2 Outlook and Prospects

Overview

- The port industry continues to face volatility arising from geopolitical tensions, particularly in Iran and the surrounding region, evolving trade policies, and security concerns affecting the resumption of services through the Suez Canal, which may adversely affect global trade flows, fuel and freight costs, and overall operating efficiency. Furthermore, a prolonged conflict in Iran could lead to sustained volatility in fuel and logistics costs, adversely affecting HPH Trust's operating expenses and profitability. Management will continue to closely monitor these developments
- Trade policy developments in the US are likely to remain a key source of uncertainty for container shipping patterns. Since February 2026, the US Government has implemented a provisional 10% import surcharge under Section 122. The lack of clarity over the next tariff policy upon the expiry of the surcharge under Section 122 may impact cargo flows and trade dynamics with potential knock-on effects on the outbound volumes handled by HPH Trust
- In the US, consumer sentiment showed a modest rebound in June 2026, rising from May's record low, but remained a year-on-year drop of 19%. Inflation expectation in the US was elevated by the Federal Reserve due to rising energy costs. In Europe, while consumer confidence also recovered moderately in June 2026 compared with that in May but it still recorded a drop of 16% year-on-year. Taken together, the latest consumer sentiment data indicated that while export demand may gradually stabilise, end-market confidence in both the US and Europe remains subdued, which may impact global trade demands

Overview (cont'd)

- As at 30 June 2026, 37% of HPH Trust's debts are on fixed interest rate. HPH Trust's monthly interest expense would increase by approximately HK$3.2 million for every 25 basis points rise in HIBOR. Management is working on refinancing the 1.50% US$500 million guaranteed notes maturing in September 2026 through either guaranteed notes or bank loan at a higher interest rate
- With the continuous efforts in building a low carbon future, HPH Trust is confident to reach the committed target of 30% reduction well ahead of the 2030 timeline. Building on this expectation and HPH Trust's commitment to environmental sustainability, a revised emission target of 45% reduction in emission intensity by 2035 compared with the 2021 level has been set and approved by the Board. Furthermore, HPH Trust is well-positioned to adopt and comply with the SGX's new climate reporting requirements by 2028
