10. A commentary at the date of the announcement of the significant trends and competitive conditions of the industry in which the group operates and any known factors or events that may affect the group in the next reporting period and the next 12 months.

Although global oil prices have experienced weaknesses recently, the Group continues to observe continuing requirement for its assets and services. The Group operates in shallow water fields which is more defensive and less affected due to lower break-even costs by oil and gas majors as compared to deeper water projects. The Group also has a presence in cabotage and restricted markets thus making it a beneficiary of local expansion. Furthermore, the Group subsea and drilling assets are all deployed in the production phase of the oil and gas value chain which is less exposed to capital expenditure constraints, with demand so far observed to be relatively intact.

Subsea contracts continue to be generally short-term and remain subject to changes in client requirements on short notice. The Group will continue its product and geographical expansion plans with focus on the South East Asian and Middle East markets which enjoys stronger demand. Most of the Group key subsea assets are expected to be gainfully employment in 2015 based on existing contract backlog with tendering activity also appearing to remain stable. Any periodic vessel survey customarily due will be managed to maximize utilization. The Group had also recently chartered-in a number of additional subsea vessels to support existing and construction and support vessel scheduled for delivery in 2016.

The tender rig market is a niche market with around 30 units globally, including those under construction. Located predominantly in South East Asia and West Africa, the demand-supply dynamics of the tender rig market appears to remain favourable with customers continuing to show preference for newer rigs. The Group& tender rig drilling fleet is expected to enter a transition phase with older rigs such as the :MTR-1ø and :MTR-2ø seeking continued employment until the end of their useful lives and the new build rigs :MTR-3ø and :MTR-4ø under construction pursuing long-term contract opportunities. During this time, the Group&s investment in Asia Offshore Drilling, with three high specification jack-up drilling rigs, is expected to continue to perform its drilling contracts in the Middle East through to 2016.

Overall, the Group continues to observe that the long-term fundamentals in the oil and gas industry remain strong and will drive ongoing growth in the segments that the Group operates in. The Group year-on-year earnings growth signifies a proven track record that the Group plans to build further on in 2015. The Group aforesaid three new build orders, presently under construction in China under the Group close supervision, remain scheduled for delivery in 2016 and is expected to add further to the Group potential revenue base when contracted.

To maintain its competitive position, the Group continues to focus on optimizing performance and maximizing cost efficiencies in its business whilst also seeking opportunistic growth in order to maximize shareholder returns. In a period of consolidation in the industry, the Group can also potentially benefit from its low gearing thus giving it room for potential further expansion.
