SGX Stock Exchange congratulates All-Link Air & Sea Limited (All-Link Air & Sea) on its successful Mainboard listing under the stock code “ALK”.

Headquartered in Singapore, All-Link Air & Sea is a regional freight forwarder offering cross-border freight forwarding services in key ASEAN markets. The company coordinates air and sea freight forwarding, road freight transportation and customs clearance for customers moving goods across borders and within domestic markets. With an asset-light business model, All-Link Air & Sea works through a network of airlines, carriers and third-party logistics partners. Today, the company operates in Singapore, Malaysia and the Philippines, serving a diverse customer base across technology, electronics and consumer products.

Peter Neo, Executive Director and CEO, All-Link Air & Sea Limited, said, “Our listing marks a transformative milestone for All-Link Air & Sea as we accelerate our regional growth. Our scalable, asset-light model has enabled us to orchestrate high-frequency cross-border logistics effectively across ASEAN. Moving forward, we will deploy our IPO proceeds to capitalise on regional supply chain shifts and ‘China+1’ diversification. By expanding our footprint in Vietnam and Thailand, boosting air freight capacity, and investing in AI-driven technologies, we are well-positioned to deliver sustainable, end-to-end logistics solutions and drive long-term value for our shareholders.”

Pol de Win, Head of Global Sales and Origination, SGX Group, said, “E-commerce trends and supply chain shifts are reshaping how goods move across Southeast Asia. All-Link Air & Sea saw this early and built its business around the trade lanes they know best, putting them ahead of the curve. As the company steps up from a specialist into a broader regional company, investing in new markets and better technology is key. We are delighted they chose SGX as their capital-raising partner, and we look forward to supporting their growth journey.”
