SGX announces resignation of Chief Regulatory Officer

Singapore Exchange (SGX) today said Richard Teng, Chief Regulatory Officer, has decided to leave the organisation effective 28 February 2015.

He will be taking on the role of Chief Executive Officer of Abu Dhabi Global Market Regulator.

Magnus Bocker, CEO of SGX said, "During his seven years with SGX, Richard made significant contributions to our success as a world-class market regulator. He was instrumental in establishing a direct listing framework for China incorporated companies on the exchange, introducing a regulatory framework for secondary listings and augmenting safeguards in the stock market. While we will all miss him, we are also very proud that he has been presented with the opportunity to shape the regulatory landscape internationally. We wish him all the best in his new assignment."

SGX is currently reviewing candidates and will announce the appointment of a new Chief Regulatory Officer in due course.

About Singapore Exchange (SGX)

Singapore Exchange (SGX) is the Asian Gateway, connecting investors in search of Asian growth to corporate issuers in search of global capital. SGX represents the premier access point for managing Asian capital and investment exposure, and is Asia's most international exchange with more than 40% of companies listed on SGX originating outside of Singapore. SGX offers its clients the world's biggest offshore market for Asian equity index futures, centred on Asia's three largest economies – China, India and Japan.

In addition to offering a fully integrated value chain from trading and clearing, to settlement and depository services, SGX is also Asia's pioneering central clearing house. Headquartered in Asia's most globalised city, and centred within the AAA strength and stability of Singapore's island nation, SGX is a leading Asian counterparty for the clearing of financial and commodity products.
