CapBridge Partners Singlife to Launch First Foray into Insurance Distribution to SMEs and Investors

With Singlife as its first insurance partner, CapBridge clients can now access Singlife's customised insurance products, on top of its suite of investment solutions

SINGAPORE, 15 Aug 2025 – CapBridge, a leading digital investment solution provider, a member of FOMO Group, and Singlife, a leading homegrown financial services company, today announce a strategic partnership to offer tailored insurance solutions to CapBridge clients. This marks CapBridge's entry into insurance distribution, with Singlife being the first insurer onboarded to the platform.

This announcement follows CapBridge's recent expansion into insurance advisory through its Exempt Financial Adviser (EFA) activities, under its Capital Markets Services (CMS) license, broadening its suite of financial offerings to include insurance products. With this partnership with Singlife, CapBridge's appointed financial adviser representatives (FARs) can now offer their clients access to Singlife's suite of life and health insurance products, featuring competitive returns and flexible coverage. These solutions are introduced based on a thorough, needs-based assessment in line with regulatory guidelines, to complement the overall financial strategies of CapBridge clients.

"This partnership with Singlife marks a significant milestone in CapBridge's journey to become a one-stop platform for holistic financial services," said Dr. Janet Liu, Chief Executive Officer of CapBridge. "With growing demand from our clients, especially SMEs, for accessible protection and long-term planning, we are proud to offer Singlife's trusted insurance solutions alongside our diverse investment products such as money market funds, digital asset funds, institutional-grade bonds, stocks, and ETFs. Singlife is a natural first partner with its reputation for delivering next-gen, customer-centric insurance solutions which aligns with our commitment to offer comprehensive investment solutions."

The partnership also aligns with Singlife's strategy to make insurance accessible, and to embed insurance into the broader financial ecosystem through meaningful collaborations with leading ecosystem players and digital-native platforms. In 2025, Singlife has established eight partnerships to embed insurance solutions into broader financial and digital ecosystems. The partnership also deepens Singlife's engagement with SMEs, building on its SME Connect initiative, which offers relevant protection for small business owners and their employees.

"SMEs form the backbone of Singapore's economy, and we're excited to work with CapBridge to better serve the needs of their SME clients and investors," said Varun Mittal, Head of Innovation and Ecosystem at Singlife. "This partnering with CapBridge marks another exciting step forward for Singlife in incorporating insurance into investors' broader financial strategies with ease and confidence. CapBridge's trusted integrated investment platform aligns perfectly with Singlife's comprehensive, next-gen insurance solutions. Together, we are offering investors both financial security and long-term wealth creation capabilities, right where businesses and investors are already managing their growth."

The partnership also strengthens Singlife's and FOMO Group's vision of driving a more integrated and seamless financial ecosystem. As Singapore grows as a financial hub attracting global investors, demand for integrated financial solutions rises. By embedding insurance into its digital finance ecosystem, FOMO Group strengthens its ability to deliver end-to-end financial services, spanning payments, investments, and private listings, that meet the evolving needs of clients, while Singlife continues to enhance its proposition of integrating investment and insurance solutions for greater financial security and growth.
