iEdge Singapore Next 50 Indices Quarterly Review – September 2026

- September review follows the listing of the first active ETF benchmarked to the index series

SGX Indices announces today the results of the September 2026 quarterly rebalancing review for the iEdge Singapore Next 50 Indices. The updated index constituents will be effective when trading begins on 28 September 2026.

Representing a universe of companies with a combined market capitalisation of over S$107 billion[1], the index highlights the opportunity set within Singapore's mid-cap segment. With the listing of the CGS Fullgoal Singapore Next 50 Active ETF (SGX: Q50) on 3 September 2026, investors have an additional avenue to participate in this segment of Singapore's stock market.

The details of the companies being added or removed, as well as other changes resulting from this review, are shown below. The next review of the iEdge Singapore Next 50 Indices is scheduled for December 2026.

The iEdge Singapore Next 50 Indices incorporate free-float, market capitalisation and liquidity criteria to identify companies that are both sizeable and tradable. To serve a broader spectrum of investor needs, the indices are available in two variants: one weighted by market capitalisation, and the other by liquidity.

These indices complement existing benchmarks and are designed to raise the visibility and broaden market participation in the next cohort of 50 companies, excluding the 30 largest companies by market capitalisation. For further information, please visit https://www.sgx.com/indices/products/sgn50n
