ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

Questions and Answers Session

Question 1 : Mr Ho asked what are the business segments and explanations on the performance of each business segments.

Answer 1 : Mr Lee Seck Hwee (“Mr Lee”) explained that the main core businesses of the Group were logistics and oil & gas (“O&G”). The logistics business contributed about 90% of the revenue of the Group. The O&G business revenue were low. Revenue from logistics business was higher whereas the assets in the O&G were higher. There was minimum profit from the logistics business which had generated revenue from high volume of activities. Because of this, the Board decided to diversify to O&G business which was then expected to have higher profit margin, higher risk and higher capital investment. Risk and capital investment for Ramba as an onshore company would be relatively lower as compared to an offshore company.

Question 2 : Mr Tay said that the CEO’s message in Annual Report FY 2017 stated there was a reduction in loss and asked for explanations on the performance of each business segments.

Answer 2 : Mr Daniel Zier Johannes Jol (“Mr Jol”) explained that the logistics business was an industry with low profit margin. Whilst the O&G business was expected to generate higher rate of return, it would take longer time to generate profit. The Company had experienced the global oil price crash in 2011 after the Management took over in 2008. The Company had subsequently acquired Lemang PSC Block (“Lemang Block”) which was in the process to streamline its operations and developments together with the government agencies in Indonesia. The performance of O&G would be dependent on global oil price to determine the profit return of the Company.

The Group operates onshore where there is a long list of permits and approvals required from the Indonesian authorities.

The Group had three main O&G fields. Lemang Block started its production in year 2016 and would be producing in greater volumes in the future. There has been some delay because our joint venture partner, Mandala Energy Limited (“Mandala”) has decided to carry out further geological studies and different artificial lift and subsurface pump designs before it goes online with the existing (8) wells (which consists of one water injector, two gas producers and five oil producers).

Artificial lift is required to optimize production given the relatively low pressure conditions and geological structure. Mandala would be working out the appropriate method of drilling and well design to maximise the production. Operation costs are relatively high to operate the Lemang Block because Mandala would also recruit foreign technical expertise and experienced staff for operations. The Company will make an announcement to shareholders when full production begins.

The Company also has to overcome the logistic limitations, for example, the roads too narrow for the big trucks to transport the oil.

As for the Jatiraragon gas field, because the concession would be expiring in the first half of 2020, the Group was making minimal investments for small workovers maintain its production and/or reduce the decline.

The West Jambi Block is still at an early exploration and evaluation stage. At this time, the West Jambi Block will be further studied.

Mr Lee said that the Company expected profit when the Group's revenue would be sufficient to cover the operation costs. This would be dependent on full production and the global oil price. The operation costs were high last year because the production and oil price were low. The Group has been informed by Mandala that it has targeted to increase production to 2000 barrels of oils per day ("bopd") by June 2018.

Mr Soeryadjaya said that investing in O&G industry is a high risk investment. Unfortunately, there were unfavourable news which had continuously hit the O&G industry in 2016 and 2017 which significantly affected all the O&G companies. The Group would be recovering from the hits and losses incurred in year 2016 and 2017. He had also injected cash as capital to sustain the Company. Mandala had significant capital investments and had been working on the production. The Company would be committed to ensure that Mandala, as an operator, deliver the production within the timeline. The Company aimed to reduce its running costs while improving the production in the oil fields. The Company would strive to improve its performance in 2018.

Question 3 : Mr Ho asked what were the legal claims against the Company.

Answer 3 : Mr Jol informed the shareholders that the legal proceedings by Super Power Enterprises Group Ltd was ongoing and the outcome of the proceedings would be announced in due course.

Question 4 : Shareholders asked for the reason why the Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") was not present in person at the annual general meeting.

Answer 4 : Mr Aditya Wisnuwardana Seky Soeryadjaya ("Mr Soeryadjaya") said that he would be a witness to a legal court case which involved a government organisation (Pertamina) in Indonesia and he was not able to leave Indonesia to attend the annual general meeting. The case did not involve the Company.

Question 5 : Mr Tay and Mr Lim asked (i) what were the total amount of proceeds raised from placements and rights issue since May 2008. Mr Lim also asked what was the amount invested in O&G business. Mr Lim asked what was the Return on Investment ("ROI") from the O&G.

Answer 5 : Mr Lee said that the proceeds were mostly invested in Oil & Gas Blocks. Mr Jol added that, off the top of his head, a total of approximately S$75million had been raised since the first fund raising made in 2009. The Company had invested a large portion of the proceeds on the Lemang Block, US$ 10 million on West Jambi Block and US$5-10million on Jatirarangon field respectively. Mr Soeryadjaya said that part of the funds raised had been invested in O&G segment. The ROI would be dependent on the oil price and the profits to be generated from O&G production.

Question 6 : Mr Kanti asked the Directors to review all the operating assets of the Group and the business operations.

Answer 6 : The Board and the Management will arrange a meeting with the shareholders, (similar to a shareholder meeting held two years ago) to enable the shareholders to have better understanding on the Company's operations. Mr Soeryadjaya would also invite Mandala to attend the meeting.

Question 7 : Mr Kanti asked whether the Company is sustainable.

- Answer 7 : Mr Soeryadjaya said that the Company had no bankruptcy concerns and currently carrying out cost cutting and capital control. The Company should be ready for any opportunities to increase capital of the Company.
- Question 8 : Mr Kanti asked whether the Shareholders or the Company would be open to sell shares if there is a keen buyer.
- Answer 8 : Mr Soeryadjaya said that he is open to discussion. The Board and the Management would have to act in the best interests of the Company.
- Question 9 : Mr Tay asked for (i) the rationale of farming-out the 20% participating interest with 6% cash call option and retaining the balance of 10%, (ii) whether any valuation done for the farm-out, (iii) any approval obtained from the Shareholders, and (iv) whether any proper analysis conducted and shareholder's approval is required on selling the assets more than 20% under the requirements of Singapore Exchange Securities Trading Limited ("SGX-ST") Listing Rules.
- Answer 9 : Mr Soeryadjaya informed that the decision made was of view that capital expenditures ("CAPEX") involved would be borne by Mandala. The O&G market is volatile and oil price was low in 2016 and 2017. It was stated in the announcement that Mandala agreed to carry the CAPEX until 2019. Chairman further added that it is in the ordinary course of business in relation to SGX-ST rules and regulations.
- Mr Lee said that the transactions on farm-in and farm-out are covered under SGX-ST requirements. It is in the ordinary course of business and therefore no further shareholders' approval required. The Company had also consulted with SGX-ST and previously obtained shareholders' approval that farm-in and farm-out are in the ordinary course of business.
- There was a shareholders' meeting sought for the approval on change of company business to have both logistics and O&G as core business segments. Shareholders' approval would be required if the Company decides to divest the entire O&G business.
- Question 10 : Mr Tay asked why Mandala was willing to do the financial carry for the CAPEX.
- Answer 10 : Mr Soeryadjaya replied that as a joint venture partner, Mandala was willing to take up the CAPEX in order for all partners of the Lemang block to have better cash flow turnover and ensure that the project does not run into any funding gaps.
- Question 11 : Mr Lim asked what was the definition of farm-in and farm-out and the rationale for the farm-out.
- Answer 11 : Mr Jol explained that a farm-in and farm-out is the transfer of working interests in an oil and/or gas block (i.e. buying and selling of a participating interest of a joint venture).
- Question 12 : Mr Tay asked what are the returns or benefits expected from Mandala with the remaining balance of 10% participating interest and whether there would be dividends from the profits.
- Answer 12 : Mr Jol said that the Management and the Board hopes to obtain positive cashflows from its remaining 10% interest in the Lemang block up to the expiry of the block in 2037. .
- Question 13 : Mr Lim and Mr Tay asked (i) the Board to review and explain on the decision made in 2017 is now being diluted of interest and the decision made with consideration on the future oil price, (ii) the reason not to have more funds raising earlier to tide over the Company's difficulties period (iii) the CEO to explain the rationale as a controlling shareholder to farm out Mandala, what is most beneficial to the Company and whether the CEO was able to foresee the recovery of oil price in future.

Answer 13 : Mr Soeryadjaya said that the current O&G conditions are much better than in years 2016 and 2017. To fulfil the cash call where the past funds raised were not sufficient, Mandala had also offered some solutions to the Company. He further stressed that he has no personal gain by having any business relationship with Mandala. The consideration of having Mandala as joint venture operatorship as it is an US-owned company strictly in compliant with rules and regulation in US government. Based on the market in year 2016 and 2017, he could not foresee any increase on oil price then. He also said that it was difficult to raise funds in view of the bad economy factors in 2016 and 2017. Mr Soeryadjaya did mention that he was the only shareholder who subscribed to the latest rights issue, giving the Group approximately $9.2 million.

Question 14 : Mr Lim said that the lack of response to cash call in years 2016 and 2017 reflected the shareholders' confidence in the Company.

Answer 14 : Mr Soeryadjaya responded that the losses of the Group were due to the O&G segment. Placements with the biggest fund pool had been raised in 2015. Unfortunately, the hits to the O&G business in 2017 has consequentially brought substantial impact to the Company. He was and still is of the view that O&G is a high risk industry.

Question 15 : Mr Peh asked whether the Auditors have any issue on the going concerns of the Company.

Answer 15 : Mr Chan Yew Kiang ("Mr Chan") explained that going concern is one of the KAMs area required to be completed within the audit fieldworks. They have extended their opinion in the financial report with the auditors' consideration and based on presently cash flow provided by the Company. The following areas have been carried into the consideration:

- (i) Financial factors – The auditors have also conducted the audit on Lemang in view of the CAPEX reported therein.
- (ii) Capital intensive business and Mandala took out most of the operating expenses and CAPEX
- (iii) Logistics segment has a positive cash flow without any going concern to be raised.
- (iv) West Jambi Block is a gas exploration field much depending on the Company to have sum of additional investment to pay over the years for exploration and its production
- (v) Jatirarangan field is nearest to the end of concession. The cash flow is almost neutral.

With all of the above taken into consideration, the financial statements were not qualified including the going concern.

Question 16 : Mr Tay asked for the reason of retaining the 10% participating interest rather of selling the whole stake. He asked whether the costs utilised in Lemang Block could be entirely recovered when the Company farmed-out the participating interest to Mandala. Based on their calculation, the Company only generates S$10million per year with current 10% participating interest and production of 6000 bopd, subject to the production in full capacity in the upcoming 15 years.

Answer 16 : Mr Jol said that 80% of the gross revenue will be recovered by all the partners of the Lemang block. A portion of the cost recovery pool would have been transferred to Mandala as per the farm out with Mandala.

Mr Soeryadjaya said that the Company would not be in higher risk as compared to 10 years ago because the Company had the assets. However, there were variables which were beyond the Company's control such as oil price and gas price. As a controlling shareholder and CEO, he would continue to act in the best interests of the Company and have the operation cost cutting measures. The Company had to resolve the current issues to move forward. The Board anticipated that the production from Lemang Block would have sufficient cash flows and returns to the Company. The Board may also consider on any alternatives.,

Question 17 : Mr Lim asked whether the Executive Management would be prepared for salary cut in view that the Company is not doing well. Shareholders also noted that the salary and performance bonus of employees in FY 2017 were higher than FY 2016.

Answer 17 : Mr Lee clarified that the salary and performance bonus reported was based on group accounts, including 900 headcounts in the logistics segment. Mr Soeryadjaya informed of his salary cut. The Chairman further added that the Independent Directors and Non-Executive Directors have also agreed to reduce their directors' fees with effective from January 2018.

Question 18 : Mr Chan requested the Company to consider right issues and he will participate on the exercise.

Answer 18 : The Board extended their appreciation on the support of shareholder.
