CNMC Goldmine bags three accolades at The Edge Singapore's 2026 Centurion Club Awards

Takes top honours in Basic Materials sector for highest returns to shareholders and highest weighted return on equity over three financial years

SINGAPORE, 17 November 2026 – CNMC Goldmine Holdings Limited ("CNMC" or the "Company") has won two awards in the Basic Materials sector at The Edge Singapore's 2026 Centurion Club Awards, for delivering the highest shareholder returns and highest weighted return on equity over three financial years.

The Centurion Club recognises Singapore-listed companies with market values of between S$100 million and S$999 million as at 31 March 2026. The awards assess eligible companies across measures including three-year returns to shareholders, growth in profit after tax and weighted return on equity.

For the shareholder returns award, The Edge Singapore measures the compounded annual growth rate in returns over three financial years, taking into account share-price appreciation as well as dividends received and reinvested.

For the return-on-equity award, the three financial years are weighted towards more recent performance, with FY2025, FY2024 and FY2023 accounting for 50%, 30% and 20% of the calculation, respectively.

CNMC's financial performance strengthened substantially over those financial years. Revenue increased from US$52.2 million in FY2023 to US$65.2 million in FY2024 before almost doubling to US$128.4 million in FY2025. Earnings rose from US$4.1 million in FY2023 to US$9.8 million in FY2024 and US$42 million in FY2025. The Company's performance for FY2025 was its strongest on record.

The improvement was accompanied by higher dividends to shareholders. CNMC paid dividends totalling 0.9 Singapore cent a share for FY2023 and 1.4 Singapore cents for FY2024. For FY2025, total dividends rose to 5.0 Singapore cents a share, comprising ordinary and special dividends, representing 37% of earnings for the year. In aggregate, dividends declared for the three financial years amounted to 7.3 Singapore cents a share.

Besides being recognised for delivering the highest shareholder returns and highest weighted return on equity over the last three financial years, CNMC also clinched the Centurion Club's inaugural Value Unlock Champions Award.

Launched in partnership with the Singapore Exchange and global professional services Ernst & Young, the Value Unlock Champions Award honours companies that demonstrate excellence in creating and unlocking shareholder value through capital allocation, corporation actions, business transformation, governance, and investor engagement.

Mr Chris Lim, CNMC's CEO, said: "These awards are meaningful because they measure performance over several years rather than a single reporting year. Our focus has been on growing the business profitably, maintaining cost discipline and translating stronger earnings and cash flow into returns for shareholders.

"The improvement in our financial performance over the past three years has enabled us to increase dividends while continuing to invest in the long-term development of our mining assets. We intend to maintain that balance as we pursue the next phase of growth at Sokor."

CNMC operates the Sokor gold field in Malaysia's Kelantan state. The Company diversified into the production of silver, lead and zinc in 2022 and is constructing two underground vertical gold mining shafts at Sokor at an estimated total cost of US$12 million. Scheduled for completion in 2027, the shafts could enable CNMC to access higher-grade ores.
