17LIVE Demonstrates Strong Content Governance Across Livestream Platform

Taiwan, 11 July 2025 – 17LIVE (Taiwan) Limited ("17LIVE TW" or "the Company"), a subsidiary of SGX-listed leading livestreaming platform 17LIVE Group Limited ("the Group"), announced that its proprietary SkyEye Monitoring System ("SkyEye") detected and removed 29,768 content violations across Taiwan in 2024. This underscores the Company's robust digital governance capabilities and ongoing efforts to combat misinformation, inappropriate content, and illegal activity on its platform.

SkyEye combines AI technology with a professional moderation team to maintain round-the-clock monitoring and ensure platform safety. The evolution of SkyEye, from manual reviews to AI-powered real-time moderation, reflects the Company's commitment to both technological innovation and responsible platform management.

The detected violations spanned both live and short-form video content, as well as user profiles. Common examples included smoking, inappropriate language, sexually explicit materials, and other unlawful behaviors. The SkyEye system is also equipped with real-time unauthorized image detection, helping to protect intellectual property and reduce potential legal risks.

In early 2025, 17LIVE also raised its minimum user age to 18, in response to the rising number of cybercrimes targeting minors in Taiwan and growing global scrutiny around children's safety online. This proactive move aligns with global platforms and underscores the Company's endeavour to prevent the misuse of children's images and personal data.

"In today's fast-moving digital landscape, SkyEye is not a short-term initiative — it's a cornerstone of our long-term platform content governance. We are committed to building a safe and responsible space for our creators and communities, in line with rising public expectations and global standards," 17LIVE commented.

As AI-generated content proliferates and online expression becomes increasingly complex, 17LIVE continues to reference international best practices and multinational standards to strengthen its governance framework. The Company is positioning itself as a leading advocate for self-regulation within the livestreaming industry.
