1H 2026 Financial Results

Strong Financial Performance with Growth Across All Key Financial Metrics

- 1H 2026 gross revenue and net property income increased by 5.8% and 6.4% y-o-y, respectively. This was driven by the commencement of new leases, built-in rental escalations in existing leases, and the contribution from Dover Marketplace and Wallingford Fair Shopping Center, which were acquired in August 2025 and January 2026, respectively
- Finance costs were higher due to additional borrowings taken to fund these acquisitions, partially offset by lower interest rates on the floating rate loans
- Overall, 1H 2026 distributable income and distribution per unit were higher by 5.8% and 3.4% y-o-y, respectively.

Retail Sales Increased 6.3% Year-over-year

U.S. Total Retail Sales[1]
(Monthly % change y-o-y)

U.S. Grocery Stores[1]
(Monthly % change y-o-y)

- U.S. retail sales rebounded strongly in September 2026, rising 0.8% month-on-month, following an upwardly revised 1.3% increase in August. Consumer spending has remained resilient despite declining inflation-adjusted incomes over the past six months amid persistent inflationary pressures[2]
- Higher gasoline prices accounted for a significant portion of September's retail sales growth. Nevertheless, spending momentum extended beyond fuel, with online retailers, restaurants and grocery stores among the categories recording increases. Excluding gasoline stations and motor vehicles, sales rose across eight of the remaining 13 retail categories, indicating that consumer demand remained broad-based despite ongoing cost-of-living pressures[2]

U.S. Market Update

Strip Centers Lead Foot Traffic Growth Among Retail Property Types

Foot Traffic by Retail Property Type
(Indexed to 2019)

Strip centers have consistently outperformed all other retail property formats in foot traffic since the pandemic, experiencing smaller declines, recovering more quickly, and ending 2025 with foot traffic 4% above 2019 levels. While a 4% increase over six years is solid rather than exceptional, it stands well ahead of every other retail format. A-malls, the second-best performer, remained nearly 3% below their pre-pandemic foot traffic levels in 2025.

U.S. Market Update

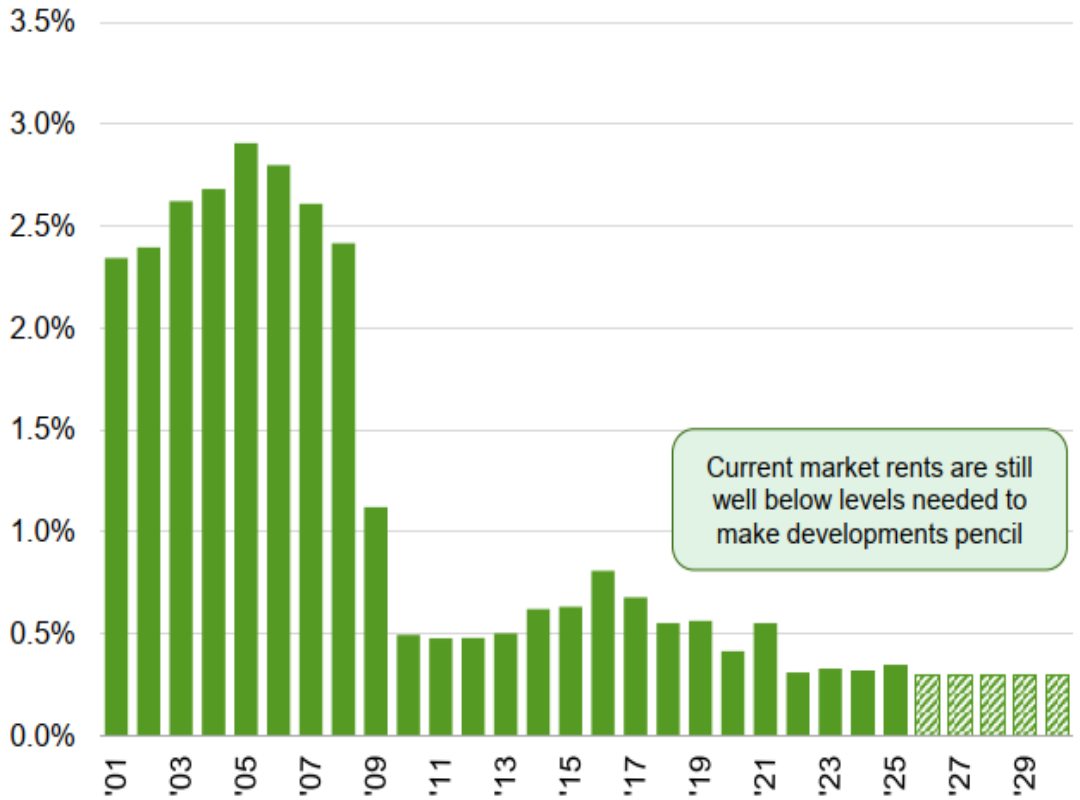

New Supply to Remain Muted Despite Resilient Demand

Limited new development, coupled with robust demand for retail space, continues to underpin healthy retail property fundamentals. Although construction activity varies across markets, even the most active markets are projected to record annual inventory growth of less than 1% over the next five years, reflecting a constrained supply pipeline.

The Storefront Advantage in a Digital World

Food and Value Retailers Continue to Headline Openings

Restaurants, discount and grocery lead 2026 openings. Starbucks is adding 175 locations, with Qdoba, Joe & the Juice and Raising Cane's each contributing around 100. On the discount side, Dollar Tree is opening 400 stores and Five Below 150, both riding the consumer shift toward value

Supply Constraints Continue to Support Occupancy

With new supply remaining well below historical norms, the market has been able to absorb the effects of negative net absorption without a significant increase in vacancy. A similar pattern emerged in 2025, when a weak start to the year gradually gave way to tighter market conditions as limited new deliveries kept supply constrained

Demand for existing space remains robust. Approximately 36% of new leases signed in Q1 were executed within five months of the space becoming available, highlighting tenants' willingness to act quickly when high-quality inventory enters the market. For landlords, this rapid pace of re-leasing reinforces pricing power and helps keep effective vacancy well below the headline rate
