Retirement of Chief Financial Officer

Origin Energy Limited (Origin) today announced that Chief Financial Officer Lawrie Tremaine has advised the Board of his intention to retire.

Mr Tremaine joined Origin as Chief Financial Officer in mid-2017. During his time with Origin, Mr Tremaine has played an important part in the successful repositioning, capital stewardship and growth of the organisation.

Origin CEO Frank Calabria said, "Lawrie has played a critical role at Origin to fulfil our strategy and ambition to lead the energy transition. He has provided key leadership in improving the strength of our balance sheet and capital management framework, and in strategic decisions that have transformed Origin."

Origin Chief Financial Officer Lawrie Tremaine said, "I am honoured to have contributed to Origin's many achievements over the past six years, alongside an exceptional leadership group and Board and supported by an outstanding team. Together we have built a strong foundation to deliver on Origin's ambition to lead the energy transition."

It is expected that Mr Tremaine will retire at the end of July 2024. A process to identify a successor has commenced.
