Outlook

Singapore Retail¹

- The return of tourists, work-in-office and resumption of major events have led to continued recovery in physical retail sales in 1H 2023. The uptick was also partly due to inflation-driven price increases.
- Approximately 1.0 million square feet of space is expected to be delivered from the rest of 2023 to 2025. This equates to an average of 0.4 million square feet per year, lower than the past five-year annual average of 0.6 million square feet.
- While retailers are likely to continue to contend with higher operating and freight costs, manpower shortages and broader economic uncertainties, several factors could buoy the retail sector. The expected recovery in tourism, upcoming festivities, increased domestic spending ahead of the GST rate hike in 2024, as well as the limited upcoming supply could support demand for retail space, occupancy levels and broad-based recovery of retail rents, albeit at a moderated pace.

Singapore Office¹

- Rents in 2Q 2023 continued to grow Islandwide due to low vacancies, limited supply and encouraging pre-commitment rates. Rents in City Fringe also increased in tandem as tenants seek financially attractive options.
- However, a slowing economy and global uncertainties have caused occupiers to exercise more caution in their relocation plans, thus dampening leasing activities and office demand. The build up of shadow and secondary spaces is also expected to exert pressure on vacancies and rents.
- Approximately 4.2 million square feet of space is expected to be delivered from the rest of 2023 to 2025. This averages 1.7 million square feet per year, higher than the past five-year annual average of 1.1 million square feet. The majority of this new supply is slated for the CBD.
- Given the significant supply influx from 2H 2023, vacancies are likely to edge up, and rental growth could decelerate in 2023. However, Singapore's standing as an international financial hub and safe haven is expected to sustain demand. Sectors such as banking and finance, fast-moving consumer goods ("FMCGs"), legal, as well as family office and asset managers, are anticipated to provide some support to demand and backfill vacated space.

Singapore Business Parks¹

- Manufacturing slowdown, layoffs in the technology sectors and global uncertainties have impacted demand for business park space, a trend expected to continue into 2H 2023. Although demand from the technology sector has softened, industries such as biomedical and advanced manufacturing have offered some support.
- Approximately 3.6 million square feet of space is expected to be delivered from the rest of 2023 to 2025. This averages 1.4 million square feet per year, higher than the past five-year annual average of 0.5 million square feet. 42% of the new supply is expected in the Fringe submarket, with the remaining 58% in the Rest of Island submarket.
- Given the significant new supply in the next few years, vacancy rates are expected to rise, particularly for the Rest of Island submarket. Rents are expected to remain flat with minimal growth in 2023.
- In the long run, Singapore's business park market remains attractive given the government's effort to position the country as a leading manufacturing hub for high-value and knowledge-intensive industries.

Hong Kong Retail¹

- 2Q 2023 GDP grew 1.5% yoy, although momentum has softened after the strong first quarter rebound. Tourist arrivals have continued to recover but remain below pre-social incidents and pre-COVID levels.
- Rents also remained below pre-social incidents and pre-COVID levels.
- Approximately 0.8 million square feet of retail space is expected to enter the market for the rest of 2023. Kowloon East will be the focus of new retail supply in 2024 due to three upcoming developments that will add 1.5 million sq ft of space. This influx may exert downward pressure on rents in Kowloon East and Kowloon Tong.
- Positive market sentiment is expected to continue with the launch of multiple government campaigns, including "Hello Hong Kong", "Happy Hong Kong" and "Night Vibes Hong Kong" to boost tourism and support local consumption. A more meaningful recovery hinges on restoring airport and hotel operational capacities to pre-pandemic levels, currently constrained by staff shortages.

Beijing Office¹

- 3Q 2023 remains challenging for Beijing's office market. While net absorption turned positive for the first time in 2023, mainly driven by pre-leasing of new projects where demand mostly came from state-owned enterprises, existing inventory still faced soft demand.
- The completion of several large-scale office developments pushed up overall vacancy levels, leading to a 2.3% qoq decline in rents as landlords adjust to heightened competition for tenants. In Lufthansa, rents dipped by 1.7% qoq as the market awaits a more significant recovery in demand.
- Looking ahead, positive net absorption is expected in 4Q 2023, but the market remains overshadowed by oversupply. A sustained pick up in demand is required for the market to stabilise. Vacancy levels are expected to exceed 20% by the end of 2023, with rents likely to continue a downward trend.

Shanghai Business Parks¹

- Rents across all core submarkets declined 0.9% qoq in 3Q 2023, driven by soft demand, landlord concessions and heightened incentives aimed at boosting occupancy levels. Increased competition for tenants and concerns over future supply have further dampened market sentiment and demand in the quarter.
- Negative net absorption in the core submarkets suggests ongoing pressure by tenants to cut costs and enhance efficiency. Rising new supply and soft demand pushed up vacancies in Shanghai's core business parks by 1.1 p.p. to 18.7% in 3Q 2023.
- Approximately 4.2 million square metres of supply is expected to enter Shanghai's core business park markets from the rest of 2023 to 2025. Vacancies are thus expected to continue to rise, leading to rents to stagnate temporarily or trend down before stabilising in 2025.
- Looking ahead, the central government's economic stimulus measures, such as interest rate cuts, reduction in bank reserve requirement ratios, as well as corporate tax and fee reductions, are expected to benefit corporate profits. These will in turn result in a pick up in business park leasing activities.

Japan Office¹

- Rental trends in 3Q 2023 remained varied across submarkets. Vacancies and rents both rose in the Tokyo 5 wards, likely due to the introduction of new properties. Vacancies for Tokyo 18 wards fell while rents held steady, indicating a gradual recovery in demand. Yokohama observed a slight increase in both vacancy and rent levels, signalling that the market needs more time to stabilise. In contrast, Chiba posted lower vacancies and increased rents, primarily driven by large existing vacancies at newly built office being filled during the quarter.

- Vacancies in the Tokyo 5 wards are expected to rise due to a major project completion in 4Q 2023. Nevertheless, the impact to the other submarkets is likely to be limited. The mismatch in supply-demand dynamics in these submarkets is expected to weigh on market recovery.

Seoul Office¹

- Seoul's average vacancy rate in 3Q 2023 decreased by 0.4 p.p. qoq to 1.7% mainly due to the backfilling of significant vacancies in the CBD. 3Q 2023 rents continued to increase qoq.

- Vacancy rate of GBD was stable in 3Q 2023. Despite a slowdown in leasing activities by technology companies, popularity for GBD office space continued in the quarter, resulting in a positive net absorption rate of 1,385 pyeong. With limited supply, GBD recorded 2.5% growth in average rents from the last quarter.

- The landlord-favoured GBD office market is expected to sustain rental growth due to low supply and solid fundamentals. Significant new supply in GBD is only expected in 2027.

Conclusion

- The global economic outlook remains uncertain, with growth projected to be weaker than last year. Potential downside risks include escalating geopolitical conflicts, high energy prices, prolonged elevated interest rates hikes and volatility in the global financial markets. These factors could further weaken the broader economy and soften demand for space.

- Despite this backdrop, MPACT has shown resilience, with Singapore delivering robust performance and the overseas portfolio maintaining stability. Targeted measures have also been taken to enhance the balance sheet and debt profile to weather fluctuations in the financial markets.

- Our Japan portfolio of nine properties has been delivering stable returns. However, there are occupancy risks in our three assets in Chiba due to Chiba's market softness. Together, these three assets account for approximately 6% of MPACT's portfolio GRI (as at 31 March 2023), and their valuation may be affected. Nimbleness is key and the Manager will step up leasing efforts to proactively address the challenges.

- To mitigate continued headwinds, MPACT's focus remains on maintaining healthy portfolio occupancy and steady rental income, while managing costs efficiently. Backed by core assets, Mapletree Business City and VivoCity, along with the Manager's operational expertise, MPACT is reasonably positioned to navigate challenges and seize opportunities as they arise.

- Financial prudence remains a top priority in navigating the volatile interest rate environment. The Manager is committed to explore and implement suitable initiatives to maintain long-term financial stability.

- Rents across all core submarkets declined 0.9% qoq in 3Q 2023, driven by soft demand, landlord concessions and heightened incentives aimed at boosting occupancy levels. Increased competition for tenants and concerns over future supply have further dampened market sentiment and demand in the quarter.
- Negative net absorption in the core submarkets suggests ongoing pressure by tenants to cut costs and enhance efficiency. Rising new supply and soft demand pushed up vacancies in Shanghai's core business parks by 1.1 p.p. to 18.7% in 3Q 2023.
- Approximately 4.2 million square metres of supply is expected to enter Shanghai's core business park markets from the rest of 2023 to 2025. Vacancies are thus expected to continue to rise, leading to rents to stagnate temporarily or trend down before stabilising in 2025.
- Looking ahead, the central government's economic stimulus measures, such as interest rate cuts, reduction in bank reserve requirement ratios, as well as corporate tax and fee reductions, are expected to benefit corporate profits. These will in turn result in a pick up in business park leasing activities.

Greater Tokyo Office – Market Overview

Rental trends in 3Q 2023 remained varied across submarkets; mismatch in supply-demand dynamics will continue to weigh on market recovery

Map of Office Markets

- Greater Tokyo Area's office market comprises Tokyo 23 wards (which includes the Tokyo Central 5 wards), Chiba City and Yokohama City.
- Tokyo's five central wards are home to the largest agglomeration of office buildings and headquarters of many global enterprises.
- For companies seeking to establish subsidiaries or satellite offices outside Tokyo for business continuity, Yokohama is a preferred choice as it offers an attractive standard of living and good array of amenities, while Chiba offers cost advantages.

Planned New Supply (2023 – 2025)¹

Submarket	Property	Area (tsubo)	Expected Completion
Tokyo 5 wards	Shibuya Sakura Stage	20,216.2	4Q 2023
Tokyo 5 wards	Akasaka Trust Tower	35,993.3	3Q 2024

94.2% ▲ 0.2 p.p from last quarter	93.5% ▼ 0.3 p.p from last quarter	91.4% ▲ 0.6 p.p from last quarter

- Rental trends in 3Q 2023 remained varied across submarkets. Vacancies and rents both rose in the Tokyo 5 wards, likely due to the introduction of new properties. Vacancies for Tokyo 18 wards fell while rents held steady, indicating a gradual recovery in demand. Yokohama observed a slight increase in both vacancy and rent levels, signalling that the market needs more time to stabilise. In contrast, Chiba posted lower vacancies and increased rents, primarily driven by large existing vacancies at newly built office being filled during the quarter.
- Vacancies in the Tokyo 5 wards are expected to rise due to a major project completion in 4Q 2023. Nevertheless, the impact to the other submarkets is likely to be limited. The mismatch in supply-demand dynamics in these submarkets is expected to weigh on market recovery.

Seoul Office – Market Overview

Favourable market dynamics of GBD expected to continue given limited supply and good fundamentals

Map of Major Office Submarkets

- The Seoul office market comprises three core business districts: CBD, GBD (where The Pinnacle Gangnam is located) and YBD. Most of the office stock is in the CBD, followed by GBD and YBD.
- Located in Gangnam-gu, Seoul, The Pinnacle Gangnam is a 20-storey freehold office building with six underground floors and 181 parking lots. It has direct access to an underground subway station (Gangnam-gu Office Station) and is within 10 minutes by car from Gangnam’s high-end retail district (Cheongdam) and from COEX Convention & Exhibition Center.

- Seoul’s average vacancy rate in 3Q 2023 decreased by 0.4 p.p. qoq to 1.7% mainly due to the backfilling of significant vacancies in the CBD. 3Q 2023 rents continued to increase qoq.

Occupancy

GBD

from last quarter

- Vacancy rate of GBD was stable in 3Q 2023. Despite a slowdown in leasing activities by technology companies, popularity for GBD office space continued in the quarter, resulting in a positive net absorption rate of 1,385 pyeong. With limited supply, GBD recorded 2.5% growth in average rents from the last quarter.

- The landlord-favoured GBD office market is expected to sustain rental growth due to low supply and solid fundamentals. Significant new supply in GBD is only expected in 2027.
