphs 1.3 and 5.2 of this Appendix I which set out the circumstances and manner in which the Company and CDP shall be authorised and entitled to determine and appropriate all amounts received by CDP on the Company's behalf whether under the ARE, the ARS or any other application form for Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue.

2.5 Acceptance of Part of Provisional Allotments of Rights Shares and Trading of Provisional Allotments of Rights Shares

An Eligible Depositor may choose to accept his provisional allotment of Rights Shares specified in the ARE in full or in part. If an Eligible Depositor wishes to accept part of his provisional allotment of Rights Shares and trade the balance of his provisional allotment of Rights Shares on the SGX-ST, he should:

- (a) complete and sign the ARE for the number of Rights Shares provisionally allotted which he wishes to accept and submit the duly completed and original signed ARE together with payment in the prescribed manner as described in paragraph 2.2 above to CDP; or

Such Eligible Depositors may start trading in their provisional allotments of Rights Shares as soon as dealings therein commence on the SGX-ST. Eligible Depositors who wish to trade in lot sizes other than mentioned above may do so in the Unit Share Market of the SGX-ST during the provisional allotment trading period.

2.6 Purchasers of Provisional Allotments of Rights Shares

The ARE need not be forwarded to the purchasers of the provisional allotments of Rights Shares (“Purchasers”) as arrangements will be made by CDP for separate ARS to be issued to the Purchasers. Purchasers should note that CDP will, for and on behalf of the Company, send the ARS, accompanied by this Offer Information Statement and other accompanying documents, BY ORDINARY POST AND AT THE PURCHASERS’ OWN RISK, to their respective Singapore addresses as maintained in the records of CDP. Purchasers should ensure that their ARSs are accurately completed and signed, failing which their acceptances of the provisional allotments of Rights Shares may be rejected. Purchasers who do not receive the ARS, accompanied by this Offer Information Statement and other accompanying documents, may obtain the same from CDP or the Share Transfer Agent, for the period up to 5.00 p.m. on 22 April 2015 (or such other time(s) and/or date(s) as may be announced from time to time by or on behalf of the Company).

This Offer Information Statement and its accompanying documents will not be despatched to Purchasers whose registered addresses with CDP are not in Singapore (“Foreign Purchasers”). Foreign Purchasers who wish to accept the provisional allotments of Rights Shares credited to their Securities Accounts should make the necessary arrangements with their Depository Agents or stockbrokers in Singapore. Purchases of Rights are also advised to note the offering, selling and transfer restrictions set forth in the section entitled “Eligibility of Shareholders to Participate in the Rights Issue” of this Offer Information Statement.

PURCHASERS SHOULD INFORM THEIR FINANCE COMPANIES OR DEPOSITORY AGENTS IF THEIR PURCHASES OF SUCH PROVISIONAL ALLOTMENTS OF RIGHTS SHARES ARE SETTLED THROUGH THESE INTERMEDIARIES. IN SUCH INSTANCES, IF THE PURCHASERS WISH TO ACCEPT THE RIGHTS SHARES REPRESENTED BY THE PROVISIONAL ALLOTMENTS OF RIGHTS SHARES PURCHASED, THEY WILL NEED TO GO THROUGH THESE INTERMEDIARIES, WHO WILL THEN ACCEPT THE PROVISIONAL ALLOTMENTS OF RIGHTS SHARES ON THEIR BEHALF.

2.7 Renunciation of Provisional Allotments of Rights Shares

Eligible Depositors who wish to renounce in full or in part their provisional allotments of Rights Shares in favour of a third party should complete the relevant transfer forms with CDP (including any accompanying documents as may be required by CDP) for the number of provisional allotments of Rights Shares which they wish to renounce. Such renunciation shall be made in accordance with the “Terms and Conditions for Operations of Securities Accounts with CDP”, as the same may be amended from time to time, copies of which are available from CDP. As CDP requires at least 3 Market Days to effect such renunciation, Eligible Depositors who wish to renounce are advised to do so early to allow sufficient time for CDP to send the ARS and other accompanying documents, for and on behalf of the Company, to the renounee by ordinary post and AT HIS OWN RISK, to his Singapore address as maintained in the records of CDP and for the renounee to accept his provisional allotments of Rights Shares. The last time and date for acceptance of the provisional allotments of Rights Shares and payment for the Rights Shares by the renounee is 5.00 p.m. on 22 April 2015 (or such other time(s) and/or date(s) as may be announced from time to time by or on behalf of the Company).

The determination and appropriation by the Company and CDP shall be conclusive and binding;

- (b) if the Eligible Depositor has attached a remittance to the ARE, the ARS and/or any other application form for Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue made through CDP, he would have irrevocably authorised the Company and CDP, in applying the amounts payable for his acceptance of the Rights Shares and (if applicable) his application for Excess Rights Shares, to apply the amount of the remittance which is attached to the ARE, the ARS and/or any other application form for Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue made through CDP; and
- (c) in the event that the Eligible Depositor accepts the Rights Shares provisionally allotted to him by way of the ARE and/or the ARS and/or has applied for Excess Rights Shares by way of the ARE and also by way of Electronic Application(s), the Company and/or CDP shall be authorised and entitled to accept his instructions in whichever mode or combination as the Company and/or CDP may, in their/its absolute discretion, deem fit. Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing, in such a case, the Eligible Depositor shall be deemed as having irrevocably authorised the Company and/or CDP to apply all amounts received whether under the ARE, the ARS and/or any other acceptance and/or application for Excess Rights Shares (including Electronic Application(s)) in whichever mode or combination as the Company and/or CDP may, in their/its absolute discretion, deem fit.

5.3 Availability of Excess Rights Shares

The Excess Rights Shares available for application are subject to the terms and conditions contained in the ARE, this Offer Information Statement and (if applicable) the Articles of the Company. Applications for Excess Rights Shares will, at the Directors' absolute discretion, be satisfied from such Rights Shares as are not validly taken up by the Eligible Depositors, the original allottee(s) or their respective renounee(s) or the Purchaser(s) of the provisional allotments of Rights Shares together with the aggregated fractional entitlements to the Rights Shares, any unsold provisional allotment of Rights Shares (if any) of Ineligible Shareholders and any Rights Shares that are otherwise not allotted for whatever reason in accordance with the terms and conditions contained in the ARE and this Offer Information Statement. In the event that applications are received by the Company for more Excess Rights Shares than are available, the Excess Rights Shares available will be allotted in such manner as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, deem fit in the interests of the Company. CDP TAKES NO RESPONSIBILITY FOR ANY DECISION THAT THE DIRECTORS MAY MAKE. In the allotment of Excess Rights Shares, preference will be given to the rounding of odd lots, and Substantial Shareholders and Directors will rank last in priority. The Company reserves the right to reject any application for Excess Rights Shares, in whole or in part, without assigning any reason whatsoever. In the event that the number of Excess Rights Shares allotted to an Eligible Depositor is less than the number of Excess Rights Shares applied for, the Eligible Depositor shall be deemed to have accepted the number of Excess Rights Shares actually allotted to him.

If no Excess Rights Shares are allotted or if the number of Excess Rights Shares allotted is less than that applied for, the amount paid on application or the surplus application monies, as the case may be, will be refunded to such Eligible Depositors, without interest or any share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom, within 14 days after the Closing Date, by crediting their bank accounts with the relevant Participating Bank AT THEIR OWN RISK (if they had applied for Excess Rights Shares by way of an Electronic Application through an ATM of a Participating Bank), the receipt by such banks being a good discharge to the Company and CDP of their obligations, if any, thereunder, or by means of a crossed cheque in Singapore currency drawn on a bank in Singapore and sent BY ORDINARY POST AT THEIR OWN RISK to their mailing address as maintained in the records of CDP or in such other manner as they may have agreed with CDP for the payment of any cash distributions (if they had applied for Excess Rights Shares through CDP).

APPENDIX II

PROCEDURES FOR ACCEPTANCE, SPLITTING, RENUNCIATION, EXCESS APPLICATION AND PAYMENT BY ELIGIBLE SCRIPHOLDERS

Eligible Scripholders are entitled to receive this Offer Information Statement and the PAL which incorporates the following documents, and forms part of this Offer Information Statement:

PAL incorporating:

Form of Acceptance	Form A
Request for Splitting	Form B
Form of Renunciation	Form C
Form of Nomination (with Consolidated Listing Form)	Form D
Excess Rights Shares Application Form	Form E

The provisional allotments of Rights Shares and application for Excess Rights Shares are governed by the terms and conditions of this Offer Information Statement, (if applicable) the Articles of the Company and the instructions contained in the PAL. The number of Rights Shares provisionally allotted to each Eligible Scripholder is indicated in the PAL (fractional entitlements, if any, having been disregarded). Eligible Scripholders may accept their provisional allotments of Rights Shares in whole or in part and are eligible to apply for Rights Shares in excess of their entitlements under the Rights Issue. Full instructions for the acceptance of and payment for the provisional allotments of Rights Shares and the procedures to be adopted should the Eligible Scripholders wish to renounce, transfer or split their provisional allotments are set out in this Offer Information Statement as well as the PAL.

THE FULL AMOUNT PAYABLE FOR THE RELEVANT NUMBER OF RIGHTS SHARES ACCEPTED/APPLIED FOR WILL BE ROUNDED UP TO THE NEAREST WHOLE CENT, IF APPLICABLE.

Where any acceptance, application and/or payment does not conform strictly to the instructions set out under this Offer Information Statement, the ARE, the ARS, the PAL, (if applicable) the Articles of the Company and/or any other application form for Rights Shares and/or Excess Rights Shares, or is illegible, incomplete, incorrectly completed or is accompanied by an improperly or insufficiently drawn remittance, the Company and/or the Share Transfer Agent may, at their absolute discretion, reject or treat as invalid any such application, payment and/or other processes of remittances at any time after receipt in such manner as they may deem fit.

The Company and/or the Share Transfer Agent shall be entitled to process each application submitted for the acceptance of the provisional allotment of Rights Shares and (if applicable) application for Excess Rights Shares and the payment received in relation thereto, pursuant to such application, by an Eligible Scripholder or a renounee, on its own, without regard to any other application and payment that may be submitted by the same Eligible Scripholder or renounee. For the avoidance of doubt, insufficient payment for an application may render the application invalid. Evidence of payment (or overpayment) in other applications shall not constitute, or be construed as, an affirmation of such invalid application submitted for the acceptance of the provisional allotment of Rights Shares and (if applicable) application for Excess Rights Shares.

Eligible Scripholders should note that all dealings in, and transactions of, the provisional allotments of Rights Shares through the SGX-ST will be effected under the book entry (scripless) settlement system. Accordingly, the PALs will not be valid for delivery pursuant to trades done on the SGX-ST.

Unless expressly provided to the contrary in this Offer Information Statement and/or the PAL, a person who is not a party to any contracts made pursuant to this Offer Information Statement and/or the PAL has no rights under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act, Chapter 53B of Singapore, to enforce any term of such contracts. Notwithstanding any term contained herein, the consent of any third party is not required for any subsequent agreement by the parties hereto to amend or vary (including any release or compromise of any liability) or terminate such contracts. Where third parties are conferred rights under such contracts, those rights are not assignable or transferable.

(a) Form of Acceptance (Form A)

Eligible Scripholders who wish to accept all of their provisional allotments of Rights Shares or to accept any part of it and decline the balance, should complete and sign the Form of Acceptance (Form A) for the number of Rights Shares which they wish to accept and forward at the sender's own risk, the PAL in its entirety, duly completed and signed, together with a single remittance for the payment in the prescribed manner to CHINA FISHERY GROUP LIMITED C/O THE SHARE TRANSFER AGENT, B.A.C.S. Eligible Scripholders who wish to accept only part of their provisional allotments of Rights Shares and renounce the balance of their provisional allotments of Rights Shares, or who wish to renounce all or part of their provisional allotments of Rights Shares in favour of more than one person, should first, using the Request for Splitting (Form B), request to have their provisional allotments of Rights Shares under the PAL split into separate PALs ("Split Letters") according to their requirements. The duly completed Form B together with the PAL in its entirety, duly completed and signed should be returned, by post in the self-addressed envelope provided, at the sender's own risk, to CHINA FISHERY GROUP LIMITED C/O THE SHARE TRANSFER AGENT, B.A.C.S. PRIVATE LIMITED, 63 CANTONMENT ROAD, SINGAPORE 089758 so as to reach the Share Transfer Agent not later than 5.00 p.m. on 16 April 2015. Split Letters will then be issued to Eligible Scripholders in accordance with their request. No Split Letters will be issued to Eligible Scripholders if Form B (together with the PAL in its entirety) is received after 5.00 p.m. on 16 April 2015 (or such other time(s) as may be announced from time to time by or on behalf of the Company).

The Split Letters representing the number of Rights Shares which Eligible Scripholders intend to renounce, may be renounced by completing and signing the Form of Renunciation (Form C) before delivery to the renounee. Eligible Scripholders should complete Form A of the Split Letter(s) representing that part of their provisional allotments of Rights Shares they intend to accept, if any, and forward the said Split Letter(s) together with a single remittance for the payment in the prescribed manner to CHINA FISHERY GROUP LIMITED C/O THE SHARE TRANSFER AGENT, B.A.C.S. PRIVATE LIMITED, 63 CANTONMENT ROAD, SINGAPORE 089758 so as to reach the Share Transfer Agent not later than 5.00 p.m. on 16 April 2015 (or such other time(s) as may be announced from time to time by or on behalf of the Company).

Eligible Scripholders who wish to renounce their entire provisional allotments of Rights Shares in favour of one person, or renounce any part of it in favour of one person and decline the balance, should complete Form C for the number of provisional allotments of Rights Shares which they wish to renounce and deliver the PAL in its entirety to the renounees.

(c) Form of Nomination (with Consolidated Listing Form) (Form D)

Each Eligible Scripholder may consolidate the Rights Shares provisionally allotted in the PAL together with those comprised in any PALs and/or Split Letters renounced in his favour by completing and signing Form A (Form of Acceptance) and the Consolidated Listing Form in Form D of the PAL and attaching thereto all the said renounced PALs and/or Split Letters, each duly completed and signed and with the serial number of the Principal PAL (as hereinafter defined) stated on each of them. A renounee who is not an Eligible Scripholder and who wishes to consolidate the provisional allotments of Rights Shares comprised in several renounced PALs and/or Split Letters in one name only or in the name of a joint Securities Account should complete the Consolidated Listing Form in Form D (Form of Nomination) of only one PAL or Split Letter (the "Principal PAL") by entering therein details of the renounced PALs and/or Split Letters and attaching thereto all the said renounced PALs and/or Split Letters, each duly completed and signed, and with the serial number of the Principal PAL stated on each of them. ALL THE RENOUNCED PALs AND SPLIT LETTERS, EACH DULY COMPLETED AND SIGNED, MUST BE ATTACHED TO FORM A OR FORM D (AS THE CASE MAY BE).

(d) Payment

Payment in relation to the PALs must be made in the form of a Cashier's Order or Banker's Draft in Singapore currency drawn on a bank in Singapore and made payable to "CFGL RIGHTS ISSUE ACCOUNT" and crossed "NOT NEGOTIABLE, A/C PAYEE ONLY" with the name and address of the Eligible Scripholder or acceptor clearly written in block letters on the reverse side of the Cashier's Order or Banker's Draft. The completed and signed PAL and remittance should be forwarded, by post in the self-addressed envelope provided at the sender's own risk, to CHINA FISHERY GROUP LIMITED C/O THE SHARE TRANSFER AGENT, B.A.C.S. PRIVATE LIMITED, 63 CANTONMENT ROAD, SINGAPORE 089758 so as to reach the Share Transfer Agent not later than 5.00 p.m. on 22 April 2015. NO OTHER FORM OF PAYMENT (INCLUDING THE USE OF A PERSONAL CHEQUE, POSTAL ORDER OR MONEY ORDER ISSUED BY A POST OFFICE IN SINGAPORE) WILL BE ACCEPTED.

If acceptance and payment in the manner specified in the PAL are not received by 5.00 p.m. on 22 April 2015, the provisional allotments of Rights Shares will be deemed to have been declined and shall forthwith lapse and become void and will cease to be capable of acceptance, and such provisional allotments not so accepted will be used to satisfy excess applications, if any, or disposed of or dealt with in such manner as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, deem fit in the interests of the Company. The Company will return all unsuccessful application monies received in connection therewith by means of a crossed cheque drawn on a bank in Singapore and sent BY ORDINARY POST and at the risk of the Eligible Scripholders or their renounee(s) to their mailing addresses as maintained with the Share Transfer Agent, as the case may be, without interest or share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom within fourteen (14) days after the Closing Date.

(e) Excess Rights Shares Application Form (Form E)

Eligible Scripholders who wish to apply for Excess Rights Shares in addition to those which have been provisionally allotted to them may do so by completing and signing the Excess Rights Shares Application Form (Form E) and forwarding it with a separate remittance for the full amount payable in respect of the Excess Rights Shares applied for in the form and manner set out above, by post in the self-addressed envelope provided at their own risk, to CHINA FISHERY GROUP LIMITED C/O THE SHARE TRANSFER AGENT, B.A.C.S. NO OTHER FORM OF PAYMENT (INCLUDING THE USE OF A PERSONAL CHEQUE, POSTAL ORDER OR MONEY ORDER ISSUED BY A POST OFFICE IN SINGAPORE) WILL BE ACCEPTED.

The Excess Rights Shares available for application are subject to the terms and conditions of this Offer Information Statement, (if applicable) the Articles of the Company and the instructions contained in the PAL (including Form E). Applications for Excess Rights Shares will, at the absolute discretion of the Directors, be satisfied from such Rights Shares as are not validly taken up by the Eligible Shareholders or their respective renouncee(s) or the Purchaser(s) of the provisional allotments of Rights Shares together with the aggregated fractional entitlements to the Rights Shares, the unsold provisional allotments of Rights Shares (if any) of Ineligible Shareholders and any Rights Shares that are otherwise not allotted for whatever reason in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Offer Information Statement, (if applicable) the Articles of the Company and the instructions contained in the PAL (including Form E) and/or any other application form for the Rights Shares. In the event that applications are received by the Company for more Excess Rights Shares than are available, the Excess Rights Shares available will be allotted in such manner as the Directors may, in their absolute discretion, deem fit in the interests of the Company. In the allotment of Excess Rights Shares, preference will be given to the rounding of odd lots, and Directors and Substantial Shareholders who have control or influence over the Company in connection with the day-to-day affairs of the Company or the terms of the Rights Issue, or have representation (direct or through a nominee) on the Board will rank last in priority for the rounding of odd lots and allotment of Excess Rights Shares. The Company reserves the right to reject any application for Excess Rights Shares, in whole or in part, without assigning any reason whatsoever.

In the event that the number of Excess Rights Shares allotted to an applicant is less than the number of Excess Rights Shares applied for, such applicant shall be deemed to have accepted the number of Excess Rights Shares actually allotted to him.

If no Excess Rights Shares are allotted to Eligible Scripholders or if the number of Excess Rights Shares allotted to them is less than that applied for, it is expected that the amount paid on application or the surplus application monies, as the case may be, will be refunded to them by the Company without interest or any share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom within 14 days after the Closing Date, by means of a crossed cheque drawn on a bank in Singapore and sent BY ORDINARY POST at their own risk to their mailing addresses as maintained with the Share Transfer Agent.

(f) General

No acknowledgements or receipts will be issued in respect of any acceptances, remittances or applications.

Eligible Scripholders who are in doubt as to the action they should take should consult their stockbroker, bank manager, solicitor, accountant or other professional adviser immediately.

Upon the listing and quotation on the Main Board of the SGX-ST, any trading of the Rights Shares on the SGX-ST will be via the book-entry (scripless) settlement system. All dealings in and transactions (including transfers) of the Rights Shares, effected through the SGX-ST and/or CDP shall be made in accordance with CDP's "Terms and Conditions for Operation of Securities Accounts with The Central Depository (Pte) Limited" and "Terms and Conditions for The Central Depository (Pte) Limited to act as Depository for the Rights Shares" as the same may be amended from time to time, copies of which are available from CDP.

To facilitate scripless trading, Eligible Scripholders and their renounees who wish to accept the Rights Shares provisionally allotted to them and (if applicable) apply for Excess Rights Shares and who wish to trade the Rights Shares issued to them on the SGX-ST under the book-entry (scripless) settlement system should open and maintain Securities Accounts with CDP in their own names (if they do not already maintain such Securities Accounts) before accepting any Rights Shares or applying for any Excess Rights Shares in order for the number of Rights Shares and, if applicable, the Excess Rights Shares that may be allotted and issued to them to be credited by CDP to their Securities Accounts. Eligible Scripholders and their renounees who wish to accept and/or apply for the Excess Rights Shares must fill in their Securities Account numbers and/or National Registration Identity Card ("NRIC")/passport numbers (for individuals) or registration numbers (for corporations) in the relevant forms comprised in the PAL. Eligible Scripholders and their renounees who fail to do so or whose particulars are incorrect or invalid or whose particulars as provided differ from those particulars in their Securities Accounts maintained with CDP will be issued physical share certificates in their own names for the Rights Shares allotted to them and if applicable, the Excess Rights Shares allotted to them. Such physical share certificates, if issued, will be forwarded to such person(s) entitled thereto by ordinary post AT THEIR OWN RISK. Physical share certificates will not be valid for delivery pursuant to trades done on the SGX-ST under the book entry (scripless) settlement system although they will continue to be prima facie evidence of legal title.

If the Eligible Scripholders' addresses stated in the PALs are different from their addresses registered with CDP, they must inform CDP of their updated addresses promptly, failing which the notification letters on successful allotments will be sent to their addresses last registered with CDP. A holder of physical share certificate(s) or an Eligible Scripholder who has not deposited his share certificate(s) with CDP but who wishes to trade on the SGX-ST, must deposit with CDP his respective certificate(s), together with the duly executed instrument(s) of transfer in favour of CDP, and have his Securities Account credited with the number of Rights Shares or existing Shares, as the case may be, before he can effect the desired trade.

THE LAST TIME AND DATE FOR ACCEPTANCES OF AND PAYMENT FOR RIGHTS SHARES AND (IF APPLICABLE) APPLICATIONS AND PAYMENTS FOR EXCESS RIGHTS SHARES IS 5.00 P.M. ON 22 APRIL 2015 (OR SUCH OTHER TIME(S) AS MAY BE ANNOUNCED FROM TIME TO TIME BY OR ON BEHALF OF THE COMPANY).

(g) Personal Data Privacy

By completing and delivering the PAL, an Eligible Scripholder or a renounee (i) consents to the collection, use and disclosure of his personal data by the Relevant Persons for the Purposes, (ii) warrants that where he discloses the personal data of another person, such disclosure is in compliance with applicable law, and (iii) agrees that he will indemnify the Relevant Persons in respect of any penalties, liabilities, claims, demands, losses and damages as a result of his breach of warranty.

Such investors are advised to provide their respective finance companies or Depository Agents, as the case may be, with the appropriate instructions no later than the deadlines set by them in order for such intermediaries to make the relevant acceptance and (if applicable) application on their behalf by the Closing Date of the Rights Issue. His application will not be successfully completed and cannot be recorded as a completed transaction in the ATM unless he presses the “Enter” or “OK” or “Confirm” or “Yes” key. By doing so, the Applicant shall be treated as signifying his confirmation of each of the two statements above. In respect of statement 1 (b) above, his confirmation, by pressing the “Enter” or “OK” or “Confirm” or “Yes” key, shall signify and shall be treated as his written permission, given in accordance with the relevant laws of Singapore including section 47(2) and the Third Schedule of the Banking Act, Chapter 19 of Singapore, to the disclosure by that Participating Bank of the Relevant Particulars set out in 1(b) above to the Relevant Parties.

In the event that the Company decides to allot any lesser number of Excess Rights Shares or not to allot any number of Excess Rights Shares to the Applicant, the Applicant agrees to accept the decision as final.
- (4) If the Applicant’s Electronic Application is successful, his confirmation (by his action of pressing the “Enter” or “OK” or “Confirm” or “Yes” key on the ATM) of the number of Rights Shares accepted and/or Excess Rights Shares applied for shall signify and shall be treated as his acceptance of the number of Rights Shares accepted and/or Excess Rights Shares applied for that may be allotted to him.
- (5) In the event that the Applicant accepts the Rights Shares both by way of ARE and/or ARS (as the case may be) and by Electronic Application through an ATM of a Participating Bank, the Company and/or CDP shall be authorised and entitled to accept the Applicant’s instructions in whichever mode or a combination thereof as they may, in their absolute discretion, deem fit. In determining the number of Rights Shares which the Applicant has validly given instructions to accept, the Applicant shall be deemed to have irrevocably given instructions to accept the lesser of the number of provisionally allotted Rights Shares which are standing to the credit of the “Free Balance” of his Securities Account as at the Closing Date and the aggregate number of Rights Shares which have been accepted by the Applicant by way of ARE and/or ARS (as the case may be) and by Electronic Application through an ATM, and the Company and/or CDP, in determining the number of Rights Shares which the Applicant has validly given instructions to accept, shall be authorised and entitled to have regard to the aggregate amount of payment received for the acceptance of Rights Shares, whether by way of Banker’s Draft or Cashier’s Order drawn on a bank in Singapore accompanying the ARE and/or ARS or by way of the acceptance through Electronic Application through an ATM of a Participating Bank which the Applicant has authorised or is deemed to have authorised to be applied towards the payment in respect of his acceptance.
- (6) If applicable, in the event that the Applicant applies for Excess Rights Shares both by way of ARE and by Electronic Application through an ATM of a Participating Bank, the Company and/or CDP shall be authorised and entitled to accept the Applicant’s instructions in whichever mode or a combination thereof as they may, in their absolute discretion, deem fit. In determining the number of Excess Rights Shares which the Applicant has validly given instructions for the application of, the Applicant shall be deemed to have irrevocably given instructions to apply for and agreed to accept such number of Excess Rights Shares not exceeding the aggregate number of Excess Rights Shares for which he has applied by way of ARE and by Electronic Application through an ATM of a Participating Bank. The Company and/or CDP, in determining the number of Excess Rights Shares which the Applicant has given valid instructions for the application, shall be authorised and entitled to have regard to the aggregate amount of payment received for the application of the Excess Rights Shares, whether by way of Banker's Draft or Cashier's Order drawn on a bank in Singapore accompanying the ARE or by way of Electronic Application through an ATM of a Participating Bank, which the Applicant has authorised or is deemed to have authorised to be applied towards the payment in respect of his application.

- (7) The Applicant irrevocably requests and authorises the Company to:
- (a) register, or to procure the registration of the Rights Shares and (if applicable) the Excess Rights Shares allotted to the Applicant in the name of CDP for deposit into his Securities Account;
 - (b) return (without interest or any share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom) the acceptance/application monies, should his Electronic Application in respect of the Rights Shares not be accepted and/or Excess Rights Shares applied for not be accepted by the Company for any reason, by automatically crediting the Applicant's bank account with his Participating Bank with the relevant amount within fourteen (14) days after the Closing Date; and
 - (c) return (without interest or any share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom) the balance of the application monies, should his Electronic Application for Excess Rights Shares be accepted in part only, by automatically crediting the Applicant's bank account with his Participating Bank with the relevant amount within fourteen (14) days after the Closing Date.
- (8) BY MAKING AN ELECTRONIC APPLICATION, THE APPLICANT CONFIRMS THAT HE IS NOT ACCEPTING/APPLYING FOR THE RIGHTS SHARES AS NOMINEE OF ANY OTHER PERSON.
- (9) The Applicant irrevocably agrees and acknowledges that his Electronic Application is subject to risks of electrical, electronic, technical and computer-related faults and breakdowns, fires, acts of God, mistakes, losses and theft (in each case whether or not within the control of CDP, the Participating Banks, the Share Transfer Agent, the Company, the Receiving Bank and/or the Manager) and any events whatsoever beyond the control of CDP, the Participating Banks, the Share Transfer Agent, the Company, the Receiving Bank and/or the Manager, and if in any such event, CDP and/or the Participating Banks and/or the Share Transfer Agent and/or the Company and/or the Manager and/or the Receiving Bank do not record or receive the Applicant's Electronic Application by 9.30 p.m. on 22 APRIL 2015 (or such other time(s) and/or date(s) as may be announced from time to time by or on behalf of the Company), or such data or the tape containing such data is lost, corrupted, destroyed or not otherwise accessible, whether wholly or partially for whatever reason, the Applicant shall be deemed not to have made an Electronic Application and the Applicant shall have no claim whatsoever against CDP, the Participating Banks, the Share Transfer Agent, the Company, the Receiving Bank and/or the Manager for any purported acceptance thereof and (if applicable) excess application therefor, or for any compensation, loss or damage in connection therewith or in relation thereto.
- (10) Electronic Applications may only be made at the ATMs of the Participating Banks from Mondays to Saturdays between 7.00 a.m. to 9.30 p.m. (excluding public holidays).

- (11) Electronic Applications shall close at 9.30 p.m. on 22 April 2015 or such other time(s) and/or date(s) as may be announced from time to time by or on behalf of the Company.
- (12) All particulars of the Applicant in the records of his Participating Bank at the time he makes his Electronic Application shall be deemed to be true and correct and the relevant Participating Bank and the Relevant Parties shall be entitled to rely on the accuracy thereof. If there has been any change in the particulars of the Applicant after the time of the making of his Electronic Application, the Applicant shall promptly notify his Participating Bank.
- (13) The Applicant must have sufficient funds in his bank account(s) with his Participating Bank at the time he makes his Electronic Application, failing which his Electronic Application will not be completed. Any Electronic Application made at the ATMs of Participating Banks which does not strictly conform to the instructions set out on the ATM screens of such Participating Banks will be rejected.
- (14) Where an Electronic Application is not accepted, it is expected that the full amount of the acceptance/application monies will be refunded in Singapore dollars (without interest or any share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom) to the Applicant by being automatically credited to the Applicant's account with the relevant Participating Bank within fourteen (14) days after the Closing Date. An Electronic Application may also be accepted in part, in which case the balance amount of acceptance/application monies will be refunded on the same terms.
- (15) In consideration of the Company arranging for the Electronic Application facility through the ATMs of the Participating Banks and agreeing to close the Rights Issue at 9.30 p.m. on 22 April 2015 or such later time or date as the Company may, in its absolute discretion, decide, and by making and completing an Electronic Application, the Applicant agrees that:
- (a) his Electronic Application is irrevocable (whether or not the form and/or content of this Offer Information Statement is modified (as may be determined by the Authority), or it is amended, supplemented, replaced and/or re-lodged with the Authority);
 - (b) his Electronic Application, the acceptance by the Company and the contract resulting therefrom shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Singapore and he irrevocably submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Singapore courts;
 - (c) none of the Company, CDP, the Participating Banks, the Receiving Bank, the Share Transfer Agent nor the Manager shall be liable for any delays, failures or inaccuracies in the recording, storage or in the transmission or delivery of data relating to his Electronic Application to the Company or CDP due to a breakdown or failure of transmission, delivery or communication facilities or any risks referred to in paragraph 9 above or to any cause beyond their respective control;
 - (d) he will not be entitled to exercise any remedy of rescission or misrepresentation at any time after acceptance of the provisionally allotted Rights Shares and (if applicable) his application for Excess Rights Shares;

- (e) in respect of the Rights Shares for which his Electronic Application has been successfully completed and not rejected, acceptance of the Applicant's Electronic Application shall be constituted by written notification by or on behalf of the Company and not otherwise, notwithstanding any payment received by or on behalf of the Company; and
 - (f) unless expressly provided to the contrary in this Offer Information Statement or the Electronic Application, a person who is not a party to any contracts made pursuant to this Offer Information Statement or the Electronic Application has no rights under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act, Chapter 53B of Singapore, to enforce any term of such contracts. Notwithstanding any term contained herein, the consent of any third party is not required for any subsequent agreement by the parties hereto to amend or vary (including any release or compromise of any liability) or terminate such contracts. Where third parties are conferred rights under such contracts, those rights are not assignable or transferable.
- (16) The Applicant should ensure that his personal particulars as recorded by both CDP and the relevant Participating Banks are correct and identical, otherwise, his Electronic Application may be liable to be rejected. The Applicant should promptly inform CDP of any change in his address, failing which the notification letter on successful allotment and other correspondence will be sent to his address last registered with CDP.
- (17) The existence of a trust will not be recognised. Any Electronic Application by an Applicant must be made in his own name and without qualification. The Company will reject any application by any person acting as nominee.
- (18) In the event that the Applicant accepts or subscribes for the provisionally allotted Rights Shares or (if applicable) applies for Excess Rights Shares, as the case may be, by way of ARE and/or ARS or by way of Electronic Application through any ATM of the Participating Banks, the Rights Shares and/or Excess Rights Shares will be allotted in such manner as the Company and/or CDP may, in their absolute discretion, deem fit and the surplus acceptance and (if applicable) application monies, as the case may be, will be refunded, without interest or any share of revenue or other benefit arising therefrom, within fourteen (14) days after the Closing Date by any one or a combination of the following:
- (a) by means of a crossed cheque drawn on a bank in Singapore and sent by ordinary post AT HIS OWN RISK to his mailing address as recorded with CDP or in such other manner as he may have agreed with CDP for the payment of any cash distributions if he accepts and (if applicable) applies through CDP; and/or
 - (b) crediting the Applicant's bank account with the Participating Bank AT HIS OWN RISK if he accepts and (if applicable) applies through an ATM of that Participating Bank, the receipt by such bank being a good discharge to the Company and CDP of their obligations, if any, thereunder.
- (19) The Applicant hereby acknowledges that, in determining the total number of Rights Shares represented by the provisional allotment of Rights Shares which he can validly accept, the Company and/or CDP are entitled and the Applicant hereby authorises the Company and/or CDP to take into consideration:

- (a) the total number of Rights Shares represented by the provisional allotment of Rights Shares which the Applicant has validly accepted, whether under the ARE or any other form of application (including Electronic Application through an ATM) for the Rights Shares and/or Excess Rights Shares;
- (b) the total number of Rights Shares represented by the provisional allotment of Rights Shares standing to the credit of the "Free Balance" of the Applicant's Securities Account which is available for acceptance; and
- (c) the total number of Rights Shares represented by the provisional allotment of Rights Shares which has been disposed of by the Applicant.

The Applicant hereby acknowledges that CDP's and/or the Company's determination shall be conclusive and binding on him.

- (20) The Applicant irrevocably requests and authorises CDP to accept instructions from the Participating Bank through whom the Electronic Application is made in respect of the provisional allotment of Rights Shares accepted by the Applicant and (if applicable) the Excess Rights Shares which the Applicant has applied for.
- (21) With regard to any acceptance, application and/or payment which does not conform strictly to the instructions set out under this Offer Information Statement, the ARE, the ARS, the PAL, (if applicable) the Articles of the Company and/or any other application form for the Right Shares and/or Excess Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue or which does not comply with the instructions for Electronic Application or which is illegible, incomplete, incorrectly completed or which is accompanied by an improperly or insufficiently drawn remittance, or where the "Free Balance" of the Applicant's Securities Account is not credited with, or is credited with less than the relevant number of Rights Shares subscribed as at the Closing Date, the Company and/or CDP may, at their absolute discretion, reject or treat as invalid any such application, payment and/or other processes of remittances at any time after receipt in such manner as they may deem fit.
- (22) The Company and/or CDP shall be entitled to process each application submitted for the acceptance of Rights Shares, and where applicable, application of Excess Rights Shares in relation to the Rights Issue and the payment received in relation thereto, pursuant to such application, by an Eligible Shareholder, on its own, without regard to any other application and payment that may be submitted by the same Eligible Shareholder. For the avoidance of doubt, insufficient payment for an application may render the application invalid; evidence of payment (or overpayment) in other applications shall not constitute, or be construed as, an affirmation of such invalid application submitted for the acceptance of Rights Shares and (if applicable) application for Excess Rights Shares.
