Banco General

Management Discussion

Third Quarter 2026

General Information

Banco General, S.A. is a corporation established under the laws of Panama. The Bank operates in Panama under a General License issued by the Superintendence of Banks of Panama (SBP), allowing it to conduct banking business with local and foreign clients. The Bank has a network of representative offices in Colombia, El Salvador, Guatemala, and Peru, and conducts banking business in Costa Rica, through its subsidiary, Banco General (Costa Rica), S.A. All references to "we", "us", "our", the "Bank" or "Banco General" denote Banco General, S.A., and its consolidated subsidiaries, unless otherwise indicated or so required by the context.

The following discussion is based on the information contained in the condensed consolidated interim financial statements, as of September 30, 2026. Certain figures (including percentages) in this document have been rounded.

The Bank prepares its consolidated financial statements in compliance with the International Financial Reporting Standards IFRS issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB).

ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Assets

The Bank's gross loan portfolio increased by US$568.6 million or 4.3%, from US$13,161.8 million on September 30, 2025, to US$13,730.4 million, on September 30, 2026. During this period, the Bank's consumer loan portfolio increased by 9.2%, from US$2,448.1 million to US$2,673.8 million; the residential mortgage portfolio decreased by 0.2%, from US$4,658.9 million to US$4,649.9 million; the corporate loan portfolio, increased by 5.2%, from US$5,573.7 million to US$5,862.5 million; and other loans (comprising pledge loans, overdrafts, financial leases, and factoring) increased by 13.1% from US$481.0 million to US$544.1 million. The Bank's local corporate loan portfolio increased by 9.3%, from US$3,866.4 million to US$4,226.9 million, and the Bank's regional corporate loan portfolio decreased by 4.2%, from US$1,707.3 million to US$1,635.5 million. Meanwhile, the Bank's total investment portfolio, primarily made up of investment-grade liquid fixed-income investments, as well as the local and regional corporate fixed-income portfolio, increased by 11.7%, from US$5,696.0 million, to US$6,359.7 million.

Liabilities

The Bank's total deposits increased by US$751.5 million or 5.2%, from US$14,362.2 million on September 30, 2025, to US$15,113.7 million, on September 30, 2026. During this period, time deposits increased by US$263.8 million or 3.9%, from US$6,758.7 million to US$7,022.5 million, representing 46.5% of total deposits, with an average remaining life of 13 months, and 63.6% of them having original maturities greater than one year. Savings accounts increased by US$374.1 million or 7.8%, from US$4,791.8 million to US$5,165.9 million, representing 34.2% of total deposits. Demand deposits increased by US$113.7 million or 4.0%, from US$2,811.6 million to US$2,925.3 million, representing 19.3% of total deposits.

The Bank's total borrowings and placements increased by US$335.5 million or 33.4%, from US$1,004.8 million on September 30, 2025 to US$1,340.3 million on September 30, 2026.

Equity

The Bank's total equity decreased by US$19.0 million or 0.5%, from US$3,579.3 million on September 30, 2025, to US$3,560.3 million on September 30, 2026, primarily reflecting a US$147.8 million increase in retained earnings and a US$177.3 million decrease in capital reserves, mainly due to a decrease in the valuation of the investment portfolio. As of September 30, 2026, the Bank's equity-to-assets ratio was 16.24%.

Liquidity and Funding Sources

The Bank's Assets and Liabilities Committee (ALCO) is responsible for establishing policies relating to the management of the Bank's assets and liabilities. These policies aim to maintain interest rate, market, maturity, liquidity, and foreign exchange exposures within the Bank's approved limits while maximizing the return on shareholders' equity.

The Bank's asset and liability management policy ensures that sufficient liquidity is available to honor deposit withdrawals, meet payments upon the maturity of other liabilities, extend loans or other forms of credit, and address the Bank's working capital needs.

The Treasury department is responsible for managing the Bank's liquidity and funding positions as well as executing the Bank's investment strategy. The Bank's policies require high absolute levels of liquidity composed of high-quality liquid assets, a key pillar of the Bank's financial strategy.

Consistent with the Bank's conservative financial policies, it historically maintains high levels of liquidity in investment-grade liquid investments, which are complemented by: (i) an adequate asset and liability maturity structure, (ii) a diversified and stable deposit base, (iii) access to multiple sources of financing (representing 7.30% of total liabilities as of September 30, 2026); and (iv) low levels of short-term institutional liabilities, which together provide a stable asset and liability structure.

As of September 30, 2026, primary liquidity amounted to 28.87%, comprising cash, bank deposits and liquid investment-grade fixed-income investments, as a percentage of total deposits and borrowings (excluding perpetual bonds). The Bank's total primary liquidity has an average credit rating of AA-, with 64.6% of investments rated AA+ or higher and 79.8% rated A- or higher. These liquid assets represented 30.66% of total deposits and 21.13% of total assets.

In addition to our internal liquidity limits, the Bank must comply with liquidity ratios established by the SBP, which require banks to have liquid assets of no less than 30% of qualified deposits, with maturities of less than 186 days, excluding deposits from subsidiaries and pledged deposits. For the calculation of this ratio, the SBP allows for all loan installments and maturities classified as standard with a term of less than 186 days to be considered liquid assets. The loan installments and maturities can only represent up to 30% of the total liquid assets used in this ratio. As of September 30, 2026, the Bank maintained a regulatory liquidity of 41.20%.

A. Loan Portfolio

The Bank's loan portfolio is well diversified across client segments and comprises a broad range of credit products. As of September 30, 2026, total gross loans amounted to US$13,730.4 million, comprising: (i) 53.4% retail loans (33.9% residential loans and 19.5% consumer loans); (ii) 42.7% corporate loans (30.8% local corporate loans and 11.9% foreign corporate loans); and (iii) 3.9% other loans (which include pledge loans, overdrafts, financial leases, and factoring).

To minimize the risk of credit losses, the Bank emphasizes granting loans secured by collateral, particularly single-family residences, other properties, and deposits, in addition to applying strict underwriting guidelines and "Know Your Customer" policies. As of September 30, 2026, 65.3% of all loans were secured: (i) 53.2% by first lien mortgages on land and improvements, and (ii) 12.1% by pledged deposits and other assets. The Bank's robust underwriting policies and security interests held as collateral have resulted in historically low gross and net write-off levels, averaging 0.71% and 0.41% of total loans, respectively, over the past two years ending September 30, 2026.

As of September 30, 2026, 86.8% of the Bank's loan portfolio consisted of local borrowers (individuals and corporations) based in Panama, while 13.2% consisted of regional clients based primarily in Colombia, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico and Peru. Furthermore, 99.9% of the Bank's loans were denominated in US dollars, the legal tender in Panama.

The following table summarizes the composition of the loan portfolio by type of loan as of September 30, 2026, and 2025, and December 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, respectively:

Non Accrual Loans

Regulation issued by the SBP requires the classification of loans with a non accrual status if any of the following conditions exist: (i) principal and interest payments exceeding past due limits established by the SBP (91 days or more past due for all types of loans, except for mortgage loans and overdrafts, which have limits of 121 and 31 days or more, respectively); or (ii) a deterioration in the debtor's financial condition that places the loan's collection at risk, such as reduced payment capacity, weakened collateral, or other adverse factors known to the Bank (e.g. fraud, death of the debtor, insolvency, or bankruptcy).

The following table presents non accrual loans according to loan type as of September 30, 2026, and 2025, and December 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, respectively:

Allowance for loans losses / non accrual loans	125.29%	119.00%		124.34%	141.84%	152.55%

As of September 30, 2026, non accrual loans decreased to US$272.6 million, compared to US$293.3 million on September 30, 2025. The change was mainly attributable to a US$35.2 million decrease in the residential mortgage non accrual loan balance, which declined from US$145.0 million to US$109.8 million; offset by a US$8.4 million increase in the consumer non accrual balance from US$41.4 million to US$49.8 million, and a US$6.1 million increase in the corporate and other loans non accrual balance from US$106.9 million to US$113.0 million.

Non accrual loans, represented 1.99% of total loans as of September 30, 2026, compared to 2.23% as of September 30, 2025. The Bank's coverage of allowance for loan losses was 125.29% of non accrual loans, as compared to 119.00% as of September 30, 2025.

Past Due Loans

The Bank classifies the loans as past due if: (i) scheduled interest or principal payments are 91 days or more past due during the life of the loan; and (ii) all amounts due are unpaid 31 days after the final maturity date of the loan.

The following table presents past due loans, according to type of loan as of September 30, 2026, and 2025, and December 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, respectively:

Allowance for loan losses / past due loans	106.74%	102.89%		106.22%	119.17%	129.74%

As of September 30, 2026, past due loans decreased to US$320.0 million, compared to US$339.2 million as of September 30, 2025. The decrease was mainly attributable to a US$33.5 million decrease in the residential mortgage past due balance, which declined from US$191.0 million to US$157.5 million; offset by a US$8.1 million increase in the consumer past due balance from US$41.1 million to US$49.2 million, and a US$6.2 million increase in the corporate and other loans past due balance from US$107.1 million to US$113.3 million.

Past due loans represented 2.33% of total loans as of September 30, 2026, compared to 2.58% as of September 30, 2025. The Bank's coverage of allowance for loan losses was 106.74% of past due loans, compared to 102.89% as of September 30, 2025.

Allowance for Loan Losses

To maintain the allowance for loan losses at required levels, provisions for loan losses are accounted for as charges to income and added to the allowance and any subsequent write-offs are applied against this allowance.

The allowance for loan losses at amortized cost is determined based on expected credit losses (ECL), using the loans' credit risk rating and the mechanisms used to determine the loans' probability of default, depending on the impairment stage assigned to each loan. The ECL model is determined by grouping loans with similar credit risk characteristics, and segmented methodologies for "Consumer Banking" and "Corporate Banking". Both methodologies consist of probability of default, loss given default, and exposure to default estimates.

The ECL model classifies financial assets into three stages of impairment, applicable from the date of origination or acquisition:

Stage 1: The Bank recognizes a credit loss allowance at an amount equivalent to the expected credit losses for the following 12-months period. This represents the portion of lifetime expected credit losses resulting from default events that are possible within a 12-months period as of the reporting date, if credit risk has not increased significantly since initial recognition.

Stage 2: The Bank recognizes a credit loss allowance at an amount equal to the total lifetime expected credit losses (LTECL) for those financial assets which are considered to have experienced a significant increase in credit risk since their initial recognition. This requires the calculation of ECL based on the remaining lifetime probability of default (LTPD) of the asset. The allowance for credit losses is higher in this stage because of the increase in credit risk and the impact of a longer time horizon in comparison to stage 1.

Stage 3: The Bank recognizes a loss allowance at an amount equal to the expected credit loss over the total lifetime of the asset, based on a probability of default (PD) of 100% over the asset's recoverable cash flows.

The following table presents the breakdown of the allowance for loan losses under IFRS 9 parameters as of September 30, 2026, and December 31, 2025:

As of September 30, 2026, the allowance for loan losses decreased to US$341.6 million or 2.49% of the total loan portfolio, from US$345.2 million or 2.60% of the total loan portfolio, as of December 31, 2025. Additionally, during this period:

Stage 1 loan balance increased US$494.2 million to US$12,136.7 million, and the allowance decreased from US$86.8 million (0.75% of stage 1 loans) to US$82.7 million (0.68% of stage 1 loans). Stage 2 loan balance decreased from US$1,364.5 million to US$1,311.0 million, and the allowance decreased from US$191.2 million (14.02% of stage 2 loans) to US$187.7 million (14.31% of stage 2 loans). Stage 3 loan balance increased from US$281.9 million to US$282.7 million, and the allowance increased from US$67.1 million (23.81% of stage 3 loans) to US$71.3 million (25.21% of stage 3 loans).

As of September 30, 2026, the Bank's restructured loans decreased to US$525.4 million from US$587.0 million as of December 31, 2025. Of the total restructured loan portfolio, US$288.6 million or 54.9%, were current with their contractual payments. Furthermore, US$433.2 million or 82.4% of restructured loans were backed by mortgage collateral.

The following table presents the breakdown of the allowance for loans losses as of September 30, 2026, and 2025, and December 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023:

B. Capital Resources

A cornerstone of the Bank's financial strategy is its strong capital position, which exceeds local and international regulatory requirements contained in the Basel Accords and has supported our investment-grade ratings since 1997, currently holding the following ratings: BBB by Standard & Poor's, BBB- by Fitch Ratings, and Baa3 by Moody's. The Bank's rating by Standard & Poor's and Fitch Ratings are one notch above Panama's sovereign rating, and in the case of Moody's, the Bank's rating is higher on a stand-alone basis but currently constrained by Panama's sovereign rating.

Panamanian regulatory capital requirements to risk-weighted assets (RWA) are comprised of: (i) regulatory primary capital (CET 1) of 4.50%, (ii) total primary capital of 6.00%, and (iii) total capital of 8.00%. Furthermore, agreement 5-2023, issued by the SBP on October 10, 2023, mandates that in addition to the abovementioned capital requirements, all general license banks must maintain an additional capital conservation buffer, comprised of regulatory primary capital to RWA of 2.50%. The SBP has adopted a gradual application of the capital conservation buffer as shown below:

Regulatory Capital Requirement		Regulatory Capital + Additional Capital Conservation Buffer (Starting)
		1-jul-2024	1-jul-2025	1-jul-2026
Total regulatory primary capital	4.50%	5.00%	5.75%	7.00%
Total primary capital	6.00%	6.50%	7.25%	8.50%
Total capital	8.00%	8.50%	9.25%	10.50%

As of September 30, 2026, the Bank had total capital of US$3,899.7 million, 3.0 times the SBP required regulatory capital. The ratio of total capital to RWA was 24.12%, comprised solely of primary capital, and total risk-weighted assets of US$16,165.0 million. Total risk-weighted assets include: US$14,306.3 million of credit RWA, US$916.2 million of market RWA, and US$942.6 million of operational RWA.

Agreement 4-2013 issued by the SBP requires that all banks maintain a countercyclical dynamic reserve of at least 1.25% and no more than 2.50% of the risk-weighted loans classified as standard loans. The dynamic reserve is presented as part of the legal reserves in the equity section of the Bank's financial statements. As of September 30, 2026, the Bank's dynamic reserve balance was US$167.6 million.

The Bank's subsidiaries General de Seguros, S.A., BG Valores, S.A., ProFuturo Administradora de Fondos de Pensiones y Cesantía, S.A., BG Trust, Inc., Banco General (Costa Rica), S.A., Banco General (Overseas), Inc., and Commercial Re Overseas, Ltd. are all subject to minimum capital requirements stipulated by their corresponding regulators including but not limited to the SBP, the Superintendence of Insurance and Reinsurance of Panama, the Superintendence of Capital Markets of Panama, the General Superintendency of Financial Entities of Costa Rica (SUGEF), the Monetary Authority of the Cayman Islands (CIMA), the British Virgin Islands Financial Services Commission, and others. For the three months ended on September 30, 2026, our diversified loan portfolio represented 66.9% of the Bank's total average interest-earning assets and generated 77.8% of the total interest and commissions income.

Total interest and commission income increased by US$17.6 million or 5.1%, for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, and was the result of a US$1,177.6 million or 6.3% increase in average interest-earning assets; offset by a 9 basis point decrease in the average interest rate earned.

The increase in the average interest-earning assets was due to: (i) an increase of US$752.5 million or 13.5%, in investments and other financial assets, (ii) an increase of US$512.1 million or 4.0%, in net loans; offset by a decrease of US$86.9 million or 31.3%, in deposits with banks.

The 9 basis point decrease in the average interest rate earned on interest-earning assets was primarily due to a decrease of: (i) a 16 basis point decrease in the average interest rate earned on investments and other financial assets, and (ii) a 63 basis point decrease in the average interest rate earned on deposits with banks; offset by an increase of 2 basis points in the average interest rate earned on net loans.

The following table presents the effect of changes in the Bank's interest and commission income as a result of changes in: (i) the average volume of interest earning assets, and (ii) the average interest rate earned during the three months ended on September 30, 2026:

	Third Quarter 2026/2025 Increase (Decrease)

[1] Includes Repos and Perpetual Bonds. [2] Percentages are annualized.

The Bank's total interest expenses are mainly attributable to interest paid on deposits, which represented 87.9% of total interest expense for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, compared to 88.5% for the same period last year.

Total interest expense decreased by US$0.8 million or 0.7%, for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, and was primarily due to a 22 basis point decrease in the average interest rate paid on interest-bearing liabilities; offset by a 6.8% increase in average interest-bearing liabilities.

The increase in the average interest-bearing liabilities was due to: (i) a US$451.2 million or 7.7% increase in savings and other deposits, (ii) a US$378.1 million or 5.7% increase in time deposits, and (iii) a US$99.2 million or 8.9% increase, in borrowings and placements.

The decrease in the average interest rate paid was mainly attributable to: (i) 29 basis point decrease in the average interest rate paid on time deposits, (ii) a 15 basis point decrease in the average interest rate paid on savings and other deposits, and (iii) a 15 basis point decrease in the average interest rate paid on borrowings and placements.

The following table sets forth the effect of changes in the Bank's total interest expense as a result of changes in: (i) the average volume of interest-bearing liabilities, and (ii) the average interest rate paid during the three months ended on September 30, 2026:

	Third Quarter 2026/2025 Decrease (Increase)

The 1.0% decrease in total other income, net for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, compared to the same period in 2025, was primarily driven by the following factors:

Fees and Commission Income, Net

The 11.5% increase in fees and commission income, net of commission expenses and other expenses for the three months ended September 30, 2026, was primarily due to an increase on earned commissions from debit and credit cards.

Insurance Premiums, Net

Net insurance premiums increased by 14.3% for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, as compared to the same period in 2025, mainly due to an increase in insurance premiums of 10.8%; offset by an increase of 4.0% in insurance claims, and a 3.5% increase in acquisition costs.

Gain (Loss) on Financial Instruments, Net

Gain (loss) on financial instruments, net for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, resulted in a net loss of US$8.6 million, mainly due to realized and unrealized losses on securities, partially offset by realized and unrealized gains on derivatives.

Other Income, Net

Other income, net, decreased by US$2.8 million or 17.9%, for the three months ended September 30, 2026, compared to the same period in 2025, primarily due to smaller returns on the Bank's pension fund assets.

General and Administrative Expenses

The following table presents the Bank's principal general and administrative expenses for the three and nine months ended on September 30, 2026, and 2025 respectively:

	For the Three Months Ended September 30			For the Nine Months Ended September 30
	2026	2025	(%) Change	2026	2025	(%) Change

Total	101,741	97,177	4.7%	300,763	283,671	6.0%

The 4.7% increase in general and administrative expenses for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, primarily reflects the following factors:

Salaries and Other Employee Expenses

For the three months ended September 30, 2026, salaries and other employee expenses represented 56.2% of total general and administrative expenses, compared to 55.9% for the same period in 2025. The 5.3% increase in salaries and other employee expenses was attributable to a combination of a moderate increase in salaries and other employee benefits.

Depreciation and Amortization Expenses

The increase of US$1.3 million or 11.5%, in depreciation and amortization expense, for the three months ended on September 30, 2026, compared to the same period in 2025. The increase was mainly due to investments in technology to enhance operational resilience and support the development of new digital solutions for the Bank's growing customer base.

Premises and Equipment Expenses

Premises and equipment expenses, including maintenance, repairs, and lease expenses, increased by US$1.7 million or 16.3%, for the three months ended September 30, 2026, compared to the same period on 2025. The increase was mainly attributable to higher technology-related costs associated with software licenses and subscriptions, cloud computing usage, and investments to strengthen the resilience of the Bank's operations.

Other Expenses

Other expenses decreased by US$1.2 million or 5.5%, for the three months ended September 30, 2026, compared to the same period in 2025, primarily due to: (i) lower legal expenses; and (ii) lower donations, reflecting the extraordinary contributions made in 2025.

Operational Efficiency

The Bank's operational efficiency ratio was 28.09% for the three months ended September 30, 2026, compared to 28.21% for the same period in 2025 mainly as a result of: (i) a US$17.8 million increase or 5.2%, in operating income, and (ii) a US$4.5 million or 4.7%, increase in the Bank's general and administrative expenses.

[1] Percentages are annualized. [2] Net interest margin refers to net interest and commission income divided by average interest-earning assets. Average interest-earning assets are determined on average monthly balances. [3] Percentages have been calculated using monthly averages. [4] Efficiency is defined as general and administrative expenses divided by the sum of net interest, commission income, other income, net, and equity participation in associates. [5] Other income corresponds to the sum of fees and other commissions, insurance premiums, net, and other income, net; while operating income corresponds to the sum of income from interest and commissions, fees and other commissions, insurance premiums, net and other income, net. [6] Primary liquidity is comprised of: (a) cash and deposits with banks, and (b) high quality (investment grade) fixed income securities, including repos, fixed income mutual funds, treasury bills, negotiable CDs, commercial paper, corporate and sovereign bonds, MBS, CMOs and ABS. [7] Client deposits exclude interbank deposits. [8] Capital ratios as a percentage of risk weighted assets. [9] Non accrual loans: all loans past due 91+ days on interest and/or principal payments, residential mortgages past due 121+ days, and overdrafts past due +31 days. [10] Past due loans: all loans past due 91+ days on interest and/or principal payments and all loans past due 31 days post maturity.
