Important: Individuals resident in Singapore will be exempt from Singapore tax on all foreign-sourced income received in Singapore on or after 1 January 2004, other than income received through a partnership in Singapore. Accordingly, individual investors should generally be exempt from Singapore tax on income distributions received from the Fund (assuming that the Fund's investment income being distributed is not itself Singapore-sourced). It should be noted that income distributions from the Fund may be treated as Singapore-sourced income in the hands of an investor where the distributions constitute gains or profits from a trade or business carried on by the investor in Singapore.

You should also note that the above exemption extends to Singapore resident individuals only and not to corporates or other persons or entities. Corporates or other bodies of persons resident in Singapore will be taxed on the income distributions received from the Fund at the applicable corporate tax rates. The point of taxation may be on receipt in Singapore (for entities receiving the dividends or income distributions as passive income) or upon such income being derived (for entities receiving the dividends or income distributions as income from a trade or business carried on in Singapore). There are certain exemptions available to Singapore-resident persons (excluding individuals) on certain foreign-sourced income received by them, subject to certain conditions being met.
