Outlook

Industry outlook

SINGAPORE

- Demand in Singapore's housing market expected to be resilient given the genuine demand among local 1st-time buyers and HDB upgraders; amidst limited new launches in 2022.
- Prices likely to be sustained by economic growth, the current low unsold inventory and limited new supply, but may be moderated by rising interest rates and macroeconomic headwinds.
- Rents for CBD Grade A offices continued to rise
 - Up 2.7% in 2Q 2022 to S$10.74 psf per month from previous quarter
 - Just 0.6% below the pre-pandemic peak of S$10.81 in Q4 2019
- Office rents are expected to remain stable due to limited new supply despite geopolitical and economic uncertainties.

CHINA

- Resolving to ensure the property sector's stable and healthy development at national level, but overall demand remained weak in most cities.
- Pace of recovery hindered by continual start-stop lockdowns in various cities.

MALAYSIA

- Potential for the residential property market to regain momentum following the removal of more pandemic induced restrictions, full reopening of borders and recovery in labour market.
- But pace of recovery will be affected by elevated prices of building materials, inflation, weakening of the Malaysia Ringgit and labour cost.
