ANNEX: Responses to Shareholders' Questions

All capitalised terms which are not defined herein shall unless the context otherwise requires have the same meanings as ascribed to them in the Company's circular to Shareholders dated 8 June 2023 (the "Circular").

1. Besides Brazil, has Management considered similar JV structures in other key markets?

Company's response:

The Company has similar JV structures in other key markets, where the Company generally holds more than 15% and the local partner(s) own the remaining shares. In some JVs, where the Company is of the view of greater potential growth in the long term, it holds the majority stake. Details on the Company's corporate structure can be found on page 9 of the 2022 annual report.

2. What is the expected contribution from Brazil with the Proposed Acquisition?

Company's response:

The Company views Brazil as a key strategic market with enormous potential for the long term, given its estimated population of 218.7 million and favourable demographics.¹ With the infrastructure including warehousing, logistics, sales and marketing team, and distribution channels steadily built up over the years, the Company believes that UGHC Brasil will be well positioned to ride on Brazil's economic recovery in time to come.

As the Company is in control of UGHC Brasil's operations and management (including policies and decision making), UGHC Brasil is considered a subsidiary of the Company for accounting purposes and its financials have been consolidated into the Group's financial results since the financial year ended 30 June 2018. The proposed acquisition of the 40.0% stake in UGHC Brasil from the Vendor will ensure greater flexibility for the Company to pursue expansion in business activities and earnings base.

3. Has Management performed due diligence on the Vendor?

Company's response:

The Vendor is a long-term business partner of the Company in Brazil. Therefore, the Company is very familiar with the background, competence, and character of the Vendor.
