Thomson Medical Group Appoints Veteran Healthcare Business Leader Lee Suen Ming to Lead Singapore Operations and Accelerate Growth Plans

The role will focus on deepening Thomson's stronghold in the women's, children's and fertility health space

Singapore, 11th October 2023 – SGX Mainboard-listed healthcare group Thomson Medical Group Limited (“TMG” or the “Group”), announced today that it has appointed veteran healthcare business leader Lee Suen Ming as CEO of Thomson Medical Singapore, effective 1st November.

Mr Lee takes over from Dr Daniel Lee, who joined Thomson Medical Singapore in 2018 as Senior Director for Operations and rose through the ranks to assume the CEO position earlier this year. Dr Lee will remain at Thomson and work alongside incoming CEO Mr Lee until the end of November to ensure a smooth transition.

Mr Lee is a well-recognised name in Singapore's healthcare scene, having held CEO positions at Mount Alvernia Hospital, Gleneagles Hospital, Parkway East Hospital, and most recently, the Dr Soliman Fakeeh Hospital in Saudi Arabia.

Over his illustrious career spanning 30 years, Mr Lee has made a name for himself as a transformational leader in the healthcare industry, drawing from a wealth of experience across strategic business development and operations. As CEO of multiple renowned hospitals, Mr Lee has implemented new integrated and specialist care services, transformed service standards, and brought new levels of sophistication to complex hospital groups.

“We are excited that Suen Ming is joining the Thomson Group at a pivotal point in a growth story that we have kickstarted a year ago. His depth and breadth of experience will help to accelerate our plans to deepen Thomson's reputation in the spaces of women's, children's and fertility health in Singapore. We thank Dr Lee for his dedication to the Group as Suen Ming takes over the reigns to take Thomson to a different level of sophistication,” said Dr Melvin Heng, Group CEO, TMG.

“Thomson has an excellent reputation that is interwoven into the fabric of Singapore's history as the birthplace of so many families. It is an honour to be a part of writing the next chapter of its growth story together with my new colleagues. I look forward to working with doctors, nurses, and staff to raise the Thomson name further in service of our patients,” said Mr Lee Suen Ming, CEO of Thomson Medical Singapore.

“Suen Ming’s track record will bolster our leadership bench strength in Singapore, which we will continue to enhance with more strategic hires going forward. This puts Thomson in a very strong position to tap swiftly into new opportunities and pivot with ease as Thomson grows to become a more sophisticated healthcare player in Singapore,” said Kiat Lim, TMG’s Executive Vice-Chairman.

As CEO of Thomson Medical Singapore, Mr Lee will oversee the 187-bed Thomson Medical Centre and a network of over 30 specialist medical clinics and facilities providing outpatient women and children healthcare services and service offerings in fertility, diagnostic imaging, health screening, gynaecological oncology, specialist dermatology, traditional Chinese medicine and medical aesthetics.

Mr Lee graduated with an engineering degree from the Imperial College of Science, Technology and Medicine in London. He received his Master of Business Administration (MBA) degree in 2007. Besides the healthcare sector, Mr Lee was formerly with DBS Bank and had a strategic investments role at Singapore Power. At the national level, he was a Management Committee member for the Singapore Quality Award to promote Business Excellence; and he now serves as a Co-chair of the Technical Committee for Healthcare and Health Informatics, under the Biomedical and Health Standards Committee of Enterprise Singapore.
