NANOFILM NAMED A WINNER OF SINGAPORE'S BEST MANAGED COMPANIES 2022

- This is the second year that Nanofilm has been presented a Best Managed Companies award

SINGAPORE, 15 September 2022 – Mainboard-listed Nanofilm Technologies International Limited (the “Company” or “纳峰科技有限公司” and together with its subsidiaries, “Nanofilm” or the “Group”), a leading provider of nanotechnology solutions, has been recognised as a Singapore Best Managed Companies 2022. The awards program recognises top privately-owned Singapore companies for their organisational success as well as contributions to their industry and the economy.

An internationally-recognised program, Best Managed evaluates businesses based on four pillars - strategy, quality of management, capabilities and innovation, culture and commitment, as well as governance and financials. First launched in Singapore in 2021, the evaluation of the awards is based on observed practice over more than 25 years of the global awards program that has been rolled out to 48 countries worldwide including Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand and Vietnam within ASEAN.

Cheung Pui Yuen, Chief Executive Officer, Deloitte Singapore, said: “Resilience and adaptability have been key for all businesses over the past two years. Leadership teams are constantly pivoting to ensure they advance their strategies, look after their people, evolve their governance structures and comply with ever-changing regulatory requirements. This is why, now more than ever, it is important to recognise the great leadership and resilience of Singapore-based companies that has allowed them to remain competitive and at the forefront of their industries. We are pleased to celebrate the 2022 winners of Best Managed Companies Singapore.”

“This year’s Singapore winners are companies that have stepped up and seized the opportunity to evaluate their business models – from customer engagement and new market entries, to supply-chain methodology, talent retention and advancing ESG remits,” said Mr Michael Tsia, Best Managed Companies leader,

Singapore & Southeast Asia. “We are impressed by their commitment to their people, their customers, and the community in which they operate.”

Entrants to the program compete for this prestigious designation in a rigorous and independent process that evaluates their management skills and practices. This includes having their business strategy and operations analysed, benchmarking them against a global standard evaluation framework, that is applied across the 1,200-strong community of best managed companies worldwide. Business leaders then use the process to sharpen strategies and derive valuable insights to help them refine their strategies and operations, optimising business growth. The Best Managed Companies program is an initiative of Deloitte Private.

Mr Gary Ho (“何福榮”), Group CEO, Nanofilm commented: “The Singapore Best Managed Companies program is an awards program that recognises companies for their organisational success and achievement. We are honoured and humbled by receiving this award for the second consecutive year. It is a recognition of our ongoing efforts to build a sustainable organisation, rooted in our deep-tech platform, through our BU-driven strategy to develop and proliferate our nanotechnology solutions across industries, thereby impacting everyone’s daily life.”

Nanofilm’s nanotechnology solutions are far-ranging and seamlessly integrated into the daily lives of consumers. Although not widely known, many products embed or deploy Nanofilm’s solutions. Harnessing upon its core competencies in developing applications for different products across industries, the Company plays its part in shaping a greener and more sustainable world by applying nanotechnology greener solutions in hydrogen fuel cells, electric vehicle batteries, and solar panels.

END.
