MEDIA RELEASE

26 April 2016

Visionstream awarded five year Telstra Network Integrity and Facilities Management Contract

Visionstream, Australia's leading services provider to the telecommunications industry and a division of Ventia, has been awarded a contract with Telstra to supply maintenance and building services to more than 40,000 exchange and network assets across Australia.

The five year Network Integrity and Facilities Management (NIFM) contract is estimated at $350M. The contract will build on the current 12 year relationship between Telstra and Visionstream, and is a continuing endorsement from Telstra, said Richard Kelleway, CEO Visionstream.

"This contract award reinforces the positive contribution Visionstream has made to Telstra's critical network infrastructure. We are pleased to continue our valued partnership with Telstra through this new agreement," said Kelleway.

The scope of the works includes maintenance of the exchange network, telepower systems and building services such as Fire and HVAC system maintenance across all of Telstra's facilities nation-wide.
