The local authorities of Greater Manchester have been working closely to promote the city as a global destination for sports, art and culture. This has resulted in an upward trend of tourist visits to Manchester over the last few years. Now with the central government striving to develop the northern area of the country, we believe the tourism sector will be even stronger and the local hospitality industry is set to benefit from it.”

Mr. Choo Chee Onn (“朱峙安”), Executive Chairman and Managing Director of KSH, said, “We are optimistic there is good yield potential from the Hotel, considering that it is being operated by an established international hospitality brand and given its prime location in Manchester. The addition of the Hotel to our expanding hospitality assets portfolio will allow us to further strengthen our recurring income streams for greater business sustainability.”

Mr Ong Pang Aik (“王邦益”), Lian Beng’s Executive Chairman and Managing Director, commented, “We are happy to join forces with familiar partners again in our venture into the UK property market which offers many opportunities.
