Under current U.S. federal income tax law, in the case of a United States person (as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes), backup withholding may apply to amounts payable at redemption, unless (i) the paying agent or applicable payor has received a properly completed U.S. Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") Form W-9 that establishes an exemption from backup withholding, (ii) the United States person is an exempt recipient (and establishes its exempt status if required by the paying agent or applicable payor) or (iii) the United States person otherwise establishes an exemption. An investor that is a beneficial owner of Notes and that is not a United States person (as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes) generally may establish an exemption from backup withholding by providing to the paying agent or applicable payor a properly completed, applicable IRS Form W-8. No additional amounts will be payable with respect to any backup withholding. Investors should consult their tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of the redemption.
