

Marc Funk

Marc Funk is the Group's Chief Legal and Compliance Officer (CLO) for Lonza and has been a member of the Executive Committee since April 2012. As Group General Counsel and Board Secretary since 2009, he has been responsible not just for Legal, Compliance and Intellectual Property in the company, but also for Quality Assurance, Corporate Services for Asia, and Environment, Health and Safety.

In the past, Marc served as the Associate General Counsel for Merck Serono, working with global commercial contracts and leading all legal matters pertaining to the Swiss, South American and Asian entities. Before that time, he was a co-founder and co-CEO of GeneProt Inc., a biotech research company focused on proteomics that was later transferred to Novartis.

A certified gemologist from the Gemological Institute of America, Marc also studied law at the University of Geneva, where he received his Master of Law and was admitted to the Geneva Bar. He then earned a Master of Law and Diplomacy from the Fletcher School at Tuft University in Boston, MA (US).
