

FULLERTON HEALTH ANNOUNCES SIGNIFICANT EXPANSION OF AUSTRALIAN HEALTHCARE PLATFORM THROUGH THE ACQUISITION OF HEALTHSCOPE'S MEDICAL CENTRES

Singapore, August 18, 2017 – Fullerton Healthcare Corporation Limited (“Fullerton Health” or the “Group”), a leading provider of corporate healthcare solutions across Asia Pacific, today announced that it has acquired Healthscope’s medical centre operations (“HMC”). HMC operates a network of medical centres across Australia, with a portfolio of 48 facilities comprising of 43 medical centres, four specialist skin clinics and one specialist breast diagnostic clinic.

HMC is one of the largest primary care operators in Australia with over 350 doctors, providing care to 1.8 million patients each year.

Dr Michael Tan, Co-Founder and Group CEO of Fullerton Health, commented: “I am thrilled to welcome the Healthscope medical centres team to join Fullerton Health today. This is an important acquisition for us, which reinforces our stated strategy of developing a strong presence in markets across the region, and specifically to broaden our network in Australia. Through this acquisition we will become the third largest primary care business in the country, and will be well positioned to support even more doctors and clinics.”

Steven Harvey, Managing Director of Fullerton Health Australia, commented: “Fullerton is already one of the leading occupational health and primary care providers in Australia, and following the acquisition of Healthscope’s medical centre business we will together operate the third largest primary care business in the country. The combination of focus and expertise coupled with international operations will help us to provide a greater range of services across Australia. Fullerton Health and HMC are highly complementary and our team are looking forward to working closely with HMC to deliver on the great potential that the combination of our two businesses offers.”

ENDS

Media contact:

Brunswick Group
Will Carnwath, Ben Fry
FULLERTONHEALTH@brunswickgroup.com
+65 6426 8188

About Fullerton Health Australia

Fullerton Health Australia Pty Ltd ("Fullerton Australia" or "FHA") is the holding company of the operations of Fullerton Health in Australia. Fullerton Australia is a multi-disciplined and diverse healthcare company employing over 800 staff and providing services through 70 facilities throughout the country. A key strategy of Fullerton Australia has been the roll out of primary care services. FHA's primary care division now includes 11 clinics across Queensland, Victoria, New South Wales and the Australian Capital Territory.

About Fullerton Health

Fullerton Health is a leading provider of corporate healthcare solutions across Asia Pacific. Founded in Singapore in 2011, today we own more than 225 medical centres across 6 countries and have a network of more than 8,000 medical providers around the world. We harness these resources to provide you healthcare that is affordable, yet accessible.

More than 25,000 corporations, from multinational companies to small medium enterprises and government organisations, have chosen to use our services. Our integrated healthcare model and our scale mean we can offer one-stop, cost-effective solutions to our corporate and insurer clients, and better care to our patients.

What's more, we are strong believers in innovation, and in staying ahead of technological developments. This means we have our own advanced technology system that powers the Fullerton network, and enables this network to grow further. This gives us a continuing ability to improve business performance and efficiency, which in turn creates cost-savings for our customers.

With 50 years of experience listening and caring, and an experienced management team that brings the best from different industries, we are now better poised to transform healthcare in Asia, making it affordable and accessible to those we serve.

For more information on Fullerton Health, please visit <http://www.fullertonhealth.com/>.